BAKER, PIRATES MEET SUNDAY

GREATEST PLAYER
In baseball there is a difference between the greatest player and the greatest natural player.
No doubt if a note were taken as to who is the greatest player in the majors at the present writing, Rogers Hornsby would be out in front.
Ten years ago, perhaps five, that honor would have gone to Ty Cobb unanimously. Cobb, however, after 20 years of campaigning, is beginning to show the ravages of time.
While the old batting eye still appears to be as keen as ever, the legs have lost much of their power and the arm no longer can get the great distance that once characterized Cobb's throws.
If Rogers Hornsby was elected the greatest player by popular vote of fandom, I would still rate Bob Meusel of the New York Yankees as the greatest natural player.
Bob Meusel has the physical assets to be as great a player as was Ty Cobb in his prime. Yet it is doubtful if Bob ever comes close to the crown once held by Cobb.
MEUSEL A MARVEL
Meusel has the ideal build for the ball player; he is tall and rangy. He has great speed and is a wonderful slider.
At the bat Meusel is one of the most dangerous hitters in the game. If he carries to, he could increase his batting average at least 20 points by mixing up his style.
Knowing the power that Bob puts into his drives, opposing pitchers always play him very deep. If he becomes adept at bunting, he could beat out scores of them each year, for he has the necessary speed.
In the field, Meusel is a marvel

What should be the strongest team that has ever represented La Grande since the organization of the Blue Mountain league will play at Baker Sunday, against the Cubs.
With Jerry Golmann ready to take his place in the outfield the Pirates will be strengthened from all angles. Jerry will add his hitting to the team average and he will be a heavy bat. Local fans will remember his work toward the early part of the season last year. Those bats were the rule rather than the exception with Golmann in the 1924 series.
Jerry is also mighty handy when it comes to getting under the high ones any of the boys may happen to knock out in the field. It is probable that with the addition of Golmann to the squad, Cunningham will be switched to right field with Hartman in the left pasture and Jerry in the center position.
Lefty Hartman will be playing his last game for La Grande Sunday against Baker. He is leaving the day afterward to play his third season with a team in Wrayburn, Saskatchewan, Canada.
Lefty will be missed. His fielding has been good all season and his ability as a relief pitcher might have been used often to a good advantage. Besides, Lefty is a gentleman as well as a ball player and has been well liked by his teammates and the fans.
After the satisfactory way the team worked against Kelso with Stein at shortstop and Williams on second base this combination will be started again Sunday. No other changes in the lineup are probable.
Baker is still going strong and marked up a 4 to 3 game over Walla Walla last week. On this occasion Brandt demonstrated his ability as a hitter as well as a pitcher and earned a good share of his reputed $450 a month salary.
Toots Harris, the fifty little Walla Walla pitcher was on that day and allowed the Cubs but one hit until the ninth inning. In this frame Brandt laid the game away by knocking the ball out of the lot with men on base.
Puggy Hutton, the whitewind Gonzaga shortstop signed with Pendleton will play no games in the Blue Mountain league. Hutton fixed satisfactory terms with the Bucks and his transportation from Spokane to Pendleton was wired him. At 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the day before the Pendleton-La Grande game Hutton wired the Bucks that he had signed with Baker. This bit of contract jumping was enough to get Maister Puggy barred from competition.
when he wants to be. He is an unruly judge of fly balls and he covers with ease all the territory from the left field foul line to center field.
No player in baseball has an arm that even approaches that of Meusel. He gets great distance and is deadly accurate. When he fields the ball baserunners invariably stop in their tracks.
Meusel has one betting fault, lack of initiative. He is not aggressive. He has one of those take it for granted temperaments. Nothing ever troubles Bob.
If ever a player ever deserved to be listed as one of the greatest stars of all times, that individual is Bob Meusel. Lack of proper temperament has so far prevented it.

SHOP TEAM TO PLAY SUNDAY
Basketball fans are promised a good game in La Grande Sunday afternoon with the La Grande O-W. H. R. and N. shop team and the Huntington shop team as the performers.
The Huntington team is a member of the Payette Valley Mountain league and one of the leading contenders in that territory. The local organization finished in second place in the Union Pacific second division league with a record of four games won out of five played.
The La Grande railroads are in top form and playing better ball than at any time this season. Yeske, the railroads' pitcher, is putting them over with all kinds of zipper and the Huntington outfit will have to have some good batters in order to get around the bases.
The visitors have this reputation however, and so may be expected to put up some real competition. Although comparatively little is known about it here the Payette Valley Mountain league is supposed to be the best ball playing company.
The shopmen will use their regular lineup that has been working together now with few changes for the past two seasons. The batting order of the O-W. team follows: Boyle, ss; Albinson, lf; Camp, 3b; H. Yeske, 1b; Harrington, cf; Williams, c; Graham, rf; Duhie, 2b; Henry Yeske, p, with Lundy and Smith utility men.
The game will be played on the athletic field and is scheduled to start at 2:30. Cameron will be referee.
