An attractive affair took place yesterday afternoon at the Country Club when Mrs. Hal Hohenkamp and Dr. Margaret Ingie were hostesses at a bridge luncheon. A delicious three-course luncheon was served at one o'clock, after which eight tables were in play. In the dining room a lavender and pink color scheme was artistically carried out, sweet peas being used, and in the living room beautiful bouquets of various spring flowers were arranged.

During the afternoon's play Mrs. Lee Huxley won high score for the first prize, Mrs. G. L. Larson received the second prize and Mrs. Chase Hohenkamp the third.

A delightful party took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Tuckey, when Mrs. J. M. Hoyt, Mrs. E. H. Ringo, Mrs. J. Jacobson and Mrs. Tuckey were hostesses. The home was beautifully decorated in a red and white color scheme, poodles and snowballs being used, and during the afternoon eleven tables of cards were at play. Mrs. Gilbert Hunter won first prize, Mrs. W. G. Sawyer second, Mrs. A. T. Hendrickson third, and consolation went to Mrs. Lloyd Phares.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. Blanche Emlish, of Pendleton, Mrs. Claud Steinfors, of Salem and Miss Mildred Hoyt, Mrs. Sadie Glynn, who is visiting in La Grande from Portland, was a guest for the afternoon.

Minerva Says---

A few weeks more and the Children's Sale Show will all be gone. One woman bought three pairs for her and two for a neighbor. Another lady bought two pairs of the $ 3 to 5 at 75c. We sold five pairs of the $ 2 to 3 and two pairs of the $ 1 to 1.11 at 87.5c. We also had a good run on our new shipment of Spintex Silk Hosiery, Guaranteed.

It just beats the band how business keeps up. A fine picture show will draw a big crowd. The low prices on shoes will do the same.

The white mother varies her kind of bread from meal to meal and day to day. This not only brings more of the "grains" to the family table, but keeps each member "fit" and in good health. White bread should be used as well as the coarse breads. When plenty of fresh vegetables are included in the diet, white bread may be preferred by many persons.

Baked Eggs (Individual)
Beat the white of an egg with 1/4 teaspoon salt until stiff. Put into a well-buttered custard cup. Drop the unbroken yolk into the center of the white. Sprinkle salt and pepper and cover with buttered paper. Put into a pan, surround with boiling water and bake in a hot oven for eight minutes. Serve in the cup in which the egg was cooked.

EASY LESSONS IN AUCTION BRIDGE

Copyright 1924 by E. J. Ferguson, Jr.

The informative double has probably done more to raise interest in auction than any other innovation since the inception of the game. It opens up an entirely new field of bidding, and in doing so presents some interesting and puzzling questions of bidding. For example, suppose the dealer bids one no-trump and second hand doubles (information) with what type of hand should the dealer's partner make a bid? There is still considerable difference of opinion among the experts as to the proper procedure in this situation but the writer has very definite ideas as to what to do. There are four distinct types of hands which should be bid by the dealer's partner over an informative double of one no-trump. First, with a hand as good as an original no-trump, dealer's partner should redouble. For example, with a hand of this type:

Hearts—10, 7
Clubs—J, 5, 4
Diamonds—Q, 4
Spades—J, 10, 7, 6, 4, 2

When you hold six or more hearts or spades, it is obligatory for you to bid that suit over partner's no-trump and the obligation is just as strong when the no-trump has been doubled. Such a bid gives partner exact information that you have a justifiable take out and that information may be valuable.

The question whether you should bid a "two suiter" over an informative double is a more difficult question and one which will be discussed in a later article.

Answer to Problem No. 12
Hearts—Q, J, 9, 8, 7, 5
Clubs—10, 5
Diamonds—9, 2
Spades—7, 6, 4

No trumps, rubber game, Z dealt and bid one no-trump and A doubled. What should Y now bid? In case Y passed, B passed and Z bid two spades, which A doubled, what should Y then bid? From the foregoing discussion it should be obvious that Y should bid two hearts over the double. He has six hearts and therefore an obligatory take out of the no-trump. After making the mistake of passing however, the right thing for him to do is not so obvious. When B also passed the double, it was evident that he did so because he was certain of defeating Z's one no-trump bid. In other words, both A and B have indicated strong hands. Z's subsequent bid of two spades merely indicated that he realized his no-trump bid would probably be defeated and that he figured he had a better chance to get out of trouble by bidding spades. A's double of two spades indicated that he could defeat that bid so Y was confronted with a difficult problem. The fact that he had three spades was an argument against bidding three hearts, but his outside hand was so weak that there was little or no chance for Z to make two spades. On the other hand, he had a strong heart suit and if his partner had high cards in the other suits, he would have a good chance to make his bid. For these reasons, the writer is of the opinion that Y should bid three hearts over the two spade bid. It is a close question and shows the value of bidding such hands at once over the double. Then you don't get into trouble.

By so doing, you give the exact information to your partner that you have as good as an original bid in that suit. It is the only way you can give this exact information and for that reason the opportunity should not be lost.

Third: If the dealer's partner holds a set in minor suit, he should bid two no-trump over the double. For example, with a hand of this type, bid two no-trump:

Hearts—10, 4, 3, 2
Clubs—A, K, 7, 4, 2
Diamonds—10, 7
Spades—9, 2

Here again you have the opportunity to give the exact information to partner and you can only do so by bidding the two no-trump.

Fourth: If the dealer's partner holds a hand which justifies a major suit take out of the no-trump (irrespective of the double), it should also be bid over the double. For example, with this type of hand, bid two spades:

Hearts—A, 4, 2
Clubs—K, 7, 4
Diamonds—J, 10, 5, 2
Spades—K, 10, 8

The redouble is a powerful weapon when properly used and the source of many big penalties. After a redouble, partner should double any bid made and try for penalties.

Second: If the dealer's partner holds as good as an original bid in a suit, he should bid two in the suit over the double. For example, with a hand of this type, bid two clubs:

Hearts—10, 4, 3, 2
Clubs—A, K, 7, 4, 2
Diamonds—10, 7
Spades—9, 2

Here again you have the opportunity to give the exact information to partner and you can only do so by bidding the two no-trump.

Fourth: If the dealer's partner holds a hand which justifies a major suit take out of the no-trump (irrespective of the double), it should also be bid over the double. For example, with this type of hand, bid two spades:
