Obituary

W. M. WEBSTER. William Martin Webster, who passed away at his home July third, was a resident of the Grande Ronde valley for approximately 30 years. He was born in Iowa on November 17, 1879 and at the time of his death was 44 years, seven months and 14 days of age. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hannah Webster, two sons, Lawson and Carl; three daughters, Ina Mae, Mildred and Lilly Bell; a sister, Mrs. Rosal McCrae, of Wallowa, and a brother, Arthur Webster, residing in the valley.

DANIEL P. MILLER. Daniel P. Miller, born in Sweden, February 17, 1855, died in Elgin, Oregon, yesterday at two o'clock in the afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the Stodgrass and Zimmerman funeral parlors at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in the L. O. O. F. cemetery. He leaves to mourn his widow, Mrs. Minnie Miller, five sons: John Nelson, of Enterprise, Elmer Miller, of Echo, Oscar Miller, of the Philippines, Herbert and Stanley Miller, of La Grande, and two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Miles, of Estacada, Ore., and Mabel Miller, of La Grande.

AUTO KILLS 1; HURTS 2. BEND, Ore.—Fred Haack, logging camp employee of the Sheelin-Hixon company of Bend, was killed when his auto struck a soft spot at the edge of the road as he turned out to pass another automobile and capsize. Clarence Talbot and G. Gustafson, in Haack's auto, were dangerously injured, and Frank Talbot, the fourth member of the party, was badly shaken. Acting Coroner Winslow will conduct an inquest. Haack, who is survived in Oregon by a brother-in-law in the logging camp, was returning to Bend after spending the Fourth of July with other relatives in Marion. The accident occurred at Cold Springs, four miles west of Sisters on the McKenzie Bend highway.

BAKER HERALD SOLD TUESDAY

BAKER, Ore. (Special) — The Baker Herald, an evening daily which has been in publication here for 25 years, was sold Tuesday to L. P. Arant and E. Manwaring, Portland newspaper men. The new owners will take possession today and will hold the controlling interest. The former owners were H. K. Hendrix and Al Vandahl. The consideration was not announced. Arant was formerly on the Oregonian desk.

OUTDOOR CARD IS ARRANGED

The other fights which should draw the fans are the two events featuring Charlie Becker and Delbert Allen and Charles Karther vs. Earl Reagan.

Allen and Becker will fight the semi-final. Both boys are well known here. Becker beat Sary, stood off Weiss and was a decision over Karther in his last three starts.

Allen started his ring career by winning a referee's verdict from Karther and later scored a knockout on the Kono Kid.

Both are regarded as comers and both are good fighters so the fight should be a tangle. They will hit the beam even on the scales. Each will weigh in at 138 pounds with the fight scheduled to go six 3-minute rounds.

The Karther vs. Reagan bout is listed as the special event. Karther's work is well known and is generally regarded as a good old head and he gets in a few weeks of training will step off a good battle with most of them. In his last few bouts he has gone in with-out training, usually as an accommodation to the promoters.

Little is known of Reagan's work. He comes here a comparative stranger but is rated as a good man. At any rate Karther will be a good trial horse for him.

Two other four round events, Watts vs. Davis and Binder vs. Lindsay will fill out the card. Binder fought Dougherty here on the last battle and lost a close decision.

On this occasion he plainly showed lack of fever. This lad is really a remarkable physical specimen. He works on the road near Huntington and it is said that he runs several miles to work every morning.

At any rate he showed some potential ability and also demonstrated conclusively that he catches a wallop when he kayped Frankie Doyle of Pendleton at Huntington last week. Binder stopped Doyle in the second round and there are lots of haters in the inland empire who would like to be able to say as much.

Watts and Davis will fight the curtain raiser. Both are local youngsters about 17 years old who weigh around 115 pounds.

Tom Gossett will referee.

AGED BAKER MAN, HIT BY AUTO SATURDAY, DIES

BAKER.—The first death from Baker's Fourth of July celebration occurred yesterday. William Critchlow died of injuries sustained when struck by an automobile in a traffic congestion on a street bridge Saturday. Critchlow, aged 75, was struck by Alfred Morton, 29. Morton says that he did not know his car struck Critchlow.

NOW YOU MAY TRY THIS VEGETABLE SYRUP FREE

This Is Your Chance to Prove That Toning Up Your Liver Will End That Tired, Run-Down Feeling. Build Yourself Up! Win Back Sound Digestion, Strength and Energy—Feel Your Very Best Again!

In his private practice Dr. H. S. Thacher demonstrated that such symptoms as Indigestion, Gas on a Sour Stomach, Belching, Dizziness, Colds that Hang On, Sick Headaches, Constipation, that Tired Feeling and a general Run-Down condition of the System are often the result of a sluggish liver—and that relief in such cases comes quickly when the liver is properly cleaned and toned and the system is working normally again.

Why This Gives Relief When working as Nature intended your liver does three things necessary to keep you feeling your best. First, it purifies your blood, every drop of which passes through the liver every fifteen minutes. Second, your liver furnishes the essence that is essential to perfect digestion. Third, your liver supplies the secretions Nature uses to lubricate your intestines so that your bowels can move naturally, gently and regularly every day. When your liver becomes sluggish it cannot do these three things, consequently, you suffer from one or more of the symptoms above described.

Share It With Family! Just to prove to you that you CAN get quick RELIEF, druggists are giving away FREE (FREE) trial size bottles of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. It is a syrup of PURELY VEGETABLE

PLAN RATIFIED.

PARIS (AP)—The French chamber of deputies today unanimously ratified the Washington eight hour convention, which was one of the conventions adopted by the international labor conference at a meeting in Washington in 1919 when the powers agreed it should be adopted within a year or 18 months.

TAXIMETER IN EARLY DAYS

OXFORD, Eng. (AP)—Modern research has disclosed that the chariots which plied for hire about the Acropolis in the days of Pericles were fitted with ingenious and highly ingenious taximeters.

In the grey dawn of Attic history distances were measured by professional paces, called bematists, who followed the kings on campaigns and processions, but with the introduction of horses and chariots the bematist's job is that hot and dusty land became a negative and unenviable one. Thus the taximeter of those days was, it is said, invented out of sympathy for the industrious order of men. This profitable little instrument survived wars and invasions, and clacked on through all the darkest ages. They are recorded to have been in use in Spain in the days of Columbus and John Evelyn, the seventeenth-century diarist, speaks of them as "waymarkers," very pretty and useful.

CRITICAL GAME HERE SUNDAY

(Continued from Page One.) Ruddy Kallio famous signer of the Peace Club has been picked by the Pirates and may be used here Sunday. Kallio is in Portland now and would have no difficulty in getting to La Grande for the week end.

Baker will probably use Letty Orman in the box and the remainder of the Colts' lineup will be a good deal the same as when they played here last.

EVOLUTION IS MENACE, CLAIM

He inquired into the causes of the widespread interest in the case and pointed out that the severest punishment possible could not be more than a fine of $500.

"The secret of the world's interest in this little case is found in the fact that this trial uncovers an attack which for a generation has been made more or less secretly upon revealed religion, that is the Christian religion," he asserted.

"We have no knowledge of it outside the bible, which Christians regard as the revealed will of God. It gives us our only conception of God and our only knowledge of Christ."

"Anything that attacks the bible attacks revealed religion. A successful attack would destroy the bible and with it revealed religion."

"The contest between evolution and Christianity is a duel to the death. This trial is going to give information or by the means of bringing out information upon which the controversy will be decided. "If evolution wins, Christianity goes—not suddenly, of course, but gradually for the two cannot stand together. They are as antagonistic as light and darkness; as antagonistic as good and evil."

Christians, he said, believing that revealed religion offers mankind the only saving truth—will fight evolution as their only great foe."

"If information furnished at the trial shows evolution to be untrue and therefore unworthy of acceptance, science will have to fall back upon demonstrated truth, which has no terrors for Christianity."

People in Control. Mr. Bryan insisted that the basic principle of the Tennessee anti-evolution law was the theory that the people, speaking through the legislature, have a right to control the public schools.

"Some irregular editors have scoffed at the idea of the schools being controlled by those who support them, but they have not yet pointed out any other control than control by the public, he said.

"Our constitution may place restraints upon legislatures but the people make the constitutions and can change them. Our courts may temporarily restrain legislatures, but the people create our courts and can change them."

"Arguments must therefore be addressed to the people. Expressions of contempt for the people are not sufficient and they do not show the spirit that we have a right to expect in Americans."

Their wheels stacked in the shadow of the no bicycles sign, several messenger boys loafed under the no loitering sign and excused in the direction of the no spitting sign.

A pedestrian glanced at the keep out sign and went in. The doorman at the hotel of which our restaurant is an adjunct was trying to clear a place for a taxi but couldn't—too many private cars.

Well, we had lunch, scratching matches on a no smoking sign, we proceeded to a little reading room in the rear—the injunction "No entrance" appears over the door—where usually we chat for a few minutes before we leave.

Simms was speaking of Sir Philip Gibbs, Britain's most celebrated correspondent at the west front during the world conflict, now famous for his pessimistic fiction and predictions in English and American magazines and newspapers.

"Gloom," said Simms, "is Gibbs' middle name. To illustrate.

"The pair of us were autoing toward the front one day in the year's third year. Coming to a canal, we found the bridge open to let a string of barges pass, so had to wait. "Along came the barges. Those European canal boats generally are kept pretty nifty. These were unusually so—clean and bright with new paint. "Atop of the last one was a pretty little dog house—quite artistic. "See that cute little dog house," I said. "Loudly from Gibbs. It looks like a child's coffin to me."

"And the way that boy can sense future wars," continued Simms. "You chaps think I'm the champion war prophet myself, but I'm nothing to Phil Gibbs. Every night he has a war shimmering in it for him. "To hear him forecast the future's enough to make your flesh creep."

"Well, he looks farther ahead than you do," observed Mellett. Simms looked hurt. International experts don't like to have more things said to them.

"Oh, I don't mean you don't see plenty of wars," apostrophized Mellett. "But Gibbs prophesies the horrors that stalk after them, too."

"Glimping at the world's horoscope, I predict war," you exclaim. "Then, in a supplementary croak from Gibbs, 'Aye, war!'—then famine!—and afterward—postulance!"
