

No Vitamin Captured Yet, Avers Doctor

TORONTO Ont. (AP)—While scientists often have thought they had their fingers on a vitamin, there is not known to be a single vitamin in captivity.

Dr. Avers argued for the use of uncooked foods, pointing out what regarded as disadvantages growing out of modern methods of food preparation.

Dr. W. Curtis Brigham of Los Angeles said osteopathic teaching has drifted to some extent, the curriculum of every medical teaching institution in the world.

Other speakers at today's session were Dr. W. Drow, of Wallham, Mass.; Tracy Parker of Portland, Ore.; George V. Welch of Carthage, N. C.; A. C. Hardy, of Knoxville, Tenn.; and Charles M. Latta of Columbus, O.

Late Pictures Taken at Santa Barbara

Sailors from an American man of war landed in Santa Barbara immediately after the quake and set up a portable radio receiving and sending outfit in State street, the main thoroughfare. Details of the tragedy and appeals for relief were sent out through this station.

Bayone "Pie Fund" Goes to Endowment

BAYONNE, N. J.—Bayonne High School "Pie Fund," consisting of $4,000, raised during the war by students who abstained from pie one day a week, will be used to complete the $12,500 quota assigned to Bayonne in the national $5,000,000 endowment fund being raised by The American Legion for the disabled veterans and orphans of the World War.

PLAIN WORDS NOW USED.

THE DALLIER, Ore.—The tourist was thirsty and he was quaffing vigorously from a roadside spring when Division Engineer J. W. Wampler of the state highway department chanced to drive by. Beside the spring was a big sign lettered "This water is contaminated." The sign had been put up at Wampler's direction when it was learned that the water was unfit for drinking purposes. The highway engineer stopped his car and started to warn the drinker, only to be met by the question, "Say, what kind of mineral water is this, anyhow. I never heard of it before?"

A new sign was put up. It reads: "This water is rotten. Not fit to drink."

By the time you find the needle in the haystack it is rusty and useless.

LICENSE RECORD SET.

EUGENE, Ore.—Approximately 600 applications for automobile licenses for the last half of the year have been filed in the office of Sheriff Taylor here. Deputy Sheriff Earl Luckey, who went to Salem with a prisoner for the state prison, took them to the secretary of state's office. This is the greatest number ever filed so early for the second half of the year's license, according to deputies in the office. Most of the licenses were obtained for new automobiles, but among them were quite a number of old ones that had not yet been used this year.

TUMBLING DOWN over precipice after precipice the cool water is churned into a misty spray, but joins itself together again at the bottom, and flows peacefully on over mossy stones to the sea. The falls are in White Oak canyon, British Columbia, Can.
