Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast.—Rhubarb baked with raisins, cereal, thin cream, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon — Tomatoes stuffed with spinach, white bread and butter, swiss chard salad, rice pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner — Broiled lamb chops, creamed new potatoes, buttered beets, cabbage salad, bran rolls, raspberry shortcake, milk, coffee.

Many children are not hungry at breakfast time, and particularly during the summer months want only a very light breakfast. The wise mother will serve milk and sandwiches about 10 o'clock to small persons who ate insufficient breakfasts.

The tomatoes stuffed with spinach make an especially good vegetable to serve with a planked steak or fish but are also an excellent luncheon dish if served with a hearty dessert.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Four or five tomatoes, 1 pound spinach, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, salt and pepper.

Wash tomatoes and cut a slice from the stem end. Scoop out seeds and pulp and drain. Wash spinach and cook in its own juice. When almost dry chop very finely and add tomato juice. Add egg slightly beaten, melted butter, salt and pepper. Fill tomato shells with mixture and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Five minutes before removing from oven sprinkle each tomato with grated cheese and return to the oven to melt the cheese.

Gold that glitters makes a fat purse.

School Teacher's Friends Made Glad

One of them had this to say yesterday. "We never thought that poor Ellen would ever recover, she had suffered so long from stomach and liver trouble and lost more than 40 pounds in weight. She took a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy upon the advice of her aunt and has steadily improved from the first dose. We are all confident of her complete recovery." It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists. —Adv.

PIETY MAKES KNEES OF SPANISH WOMEN LOVELY

NEW YORK (AP).—Piety has made the Spanish woman's knees the most beautiful in the world, according to Jose M. Vidal Quadras, Madrid portrait painter, who arrived here Monday on the Deutschland.

"The women pray more in Spain," he explained, "so that their knee muscles grow rugged and firm."

In most other countries women do not really kneel, he said, "but half sit on chairs."

Even Spanish flappers still "obey the padres," the artist declared, adding "this is beneficial."

Auto Migrant Seen By Social Workers as Family Menace

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—The automobile migrant came in for criticism today at a divisional meeting of the National Conference of Social Work when Miss Adaline Buffington, of Salt Lake City, opened a discussion on the subject before a group discussing the family.

Declaring that the West owed its development to the pioneer spirit of adventure and initiative, Miss Buffington scored the present day migrants who "pack their belongings, including babies, furniture, dogs, cats, and canaries, into a worn-out automobile and start out with little money, no idea of where they are going and with reckless disregard as to how they are going to live on the way.

"The old pioneers made an end of their wanderings and settled a country; many of the present migrants wander ceaselessly and use the plight of their children as an appeal for a livelihood," she said, "and the children? Life in the open is healthy enough at times, but what about their education and the effects of this roving upon their habits? Have we a new tribe of gypsies in the making? Will the next generation know any trade or have any industry?"

The characteristics of these families as seen through the eyes of some hundred agencies west of the Mississippi River, the reasons for their travels and the difficulties of dealing with them were discussed and remedies proposed.

In the division of neighbor and community life, Walter Burr, professor of sociology at Kansas State Agricultural College, said a great deal of harm is done in all attempts at community building by the determination of certain theorists to build their communities toward a preconceived ideal.

"It is not our business to build rural communities after a preconceived ideal," the speaker said. "It our business to cater the life of a community exactly as it actually is now, help to release the resident forces for expression, study the process by which they continue, when released, to proceed from lower to higher. Anything else than this partakes of despotism, however benevolent the intention may be.

"Social workers are usually the worst sort of benevolent tyrants. The community needs an awakening of self-consciousness, information as to its powers and its relationships, knowledge of the sources of aid when aid is wanted—and a severe letting alone. Any rural community might be said, at a given time, to be in an ideal condition when it is in correct correlation with rural community progress generally and with its own environment particularly."

Lack of interest by the reading public in good work on the part of social welfare organizations was deplored by J. L. Gillin, professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, in an address.

Three remedies were proposed by Professor Gillin to "sell human service" to the people:

First, the proper presentation of constructive human interest stories;

Second; Address by social workers as supplementary to newspapers publicity;

Third, Public exhibits of "woefully neglected individuals."

A. M. GAUNTLETT DEAD

BANDON, Ore. — Alfred H. Gauntlett, born in Gold Beach in 1861, died suddenly at his home here at 4 o'clock from heart disease.

Mr. Gauntlett is survived by his widow, Mary Gauntlett and four children, Harvey G. Gauntlett, cashier of the bank at Newport; Mrs. Lottie Fisk and William Wesley Gauntlett of Gold Beach, and Mrs. Estella Stone of Myrtle Point. There are two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Manuel and Mrs. Estella Mars, of Bandon, and a brother, William Gauntlett. The funeral probably will be held Tuesday and interment will take place in Gold Beach cemetery.

COOLIDGE DOES NOT FAVOR CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP). — President Coolidge sees nothing to be gained by calling a conference of state officials to consider general repeal of state income tax laws. It is his belief that it would be next to impossible to secure a general agreement on any plan whereby the state governments would retire from the income tax field in return for repeal by the federal government of its inheritance tax.

74 MILLIONAIRES IN U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP).—Millionaires are becoming more numerous in the United States, but their number still is far short of the highwater mark of 1916, when 206 paid income taxes. In 1923, the internal revenue bureau announced Sunday night, 74 incomes of one million dollars or more were reported, an increase of seven over 1922.

The millionaires paid taxes aggregating $35,788,475, and the contributions of 7,698,247 other taxpayers brought the total for the year to $792,963,165.

Italy Counts its Theatres.

ROME (AP)—Statistics recently made public show that only 16 out of every 100 townships in Italy have theatres. In the entire country, it was shown that 1,362 townships possess playhouses.
