Beautiful bouquets of various flowers of the season were arranged throughout the home and during the afternoon four tables were at play. Mrs. William Mitchell won high score for the club prize and the guest prize went to Mrs. Oscar Porsch. At the close of the play a dainty luncheon was served.

Strain in sugar and remove from the fire when the sugar is dissolved. Soften gelatin in cold water for 10 minutes and stir in boiling pineapple mixture as it is removed from the fire. Boak one cupful of mixed nuts in hot water to cover for half an hour. Then add the broken nut meats to two cupfuls of boiled rice, together with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper and one teaspoonful sugar. Stir in two eggs, beaten slightly, and one-half pound of mild cheese, grated, using a fork so as not to break up the rice grains. Turn into a well-buttered casserole with casserole china-like in appearance, can be brought to the table and used as a serving dish. Then with a fork make holes in the rice and into them pour the milk. Drop bits of butter on the top, sprinkle with paprika and bake, covered, in a hot oven for half an hour. Uncover to brown.

SPRAYING OF TREES URGED

"All apple growers who had worm damage last year should put on a cover spray of arsenate of lead within the next few days," according to H. H. Weatherpoon, horticultural commissioner for this district, states H. G. Avery, county agent. Temperatures the past few days have been right for the codling moth and Mr. Weatherpoon says that spray applied now will be especially effective.
Professor Don M. Cole of the Oregon Agricultural college advises that the cherry maggot fly is now on the wing and it is time to spray for it. The regular arsenate of lead spray used for cherry slug control will check the maggot. The standard formula, however, is a poison bait prepared as follows: Lead arsenate 1 pound, arsenic of calcium 2 quarts, water 3 gallons. Three applications are made. The first, when the adult flies appear, the second at the time Royal Anns show good color, and the third, one week later. The spray should be applied at the rate of about one pint to the tree, applying the solution as fine droplets to the upper surface of the outer leaves.
"I have requested the services of C. J. Long for apple thinning demonstrations and for general orchard advice and expect him here sometime in about two weeks," Mr. Avery states.
Traces of fire blight have been observed in three different sections. Growers should be on the watch for this disease so that it may be cut out before extensive damage occurs.

Agricultural Tonnage Given by Railway Age
More tons of freight classed as "products of agriculture" were transported by the railroads of the United States last year than in any previous year in their history, and more "animals and products" were carried than in any previous year except 1924.
These words appear in the report of statistics analyzing the railroad freight just issued for the past five years just issued by the interstate commerce commission, in spite of the fact that the total freight traffic of the railroads in 1924 was less than that of 1923 or 1920.
"These facts are of considerable interest," says the Railway Age in an editorial in its current issue, "in view of the prestige of the Hoch-Smith resolution, passed by the last congress, under which the commission is now conducting a general investigation of the railroad rate structure, in which congress declared it to be the true policy in rate-making to be pursued by the interstate commerce commission in adjusting freight rates, that the conditions which at any given

Expert Training Is Offered to Fox Men
NORTH EAST, Pa. (AP)—Fashion has forced another progression into the already long list of subjects in America's "higher education," expert fox breeding.
A school in fox breeding, with a class of ambitious young men recruited from all over America, opened today on a 75-acre fox ranch three miles from North East. A force of professors, expert in the ways and ways of the fox, began training men competent to cater to the ever-growing demand of the well-dressed American woman for exquisite furs.
The new institution is the Ruseh School of Fox Breeding, named after its founder, Louis Edward Ruseh of Washington, D. C., who was president of the American Fox Institute. This class will have an eight weeks' summer course. The instruction will cover the history of fox breeding in this

Longest Rail Tunnel To Bore State Divide In Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—Citizens of Washington, led by Judge Austin E. Griffiths of this city, have formed the Cascade Tunnel Association to erect, with national, state and railroad financing, the boring of a tunnel 20 miles long linking the eastern and western halves of their commonwealth.
This would be the longest tunnel in the world. In Colorado the Moffat Tunnel, six miles long, under the Continental Divide, to carry trains and automobiles, is more than half built. In the Alps the Stimplon Tunnel, 12 1/2 miles long, for trains only, has one portal in Switzerland and the other in Italy. Those two countries time prevail in our several industries should be considered so far as it is legally possible to do so, to the end that commodities may freely move. The commission's statistics, showing that 116,572,252 tons of products of agriculture were originated in Class I roads in 1924, as compared with 109,217,455 tons in 1923, 111,747,922 tons in 1922, 134,048,796 tons in 1921 and 119,828,554 tons in 1920, do not seem to indicate that the present rate structure has in any way prevented the movement of agricultural products, although it is common knowledge that the resolution was originated in an idea of trying to help the farmer at the expense of others. The tonnage of animals and products in 1924 was 27,749,198 as compared with 28,254,446 tons in 1925 and 26,594,858 in 1926. The total originating tonnage for 1924 was 1,188,156,651, as compared with 1,279,020,222 in 1923 and 1,250,476,891 in 1922.

"Yet the Hoch-Smith resolution, although not passed by congress, until January, 1925, still contains the language: 'In view of the existing depression in agriculture, the commission is hereby directed to effect with the least practicable delay such lawful changes in the rate structure of the country as will promote the freedom of movement by common carriers of the products of agriculture affected by that depression, including livestock, at the lowest possible tax rates compatible with the maintenance of adequate transportation services.'
"Of course, since congress has directed it to do so it is incumbent upon the commission to make the thorough investigation of the rate structure which the resolution directs, and to make such changes as may be found necessary to correct any defects so found to exist, but it hardly seems necessary to do anything to the rate of agricultural products in general to promote their freedom of movement."

Oregon Has Many Bees But Imports Much Honey
Although Oregon has 100,000 colonies of bees, 10,000 beekeepers, and $1,000,000 invested in bees and beekeeping equipment, many carloads of honey are imported into the state annually. The state is capable of supplying enough honey to meet the demands of immediate consumption and still have enough remaining to supplement all of the syrup and much of the sugar now used in the state.
Oregon has more than 200,000 acres of alfalfa and at least an equal amount of clover. With a substantial increase in the acreage of clover and Hungarian vetch in the Willamette valley and Douglas county, the state could provide bee pasture for at least 500,000 colonies.
Advocates of increased production are making special effort to locate prospective beekeepers in the most desirable but unoccupied areas of the weather, soil, and marketing in particular localities will further successful beekeeping. The annual loss from American foul brood is estimated at approximately $25,000. This disease can be controlled or eliminated entirely from most sections by using the area clean-up method, combined with adequate follow-up inspection.

Tokyo to Start Subway Work
TOKYO (AP)—The cost of constructing Tokyo's new subway system will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 187,000,000 yen, according to the plans drawn up by the municipal authorities. There will be about 49 miles of the subway. It is expected that the laying of routes will be started shortly and actual construction work commenced toward the end of the year or early next spring.

Winnie Ferguson

Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge" gives you these
EASY LESSONS IN AUCTION BRIDGE
"Watch the score" is a valuable rule, but only when clearly understood. When making an original bid, never take the score into consideration. Always bid your hand as dealer as if there were no score. The original bid is the one chance a player has to give exact information and he should always tell his partner the truth. This can be done only by bidding the hand without consideration of the score which should be disregarded when making an offensive bid. For example: The score was Y-2-24, A-B 20, rubber game, Z dealt and bids one no-trump and A holds the following hand:
Hearts—Q, 10, 7
Clubs—A, 4, 3
Diamonds—J, 5, 3
Spades—K, 10, 9, 5
If A passes, Y-22 have a good chance to make the odd trick at no-trump which will give them game and rubber. A is forced, therefore, by the score, to double one no-trump in the hope that Y-2 will let him and his partner play the hand or that Y-2 will bid two no-trump, they will be unable to make it. The defensive is amount except from a defensive standpoint.
That is what the writer means by a correct understanding of "Watch the Score." It is never important from an offensive standpoint, but always important from a defensive standpoint. There is no greater mistake in auction than to change your methods of bidding except for defensive purposes. Bidding for offensive purposes, that is, to arrive at the best bid of the combined hands of yourself and partner, should always be the same regardless of the score. The question of the score, therefore, except for defensive purposes, should never be considered.
Hearts—A, K, Q, 4
Clubs—K, 10, 8, 6, 4, 2
Diamonds—J, 6
Spades—J, 6
Hearts—5, 3
Clubs—J
Diamonds—K, Q, 10, 9, 5, 2
Spades—Q, 10, 8, 5
Hearts—9, 7, 2
Clubs—A, 5, 5, 3
Diamonds—A, 5, 3
Spades—A, K, 4
The bid in two no-trump and discards a diamond, in either event, Z will take all the tricks. A cannot discard the jack of hearts, for if he does, Y's four hearts will be good. A is forced, therefore, to discard a spade. Y now plays the deuce of clubs, the last card. If B discards a diamond, Z discards a defense.
Hearts—None
Clubs—None
Diamonds—J
Spades—A, K, 2
Hearts—None
Clubs—None
Diamonds—K
Spades—Q, 5, 4
Hearts—8
Clubs—J
Diamonds—None
Spades—10, 6, 7
There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y-2 win all the tricks against any defense? A can now discard either a spade or a diamond. If he discards a spade, Y should discard a diamond. If he discards the heart, the eight of hearts will be good in Z's hand and should be carefully studied.
