Schools Are Urged to Teach Machine Figuring

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Teaching of machine bookkeeping and machine calculation in commercial high schools was urged today by J. C. Springman, of the Commercial Department of the Pontiac, Mich., high school, before the Business Educational Association in annual convention here.

Mr. Springman said this work should be given pupils with the requirements of business constantly in mind, and that the nature of the work should be governed by the kind of machines used in the community by industry.

C. A. Hyre, business manager of the Cleveland Clinic and Associated Hospitals, declared indications point to the establishment of a system of commercial training that will be similar to the work received by medical graduates in interne service and law students in moot courts.

J. R. H. Moore, head of the History Department of Emmerich Manual Training high school, Indianapolis, in discussing the "Contributions of Teachers of Economics to the Interpretation of the School to the Community" before the National Council for Social Studies, declared "interrelation between the home and the school may prove valuable to both," and that the task of interpreting the school to the community required "cooperation in its broadest sense."

Frances R. Kelly, supervisor of Home Economics, Minneapolis, told the American Home Economic association that the greatest care be exercised to select the most efficient equipment for home economic work in junior and senior high schools, as if this were done more efficient work could be done and the "teaching load" reduced.

La Grande Theatres

"Flashing Spurs" Showing at Sherrys Today and Tomorrow.

Bob Custer, the new Western star, has proven his right to stardom in "Flashing Spurs," the stirring drama of Western plains which comes to the Sherry theater today. Custer in the role of Barry Stuart, dashes through the picture with leaps and bounds, proving himself a crack-shot, a finished athlete and more than that—an exceptionally fine actor.

"Flashing Spurs" tells a Western story "differently." It has been acclaimed by picture critics one of the best pictures of its kind yet produced, and this alone insures 100 per cent entertainment.

Comedy showing, "King Cotton." Extra attraction, "Stereoscopiks."

Sills in Another Thrill Film at The Arcade.

Another big First National feature picture, with Milton Sills in the stellar role, has been secured for the Arcade theater today.

The coming picture is "The Making of O'Malley," an adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's Red Book magazine story of the same title. It is Sills' first starring vehicle, and is a vivid, heart-gripping story of a New York policeman and a society heiress, especially fitted for the stalwart dramatic vigor of the star — outstanding exponent of two-fisted roles.

Supporting Sills is an excellent cast headed by Dorothy Mackaill, last seen here in "Chickie." Others in the cast include Thomas Carrigan, who gained a high place in filmdom as Nick Carter in the detective series; Helen Rowland, 6-year-old screen phenom; Claude King, Warner Richmond, Julia Hurley, Allen Brander, Charles Graham, Nell Craig and Jack de Lacey.

Thrills galore, pathos, tragedy, color, real fun, beautiful photography, a wonderful love story and unusual settings are promised in "The Making of O'Malley." A large part of the picture was photographed on the streets of New York City, where Sills, who plays the role of a policeman, is shown actually engaged in directing New York's street traffic.

Ten Lost Tribes of Israel to Organize

ATLANTA, Ill. (AP)—Why Anglo-Saxons who believe they are the descendants of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel should organize into a federation, is explained in a letter addressed to Christians by the Rev. George McGinnis, urging them to attend a national convention to be held in Waunita Springs, Colo., August 15-18, for that purpose.

Rev. Mr. McGinnis said the federation was planned along the organization in Great Britain, where Princess Alice, a cousin of King George, is chief patron, and Lord Gisborough, president.

"The Anglo-Saxon Federation will have for its object the federation of orthodox Christians of all denominations who believe the Bible to be the inspired word of God," said Rev. Mr. McGinnis, "to perpetuate the belief that Anglo-Saxons are the descendants of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel; to prove that this race has been chosen of God to rule land and sea; to restore the sanctity of the Christian faith, the observance of the Sabbath and reverence for the word of God, and to demonstrate to Anglo-Saxon people the privileges and responsibilities attached to them by reason of their descent from Israel."

Rev. Mr. McGinnis declared the English federation, composed of 2,000,000 members, was preaching this doctrine and restoring faith.

Editors Go to Jail Under Censorship Imposed by Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A staff of censors has been distributed among the local newspapers by the Brazilian government in order to prevent the publication of attacks on President Arthur Bernardes and the Brazilian government. An unofficial statement secured at the foreign office explained the move as a guarantee for public order. "The public at present is an easy prey to newspaper propaganda," it was explained, "and some Brazilian editors take unjustifiable advantages of the freedom of the press. If the newspapers were not restrained, their contents would create a bad impression about Brazil when read abroad."

Editors say that most of the cutting is in copy dealing with administration policies and revolutionary plotting.

"The government's power to stop publication of an unfriendly newspaper was checkmated recently by Octavio Kelly, a judge of the federal courts in Rio de Janerio, who made a decision which permits the reappearance of the Correio da Manha, after a ban of nine months. The newspaper was closed last year shortly after the revolutionists were driven out of the city of Sao Paulo, and many of the editorial staff have been in jail. The owner and editor, Edmundo Bittencourt, escaped after seven months and is now a political refugee at the Chilean embassy. His son, part owner and managing editor, has been confined for nearly one year.

The decision of Judge Kelly was based on the opinion that the closing of a newspaper by the government is a violation of the private property rights guaranteed citizens of Brazil by the constitution. Mr. Bittencourt claims to have lost $200,000 as a result of the ban against his newspaper.

The city editor of O Jornal, an important commercial paper of Rio de Janeiro, was arrested a few days ago, the day after the censor stopped the appearance of a story dealing with one of the candidates for the forthcoming presidential election.
