TIGERS WIN TRACK MEET WITH EASE

second, third and fourth. Record of Imbler, placed third in the century.

Had Kender, of Unalaska, had any form to enter with the enormous power and springiness, he would have won the high jump but form permitted Boyden and McKetton to outpace him. Sherwood, who threw the discus 110 feet in the morning preliminaries, bettered this mark 3-4 inch. He came close to the record and 120 feet more would have given East Oregon another mark. Sherwood was worn out by the time the low hurdles came around and was unable to do better than third. He ran the first lap of the relay in snappy shape, however.

Record Traces Fall

Unamuno tried to break the record in the broad jump and Sherwood tried in the discus but both attempts netted no better than their winning marks.

In the javelin Charleston, on his last throw, tossed the stick 145 feet but carelessly placed his hand over the deadline. Had he been more careful Hammel would have placed second instead of first.

Magee showed excellent form in both the high and low hurdles and came second in the broad jump. Geertsen, of Union, placed second in the pole vault and the low hurdles. Fugit of Union, threw the shot more than 42 feet for first but met his Nemesis in Sherwood in the discus. Blaster's had mile, although slow, was a beautiful race. His sprint enabled him to beat Hartnong to the tape by a few feet.

Relay Keen

Although La Grande had the meet sewed up with a 15 point lead, the relay was a close race until Zundel passed the stick to Unamuno, who came in 10 yards to spare. Sherwood gave Smith a lead of about a yard and Smith held it. Zundel tore in at the end of the third lap on even terms with his Pendleton opponent.

The meet was run off in the record breaking time of one hour and 45 minutes. Virgil Marie, U. of C. was referee of the events.

LA GRANDE MUSIC WEEK A SUCCESS

were first given by Miss Price. The first was "The Make Believe" by Bond, on the subject of optimism and the final one "The Golden Rule" on the topic of kindness.

Closing Group.

The closing group of the program contained several exceptionally difficult pieces. In opening this final section of the program Miss Price gave a brief explanation of the mechanism and operation of the harp.

The first selection was a descriptive number "An Monastery" Haselmann. One could hear the monastery bells, the call to prayer and the very atmosphere of the old monastery seemed to be present.

Other numbers in this group were "Patronie" Hesselmann, "Sun's Prayer" Oberbar and "Mazurka," Schuocker. This final number was exceptionally difficult but was still entirely within Miss Price's ability.

With music week concluded the ladies of the Monday Musical and the Neighborhood club are to be congratulated upon the way in which the undertaking was handled. The work apparently accomplished that which it set out to do, established a wider interest in music in the home and in music generally. "A Knight of Dreams," the musical comedy postponed because of the illness of one of the principals and "Parent Court," the Central school opera which was not given because of the unfavorable weather are to be presented at a later date.

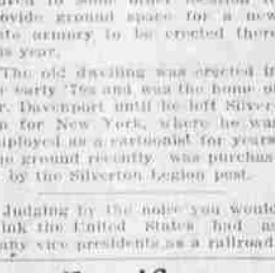

LANDMARK TO BE RAZED

SALEM, Ore.—The old home in which Homer Davenport, famous cartoonist, lived in Silverton for many years is to be torn down of mason to some other location to provide ground space for a new state armory to be erected there this year.

The old dwelling was erected in the early '70s and was the home of Mr. Davenport until he left Silverton for New York, where he was employed as a cartoonist for years. The ground recently was purchased by the Silverton Legion post.

Judging by the noise you would think the United States had many vice presidents as a railroad.

STARS LESS SCARCE THAN COMPETENT FILM EXTRAS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Fifty thousand applicants for positions in motion pictures present to studios great problem in the selection of competent, experienced extras, B. P. Fineman, studio manager, declared here. Many unused to work before the camera often spoil expensive scenes which have to be discarded.

A plan has been evolved, Fineman said, whereby the extra problem will be solved, at least for his studio. He has arranged to guarantee groups of 25 experienced extras at least 12 days' work a month. Few extras average more than six or seven days work a month, Fineman asserted. The great problem of the beginner in the film game is to get enough to pay bare living expenses.

Leads and minor roles are earned for by experienced actors, competent to fill their roles, thousands of which are available, but the extra is the greatest existing problem of all.

Scotch Socialists and Workers Put Jazz Dancing on Blacklist

GLASGOW (AP)—Scotch trade unions and Socialist organizations have started movement to ban jazz dancing at their social functions on the ground that they are not only immodest but result in altogether too much wasted energy as well. Farm workers also are being urged in some circles to refrain from the "cool, old-fashioned dances" which the city folks have forgotten all about.

The editor of the Scottish Farm Servant, writing on the subject of dances, hopes that the farm workers will give the "modern aerobic juggles the go-by, and leave the fancy jazz dances for the high flims in the metropolitan districts." He denounces one branch social recently as a great success because the organizers gave the guests a lot of old dances, and he invites other branches to revive the dances of other years before they pass from memory entirely.

After a Los Angeles stranger solved up he found he had married, but nothing seems to stop him drinking.

WHEAT CROP IS HARD HIT BY WEATHER

per cent, Polk county with a loss of 70 per cent, Benton, with 25 to 30 per cent loss, and western Clackamas with perhaps a 20 per cent loss. There was very little damage in any of the western Oregon territory lying east of the Willamette river. In fact, present indications are for a big crop of all kinds in the counties of Marion, Linn and Lane.

Snow Covering Lacking.

The unusual loss appears to have been due to a lack of snow covering. Lower temperatures have prevailed other winters with no very large loss. The Willamette valley counties which had a snow covering of six or eight inches suffered little damage, while in the counties where the loss was heaviest, there was very little snow covering.

In the western Oregon counties where the wheat loss was severe, there was also a heavy loss of other fall seeded crops, including the Oregon hay crop. In the eastern part of the state alfalfa was considerably damaged and some fields have been plowed up on account of the thin stand resulting from the winter injury.

Spring Wheat Doing Well

Weather conditions to date have been very favorable for spring sown wheat, including the reseeded areas. If favorable weather prevails during May and June, prospects are excellent for a good yield of spring wheat. It does not appear probable, however, that a total wheat production in excess of the short Oregon crop of last year, may reasonably be expected, and it is quite possible that it may be materially less.

The Oregon hay crop promises to be lighter than usual due to winter-kill of alfalfa, vetch and clover, also to the lighter yield of grain hay resulting from the large acreage of spring seeding.

Fruit Prospects.

White May 1 is rather too early to get much of a line on the fruit crop. It may be said that small fruits suffered a very considerable loss from the winter cold, and a considerable acreage of loganberries has been taken out this spring. Peaches appear to have set unusually well in most districts. Cherries and prunes were somewhat adversely affected by unfavorable weather at blooming time. Apple bloom has been rather light in many localities, but good moisture conditions and the fact that Rogue River and Milton-Freewater had light frosts last year, makes it seem probable that this year's apple crop will exceed that of last year.

The United States winter wheat crops show further decline in prospects from April 1, 1925. The crop is now forecast at 44,833,000 bushels or 30,000,000 bushels more than a month ago. The 1924 harvest was 550,027,000 bushels. The abandonment of last fall's seeding of 10,000,000 acres or 22.5 per cent of the seeded acreage. Condition of the acreage remaining for harvest in some of the leading states is: Kansas, 75 per cent; Illinois, 85 per cent; Nebraska, 77 per cent; Colorado, 84 per cent; Montana, 83 per cent; Washington, 74 per cent and Oregon, 89 per cent.
