Celery leaf spot in Oregon is easily controlled by systematic spraying with Bordeaux. 4-4-20 or by dusting with copper-lime dust, even before the plants are taken from the green house. Spraying or dusting at regular intervals throughout the growing season is recommended by the experiment station. Serious damage to the celery results in leaf curl.

that our citizens in large numbers promenade the streets waiting for the Blue Mountain band to commence their open concert which began promptly at 5 o'clock. La Grande is proud of its band and well it may be, as the quality of music we are permitted to enjoy each Wednesday evening would be a credit to any city of several thousand more population than La Grande.

La Grande Theatres

Nazimova in Novel Dance At Sherrys.

Character dancing by the great Nazimova, and a marvelous display of emotional acting by that famous star, the mystery in the theft of a valuable pearl necklace, and a realistic fight by Apachus in the Paris sewers—these are just a few of the high lights in Vitaphone's "The Reckoning Sin" which shows to night.

All the scenes are laid in Paris, and the street, cafe and studio glimpses are said to depict those phases of French life with remarkable accuracy. It is a colorful story, crammed full of action, with an alluring romance, threading its way through the plot, and thrills and comedy abounding.

Besides the great Nazimova the cast is composed of Loy Taylor, Carlotta D. Miller, Otto Harten, Heata Mariani, Rose Topley, Eric Mayne and Violet Virginia.

Comedy, "Sons of Slaves."

Hoot Gibson Pleasing in "Saddle Hawk"

Probably Ben Johnson never had heard the old saying about a cat looking at a ringed tail he, he with an unattractive interest, will be attempted to exchange a few passing words with the beautiful girl who looked up and down in scorn as he rode his sorry nag in to her yard and asked for a drink.

Ben Johnson was only a ragged shepherd and the horse in rode belonged to his boss, Ed Vanner, while the girl, although he did not know it, was the daughter of one of the richest cattle barons in the whole country.

But there came the time when the girl realized that the shepherd was the only power that stood between herself and the gravest peril a woman could face. The manner in which the young man acquitted himself is told in thrilling realism in "The Saddle Hawk." Universal production now being shown in the Star theatre.

Marion Nixon is the leading woman of the picture, which is a stirring story of life on a big cattle range, directed by Edward Sedgwick. Others in the cast are Frank Campana, Jose Sedgwick, G. Raymond Nye, Charles K. French, William Steele, Fred Hunt and Tote Duerow.

Anna Q. Nilsson Has Vamp Role in "Inez from Hollywood"

Not the mechanics of movie-making but the inwardness of a screen vampire's heart is laid bare on the screen of the Arcadia Friday where "Inez from Hollywood," a First National picture, opened last night.

As if it weren't enough to get a view of Hollywood's mysteries, the role of the reigning "vamp" is played by the alluring Anna Q. Nilsson. Although Anna Q. has never been associated with stent roles, she has made of Inez a most unusual and appealing character.

Lewis S. Stone is co-featured in the role of Stewart Taylor, a rich man who "makes a play" for the vampire, but is finally ensnared in the meshes of true love for her younger sister, Fay, thereby giving rise to a situation which the author has solved in a striking manner.

Pretty Mary Astor appears as Fay, and Laurence Wheat, remembered from his many pictures with Thomas Meighan, as Inez's business manager. Snitz Edwards, Rose Dione, Harry Depp, Ray Hall and E. H. Gilbert are also in the cast.
