American Puts Darwin In Class with Dodo

LONDON. (AP)—Assertion that Darwinism was as "dead as the dodo," so far as being regarded as a vera causa of the origin of species is concerned, was made recently by George McCready, professor of zoology at Union College, Nebraska, addressing the Victoria Institute on "Evolution and Evolution." Can they be harmonized?

Professor McCready contended that the most hopelessly pessimistic of the world's prophets were those who had most completely adopted and assimilated the doctrine of organic evolution. Such a scheme of cosmic despair, he said, was completely at variance with that portrayed in the Christian's Bible.

"The time has fully arrived for those who think for themselves and who do not entrust the keeping of their opinions to any set of supposed experts, to discuss once for all the idea that man possibly have arisen by a long drawn out process of development from preceding animal ancestors," said the professor. "I am confident that in this year 1925, sufficient scientific facts are available

Davis Has Immigration Plan He May Introduce

cause the bulk of South America's lower class won't work for a higher standard. They can get along with their standard in their own lands. Here, they couldn't—except at $25 and $250 perhaps. They're going to stay where they can get pretty comfortable with as little effort as possible.

Intelligible plans are being suggested constantly across the Canadian and Mexican borders, points out Secretary Davis. That's illegal anyway. Putting Canada and Mexico on a quota basis won't make it any more so.

Net conclusion: The quota basis for South America will have no effect except to offend South Americans, who are very doubtful already whether or not to like us. They were flattered at having an exception made in their favor under the present law.

Incredible as it may seem, the American Humane Association, in launching a campaign against the cropping of dogs' ears and shortening their tails, is asking a law on the subject. The association doesn't believe the average pet dog owner would mutilate him, or prefer him mutilated.

It surmises that the mutilating is done before his final owner gets the dog, by the breeder, under the impression that it makes his dogship more salable, and that the buyer takes him that way because that's the way he finds him. The association's appeal, then, is to dog lovers not to accept cropped and clipped dogs.

It doesn't want to waste time fighting for legislation, even if it considered that the right way to go about it. If it can make cropping and chopping un fashionable, it thinks it will have accomplished more than any law could.

Ever since President Coolidge sat in a box at a recent ball game with an American flag draped in front of it, a movement has been gaining ground to get a law through the next congress specifying just how, where and when the Stars and Stripes may be displayed.

Many Americans like to do this thing at their homes and offices on business or patriotic occasions. They'll have to be careful about this if the flag law is passed. Any little technical mistake and they'll land in jail.

LAWYER'S CLAIMS RAPPED SALEM, Ore. — Attorneys who have submitted claims for excessive fees for services in connection with state loans to farmers for the remedying of wheat land were rapped by Thomas H. Kay, state treasurer, at a meeting of the state board of control here. Mr. Kay said that several attorneys had demanded fees of $500, while two others demanded $1000 each, and one $1500 each. The state treasurer branded those claims as unreasonable and indicated that he would vote to reject them.
