Western Canada Welcomes Girls from British Isles

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—The domestic servant problem in Winnipeg has been materially relieved by the arrival of a batch of British girls, included among the large quota of settlers reaching here during the past few weeks.

While the majority of these domestics have remained in this city, a number have proceeded to different points in the west. Their departure was brought to Canada under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

Statistics show that the population of western Canada has been augmented by more than 6,000 newcomers during May. The majority immigrating under the British Empire colonization scheme.

SUNDAY BUYS HEREFORDS
 HOOD RIVER, Ore.—Rev. William A. Sunday, who has arrived from the east to stay during the summer on his Oregan country place, passed with "Ma" Sunday, his protive Edna, nephew Harry and J. E. Kennedy, former Wasco county breeder of registered Hereford cattle, in selecting six registered Hereford heifers on the Tygh valley ranch of R. G. Johnson.

The heifers, granddaughters of an American sweepstakes champion, with a bull given Rev. Mr. Sunday last fall by Luke Lea Jr., Hereford breeder of Nashville, Tenn., while Mr. Sunday was in that city conducting a series of evangelistic meetings, will form the first foundation herd of registered Herefords ever started in the Hood River valley.

Mr. Sunday will exhibit his cattle at the 1925 Pacific International Livestock show in Portland.

Alaska Votes Money to Improve Agricultural and Mines College

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An appropriation of $1,840 granted the Alaska College of Agriculture and School of Mines by the territorial legislature which met last winter at Juneau, will enable several improvements, Judge Chas. E. Hannel, president of the institution, said here.

The appropriation provides for an addition to the main building; a dormitory to cost $25,000 and a power plant. Requests for $22,500 to be used in agriculture work and $10,000 for school of mines extension work were denied.

The institution is at Fairbanks, farther north than any other of its kind in the world.

La Grande Theatres

"The Night Club," Fine Laugh Film, At Star Friday.

"The Night Club," a new Paramount comedy featuring Raymond Griffith, that funny fellow with the high hat; Vera Reynolds; Wallace Berry and Louisa Pansuda, comes to the Star theater for one day on Friday, next. The picture is a screen version of the William de Mille stage play, "After Five," and was co-directed by Frank Urson and Paul Irlby, who made "Forty Winks."

"The Night Club" opens with Griffith at the altar with a girl a head taller than he is. He is just about to slip the ring on when a man rushes in and shouts "Stop!" The girl turns around and recognizes the newspaper editor her long lost husband and rushes into his arms. Then there Ray Griffith decides that he is through with all women for good.

Later on his lawyer announces that he has inherited a million dollars from his uncle but to collect the legacy he must marry a certain girl. Griffith decides that no girl is worth a million dollars and tells the lawyer not to stain the door as he goes out.

So it is that Ray, with his uncle's valet who is heartbroken to him as a separate part of the legacy, goes to Europe to find some place where there are few, if any women. They select a little town in Spain, but Griffith's happiness proves short-lived, for someone of every description soon seek him out and tend to make life miserable for our "woman-hater."

What happens after that—how he meets "the one girl in the world" proves unusual screen entertainment.

"The Night Club" is claimed to be far funnier than either "Chances for Hubbers" or "Forty Winks," and everyone knows what they were.

Aileen Pringle Wears 18,000-Pearl Dress in Picture.

One of the most bizarre costumes ever seen in motion pictures is said to be worn by Aileen Pringle in "A Thief in Paradise," the new First National picture coming to the Arcade theater next Friday.

Solid ropes of pearls form the diaphanous skirt, bodice and bodice. A huge cape of silver net strung with pearls complete the beautiful affair.

It is said that eighteen thousand pearls were used in making the costume. Practically every dealer in essential pearls on the Pacific Coast was emptied of his stock.

Aileen symbolizes a pearl in an exotic dance staged on the ocean's bed, 20 feet underseas. It forms one of the many novel scenes shown in "A Thief in Paradise," Ronald Colman and Doris Kenyon are co-featured with Aileen Pringle in the cast, with Claude Gillingwater, Alec Francis and John Patrick heading the support.

Viola Dana as Ruth Ambrose, the girl who woke up the sleepiest town in Maine, is simply irresistible; the supporting cast of the picture is excellent, among the players being Tully Marshall, Raymond McKee, Walter Hiers, Des Witt Jennings, Gale Henry and Victor Perel.

Winifred Dunn adapted this Henry W. Savage stage production which was written by Holman Day and Eddie Clive directed the picture. The cameraman was Joan Arnold.

Comedy showing, "Hot Sands."

Children Turn to Prayer As Scorpions Invade Homes

DURANGO, Mex. (AP)—Five thousand children attended a special mass in the cathedral here recently, when prayers were offered for a cessation of the plague of scorpions which has invaded this district.

From the thousands of dead insects which have been brought in to the municipal authorities attempts are being made to produce a serum against the poisonous sting of the hairy creature. Ten thousand live scorpions have been shipped to the federal department of health.

The fact that a majority of the poorer class houses in Durango and nearby villages are constructed of adobe bricks and unplastered is believed to account for the plague, as the cracks between the bricks offer ideal breeding places. Another theory is that myriads of scorpions have been driven from the nearby hills by the recent earthquakes.

While speaking your mind you must mind your speaking or you will be spoken to about it.

Judge "Framed" by Friends
 Armed with Gift of Silver

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"Well, what have you to say for yourself?" said Judge Emile Leonard rather severely when Benjamin Halpern, a jeweler, was brought before him recently, charged with "disturbing the peace."

"Well, you see it's like this, Judge," replied Halpern, and to the police court's surprise he drew forth a silver loving cup, made a neat speech and presented it to his honor.

"The cup was given by a group of Judge Leonard's friends to commemorate his re-election, and Halpern explained that the charge of 'disturbing the peace' was framed up to facilitate the novel presentation. Judge Leonard thanked the donors and did not forget to add, "Case dismissed."

All's done in love and war.
