Dr. Richardson was absolved from all blame in connection with the incident by witnesses of the accident. He was proceeding at a very moderate rate of speed south on Walnut street and was just preparing to drive up the hill in front of the "MacManus" residence when the child ran directly in the path of the car. She had been playing in a machine on the opposite side of the street and darted out so suddenly that Dr. Richardson was unable to see her until the accident occurred.

could not affirm their belief in virgin birth, was formally presented today by Rev. Charles B. Swartz, of Chicago.

This is in reality a dissenting opinion of the assembly itself marking the direct line of cleavage, the leaders pointed out.

Jaschke's Tonsorial Skill Won Royalty

LONDON (AP)—Charles Jaschke, royal barber, who was responsible for the shape of King Edward's beard which became the envy of the courts of Europe, died recently in his 80th year. He came to London 49 years ago from Czechoslovakia, with $19 in his pockets but by industry, and a personality which was said by customers to fit a hairdresser perfectly, he eventually gained the respect of monarchs, peers, admirals, generals and numerous others of note who frequented his Regent Street shop and always called him Charles.

In 1883 Jaschke walked to the Derby, but the next year he could afford to see the race from the royal enclosure. Assisted by a peer who had become a devoted customer, Charles soon became barber to King Edward and the royal family. At the stroke of nine each morning he called at Buckingham Palace to trim the king's beard and on Sundays he went to Sandringham and to Balmoral every ten days or so when the court was there.

Charles attended King Edward until the day of his death. "What I like about you, Charles," the king is quoted as having said once to the barber, "is that you do not talk a lot. You're seen, but not heard. It's a pleasure to see you around."

Jaschke accompanied the present king, King George V, on his empire tour in 1901 and afterward on the voyage to India for the Durbar in 1911-12. The King of Spain, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and Captain Ramsey, husband of Princess Patricia, were among his customers up until a few weeks before his death. Such was the clientele of Jaschke's shop that the back part of his saloon became known as the "House of Lords."

Filipino Voters in Three Years Increase Nearly Half Million

MANILA (AP)—Approximately 1,800,000 ballots have been printed and will be distributed to the various provinces of the Philippines to be used at the national election on June 9, when members of the House of Representatives, one half the membership of the Senate, and provincial governors and other provincial officers will be chosen.

Comparing these figures with those of the election of 1922, there is an increase of approximately 446,000 voters this year.

Victorian Ideas Succumb Before the Modern Flat

LONDON (AP)—The long fight of the remaining Victorians against modernism is on the wane. The high taxes since the war have steadily changed the huge country estates into farms and subdivisions.

The new social system is of course radical to the Victorian mind, but today the Victorians who continue in their lofty Mayfair houses

REGITAL FOR MISS SCHILKE

The Monday Musical club will present Miss Friederike Schilke in song recital tomorrow evening, May 28, at the Presbyterian church. Miss Schilke will appear in four groups of songs. She has a beautiful, clear soprano voice and an excellent program has been arranged for her. She has been studying for the past year under Theodore Schroeder, of Boston, one of the leading musicians of the country.

Her program Thursday evening follows:

I
L'heure Exquise.....Hahn
Vieille Chanson Espagnole.....Aubert
Quat farfallita.....Handel

are deserting these for inexpensive flats.

During the last year scores of Mayfair houses have been turned into self-contained flats, while others are plastered with rent and sale signs. The latest defections from the ranks of the nineteenth century conservatives are Lady Constance Leslie, and Alice, Countess of Stafford, both famous hostesses since 1914.

Lady Constance has sold her Manchester Square residence where she used to entertain Queen Victoria, Dickens, Thackeray, Gladstone and many other prominent persons. She is moving into an apartment, as is also the countess.

greater exhibits by the hog and sheep growers than last year.

Heavy type horses will come from Baker, Union and Wallawa counties and will include some of the very best animals of this class to be found in the state.

Snappy Races.
For the track are promised some of the best races ever seen at the stock show, with many specialties, including performances by Lorenza Trickey, world's champion woman rider, and Harry Walters, world's champion trick rider.

In the arena will be Ben Jory's aggregation of crazy bucking mules, horses, buffalos, clowns and all that goes to make up the greatest arena performance ever given by the association.

Let it be known that there will be no dull moments at Union's 1925 stock show. When one tired of looking at the fine stock exhibit he may watch the races, or the joll the young man riding the buffalo is likely to get in the arena. There will be plenty to attract the attention of those who come to the 1925 show, and it will be put on with a vim that cannot fail to hold the attention of the patrons of this big event.

Bucking Contest.
A bucking contest is among the new features this year, in which a $150 Hanley saddle, a fine pair of Hanley "chaps" and a hand-forged silver-mounted riding bit will go to those who stay the longest and best in the contest, which will bring out some of the best riders in eastern Oregon.

Special prizes in gold for exhibit, racing and riding classes are offered by William Pollman, of Baker; the La Grande National bank, H. G. Avery, the La Grande Grocery company, Dr. C. W. Erwin, of Union; L. A. Wright, of Union; G. L. Hess, of Union; the First National bank of Union; Perkins Motor Co., of La Grande, and others.

It's the day of your big deal —are you equal to it?

EVERY few days brings up some issue in business that calls for the utmost of a man's energy and resourcefulness.

Often he knows the night before that the next day he must be fit. Yet after a night of provoked sleep he lacks the keen edge which only perfect sleep can give.

Even the best materials will not prevent a mattress from losing its resiliency, flattening out, lumping or stretching within a year or so.

The Edlow-Spring has changed this! It is a series of flexible, piano-wire springs, built between layer after layer of snow-white, felted, staple cotton and interlaced curled hair.

This mattress is guaranteed not to sag, stretch or lose its resiliency for 20 years.
