SHRINERS AT LOS ANGELES

James E. Chandler, of Amarant temple, Kansas City. Other features of the day's program included a parade in honor of the Shriners in Beverly Hills, an event in which many notable picture stars participated. There was also an entertainment for ladies of the imperial council in Los Angeles; and in Hollywood was held another big parade, followed by a Spanish fandango and barbeque for the imperial divan, imperial representatives and their wives.

That the camel is more than a figure of speech at Shrine conventions was demonstrated at Beverly Hills when Fred M. Shelton, real estate man and president of the Beverly Hills Shrine club, had his leg broken by a kick from one of those animals, which he was attempting to ride in the parade.

Pendleton Team Plays Pirates Here Sunday

Write north to the Pacific Coast states during the early spring and summer months and upon leaving here most of the players will go further north to play late season ball in Canada. (Quynham, right fielder, spoils his wintery playing independent football in Portland. Last fall he was with the Albina eleven in Portland and expects to don noisemakers against next September.

At Barth, the Pirate catcher, has had some interesting experiences following the baseball game. He has been at various times with the Denver, Tacoma and Oakland clubs and while serving his time in the aviation service during the war played many important games in England. One of these was the Army and Navy game played in London in 1917. The navy won the game 2 to 2. Barth went out for the army in the game which was quite a festive affair with the royalty in attendance.

Tom Gossett, captain of the team and one of the best baseball heads who has ever played in this territory was for some time a professional boxer before taking up baseball. He, Williams and Gossett all spent last winter playing ball in Arizona.

Hartman was a Washington State pitcher during his school days. Incidentally, Lefty made quite a remarkable record while in college and was credited with 22 games in a row without any setbacks. Spud Heim, second baseman only recently received his release from Portland. Spud attracted the attention of Tom Turner's scouts while playing around London and in other central Oregon cities. He didn't try out with the Beavers so whether he would have made the sound or not will probably never be known.

GOOD CROPS IN EAGLE VALLEY

WALLOWA, Ore. (Special)—Rev. G. H. Peese, returned home the latter part of the week from a several days trip to Eagle and Pine valleys. Mr. Peese reports crops of fruit and grain are excellent in that section this season.

The clean-up campaign put on by the Cemetery association, Wednesday, proved very successful. About twenty men were on hand early in the morning, and worked until noon, cutting weeds and making a general cleanup. A large part of the lots had been cleaned previously, and many others were being cleaned during the afternoon.

Mrs. G. H. Peese and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Mameru left recently by auto for a trip to western Oregon. Mrs. Peese expects to visit with her children at Corvallis and Portland while away.

Farmers to irrigate—Many of the farmers in the valley sections are busy getting ready for irrigation at this time. Some have been busy the past two weeks cleaning ditches and making new ones in the grain fields. While the rain during the past week or so has been very plentiful, some farmers say that on the ground which is underlaid with gravel, that irrigation at this time is necessary, in order to insure plenty of moisture for growing crops. With the large amount of snow in the high mountains at this time, it is expected that an abundance of irrigation water will be available during the dry part of the season.

Spring Seeding Ended—Practically all spring seeding has been finished at this time, and all fields are greening up rapidly. All early sowings have the ground well shaded at this time, and are moist from the recent rains. Many farmers say that the spring crop prospects at this time are the best they have seen in many years, and look forward to very good yields.

Clear Maxwell at Middle valley was at the Couch ranch in the hills the latter part of the week filling with the farming there. Mrs. Clara Woods and sister arrived here the latter part of the week for a visit with their mother, Mrs. T. M. Gaslin. They attended the Memorial services at Lodi cemetery Saturday.

Mrs. H. W. Meek and sons were among the Enterprise visitors the latter part of the week. The state highway commission has a crew of men at work cutting ditches and other weeds along the right-of-way on the highway between Lodi and Enterprise.

The highway between here and the towns in the upper part of the valley is in excellent condition at this time, being very smooth for nearly the entire distance.

Outlaw Cabin Turned Into a Radio Church
TONOPAH, Nev. (AP)—In the hills near the new gold camp of Gilbert, 20 miles from here, is an old stone structure known as the Outlaw's Cabin. It has stood for 50 years or more. Many tales are told of this rendezvous of the desperadoes who once infested the desert country. It was here they gathered to plan their stage hold-ups and periodic raids on the scattered settlements—or to divide the booty, an occasion that often ended in a bloody fight. Many bullet scars in the walls and dark streaks on the floor testify to the former character of the place.

Recently the name of the cabin was changed to Radio Church. The discovery of gold in the surrounding hills led to the building of a number of prospectors, provided a new use for the old landmark. Every Sunday evening it is filled with those who listen in on a sermon delivered several hundred miles away.

Some of the grizzled old-timers are a bit bewildered at the rapid march of progress, but gradually they are becoming used to radio talks and concerts in remote places, to prospecting with an automobile instead of with a string of burros.

LONDON STUDIES QUESTION OF UNDERGROUND PARKING
LONDON (AP)—Underground parking stations have been proposed in London to take care of the rapidly increasing automobile traffic in the business section of the city. The Automobile association has been considering the matter for some time and has proposed that the first subway garage be built in Leicester Square, in the heart of the theater district and not far from Piccadilly Circus.

The underground garage would have an entrance and exit, and would accommodate hundreds of cars. It is proposed to make the garage charges depend on the size of the car at about 12 cents an hour, with attendants on hand at all hours of the day and night.

The small or private car has become more popular in London this spring than ever before, and dealers aver they cannot supply the demand. Formerly it was customary for nearly all motor car owners to have their own chauffeurs, but since the war both men and women have gradually taken up the idea of doing the driving themselves.
