VOTE WILL BE TAKEN TOMORROW

a building to house the same.
How to Vote.
To vote for a question make a cross (X) between the number and the word YES, and to vote against a question make a cross between the number and the word NO.
Any citizen residing within the city limits is eligible to vote if registered. If not any citizen can be sworn in at the polls.

City commissioners today put forth a strong appeal to all citizens of the city to vote, whether they be in favor of or against the proposed measures. The commissioners desire to fully determine the sentiment of the citizens in reference to the four proposed issues, whatever way the election results.

The general feeling seems to be that the voters will not turn down the four issues. Arguments and public meetings in the past two weeks have pointed that the majority of the citizens favor the measures although the real sentiment cannot be positively known until all votes are counted.

Firemen Want Measure Passed

Last evening the members of the La Grande Volunteer Fire Department met in the city hall building and passed resolutions favoring the measure to further equip and house the fire department and appointed Fire Chief C. O. Nordstrom and Assistant Chief Lou Nordstrom to prepare an appeal to the citizens urging that the issue be supported.

They called the attention of the public to the fact that two fires at the same time could not be combated successfully. "La Grande has been exceptionally lucky in the past in not having two fires at the same time," Mr. Nordstrom declared today.

They also declared that had the equipment been adequate the disastrous Carr fire could have been handled, as well as others too numerous to mention.

The proposed truck has been in service here 12 years, according to Mr. Murchison, who declared that when the citizens were called upon to vote on the matter, many would support the proposition although he further said that the truck paid for itself in about a year. He believes that the proposed pump would pay for itself in a very short time besides increasing the efficiency of the fire department enormously.

The keynote of good dressing is simplicity, appropriateness and an appreciation of what constitutes beauty and good taste.

New $18,000 Gas Holder Being Built at Baker

Work will be started immediately on the construction of a new artificial gas holder at a cost of $18,000 by the Eastern Oregon Light and Power company for its Baker gas system. Contract for the construction of the 50,000 cubic foot holder has been let to Stacey Bros. of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The new holder will replace the present 11,000 foot holder, which will be held as an auxiliary, and was made necessary by the greatly increased demand for manufactured gas in Baker.

The fires of the Baker gas plant have been burning steadily since 1883, for when the new plant was built at a cost of $12,000 in 1923, a showup of the fire from the old plant, was transferred to the new one.

Wilt of watermelons in Oregon is caused by a fungus that attacks the roots and the experimental station authorities. The fungus lives in the soil from year to year and spreads rapidly by water drainage; an feet of livestock, or in stable manure. To combat this fungus growth, watermelons are planted in new ground each year. The period that elapses before the land can be considered free from infection is set at 10 or 12 years. Some varieties of melons are resistant to the wilt.

Amundsen Is Unable to Return, Hammer Thinks

because the ice is too rough for a takeoff with his heavy planes, or else he is in Alaska. The latter I believe to be only barely possible. "My opinion is that he is marooned, unable to use his equipment and almost certainly unable to hike out of his predicament. The ice starts to break at this season in the Arctic and a tramp over the churning floes to Greenland I consider positively out of the question."

"I am also just as firmly of the belief that the time has come to send an expedition to his relief."

"To say that Amundsen may be taking observations at the pole is speculating with a knowledge of circumstances. He was not dependent on wind and weather when he went to the south pole. He had his dogs waiting to take him back to civilization, but it required only three days for him to make his observations there. He has been missing 11 days now."

"If Amundsen could have returned to his Spitzbergen base with his planes he certainly would have done so; therefore I am convinced that the Arctic has him in its grip, for he cannot return unaided without his planes over hundreds of miles of breaking ice; for the same reason he cannot walk out to Greenland."

FINAL MEET OF YEAR AT ISLAND CITY

welcomed them to the city.

Several announcements were made during the meeting. Earl Stoddard stated that a dance would be given next Monday evening at Zuber hall in honor of the national guard company. Reverend Keith made an announcement in reference to a daily vocational Bible school parade that is planned for the near future, and Earl Heynolds called attention to the special municipal election tomorrow and also the scheduled appearance of a Union Pacific official here Friday evening.

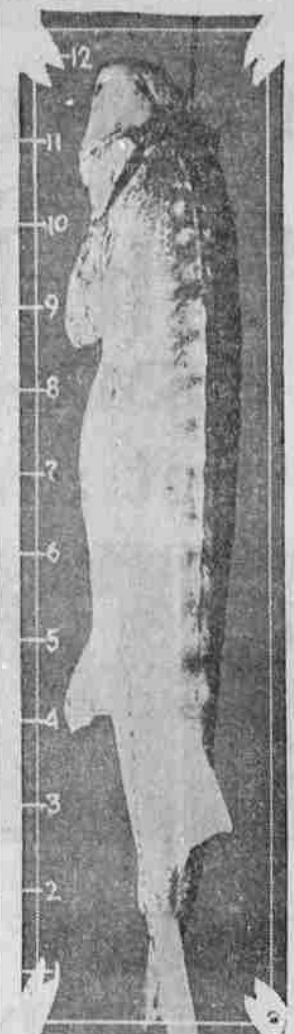

Paul Knautz sang two entertaining numbers. He was accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Knautz.

Drunken Drivers Fined, Jailed

ROSEBURG, Ore.—The first arrests under the new state drunken driver law in this county were made here yesterday. K. P. Hadfield and James Barnes, each being charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Jones, fined $100 each and given 30 days in jail. Their driver's licenses were revoked for one year.

BACK BEFORE WASHINGTON crossed the Delaware, this fish was eating around in coast waters near Vancouver, B. C. When Patrick Edwards, fisherman, caught the sturgeon recently, it weighed 1019 pounds, was 12 feet long, and its age was estimated at 200 years. Edwards towed the fish to a beach and killed it with a sledge hammer. He sold it for $200.

MOTOR BOAT IS DELAYED
CASCADE LOCKS, Ore.—John Edwin Haas, Frank S. Wilson and Val Woodberry arrived at Cascade Locks on their transcontinental trip from Astoria to New York by water. After leaving Portland they stopped at Vancouver, Wash., and made arrangements with Lieutenant Kelley, who will meet them in The Dalles, to make a flight up the river as far as Lewiston, Idaho, to determine the nature of the river before attempting to continue their trip.

The three were 19 hours making the trip from Portland to Bonneville, owing to the terrific current and whirlpools, caused by high water and fishwheels. Their greatest trouble was encountered when they reached the lower rapids. Their 12-knot boat could not buck an 18-knot current. They hired a truck and brought the boat to Cascade Locks and from here started for The Dalles, making Hood River last night.

The corn earworm which does great damage to the corn crop in Oregon each year can be controlled by careful attention to the soil, say experiment station specialists. The insect may be exterminated by fall and winter plowing and early planting of the corn crop. Keeping the crop free from weeds and grass during the growing season not only increases the yield but also destroys the hiding places of the moths.
