SPORT NEWS

Billy Evans Says

ABOUT SOUTHPAWS
Left-handed pitching was expected to cut big capers in the majors this year. So far it has been more or less of a disappointment.

Prior to the opening of the 1925 campaign no less a distinguished leader than Connie Mack, figured that his southpaws would carry much of his pitching burden.

When I looked the Athletics over in spring training at Ft. Myers, Pa., Connie was grooming a quartet of "lefties" for a big season.

There was the veteran Fred Hinnebaugh, apparently just about ready to break out as a star.

"Lefty" Groves, the $150,000 beauty, Big Walberg and Stan Baumgartner, who had done well last year for the A's. In addition, Musher loomed up as a good prospect.

However, during the first month of the campaign, southpaw pitching was of little help to the Athletics in setting the pace.

Of the first 20 victories scored by the Athletics, only three are credited to the southpaws of the staff, Groves, Walberg and Baumgartner each winning one game.

RIGHT-HANDERS STAR
Instead of southpawing the opposition into submission, three right-handers have kept the Athletics out in front.

Sam Gray, easily the sensation of the majors, has won his first seven starts. Gray is a sterling performer, destined to be a much talked about athlete before the close of the season.

The veteran Ed Rommel is getting away to a great start. He has won six of his first seven games. Perhaps even more pleasing to

Idaho Win Topped Aggies from Lead

MOSCOW (By the Associated Press)—Idaho defeated the Oregon Aggies 4 to 1 here yesterday afternoon and topped the Aggies from first to second place in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference. The defeat of O. A. C. puts Washington into first place.

Mack is the early season showing of Bryan Harries, athletic genius as "Slim." Mack figured Gray and Rommel to win, he was not so certain about Harries.

Almost overnight he acquired pitch, the one and only thing he lacked. If Harries continues his fine showing, Mack is well justified for right-handers. It gives him three stars.

The work of Mack's three right-handers agrees convincingly that right-handed pitching, backed by intelligence, is just as an effective weapon as curves and fast ones delivered from the porridge.

Give the Athletics continued good pitching and the club is certain to be a most dangerous factor in the American league race. It has the punch and enthusiasm of a winner.

Blokkand, in the box for the Clerks, was unable to stem the tide of hits and was jerked in the last of the second with the score 8 to 1 against his team. Jimmy Rosenbaum went to the mound and got an earned run was made off his delivery, although four runners crossed the plate due to errors after he relieved his team mate.

Featuring the fielding was a double play in the fifth with Blokkand.
