Hoot Gilson, Universal's famous Western star, has so many horses he doesn't know what to do with them. On his last few pictures he has been presented with a blooded horse at almost every western ranch he visited on location trips, and has even been presented with a horse sent from Japan.

"Silk Stocking Sal" At Sherrys Is New Crook Drama.

A new crook drama of distinction, worthy to take a place on the screen comparable to that of "Kiek In" and "Within The Law" on the legitimate stages, is "Silk Stocking Sal" starring Evelyn Brent. The story comes from the pen of E. Richard Schayer, and was written especially for Miss Brent. This versatile young actress gives a startlingly vivid portrayal of the title character and those who attend the Sherry Theatre tonight will agree with the critics who have already singled out Miss Brent as one of the outstanding artists of the season. "Silk Stocking Sal" as a fast-moving melodrama of underworld and society life in New York City, and enough comedy has been injected into the work to relieve the taut dramatic situations which have been evolved. Richard Ellis and Earl Meehan give Miss Brent fine support in the most important male roles. Foot Browning directed the picture.

The 2 Reel comedy "Detained" is also being shown.

"Pal," his wonderful "Golden Mare," one of the fastest and most beautiful specimens of the Palomino breed known, who makes her screen debut, following several months of training in Hoot's newest Western thriller "The Hurricane Kid," which is showing at the Star Friday.

"Pal" is a pure golden color, fleet as a racehorse, but varied in all the "fencing" tricks of the range. She has been trained with great care, and is very gentle—except when throwing off a rider—and answers readily to cues.

She and her wild mate do a remarkable piece of acting in the picture, in which a romance between two horses is developed at the same time the romance between the human actors is shown on the screen. But besides her love problem, she has the problem of her life to avoid theariat of the over-ambitious cowboy.

Gilson does some daring tricks of horsemanship in his new vehicle. There is a running horseback fight, at a breakneck speed; a thrilling race, the pursuit and capture of a wild horse on the dangerous trails of the Sierra foothills, and a lively battle on the range, terminating in a romance of remarkable interest.

Well-known Players Support Gilson's whimsical humor in responsible for much comedy between Thrilling and Harry Todd, the eccentric character comedian and Gilson make an interesting pair. Marian Nixon, noted beauty of the screen, is leading lady for the new picture, and Violet La Plante, younger sister of Laura La Plante, the noted Universal star, appears, following, perhaps, the footsteps of her sister, who first won recognition when playing opposite the

A. Steele again plays a "heavy" with dire intent Edward Redwick, who directed "The Sandlot Trail," "The Hootling Kid" and others of the Hoot Gilson Western successes, is responsible for the direction of the new feature, which was written by Will Lambert. The full force of the Universal Hatch Riders appears with Gilson in this picture, and a thrilling race had in Western roadways rather than on a track is one of the high spots of the dramatic climax.

Cythera Notable For Its Picture Art.

Preceded by a chorus of praise such as few pictures can boast, "Cythera," Goddess of Love, a First National picture, is coming to the Arcade Theatre today. This picturization of a novel has been characterized as the most notable contribution to the cinematic art because of the unique touches which have been injected into it by George Fitzmaurice, who produced and personally directed it for Samuel Goldwyn.

Among these unusual features is a color scheme that is used to emphasize the emotional efforts of the players. Three different hues are employed to bring out the moods of the episodes, starting them to a degree heretofore unknown. Then there is the story. So unusual was the plot, and so difficult to visualize did it appear to the ordinary director, that Mr. Fitzmaurice was the one with courage enough to attempt the task. The result is that there are innovations of acting and direction that will make the picture talked of for years. Delicate situations have been handled with an unerring skill. "Cythera" proves that the motion picture possesses a scope of delineation that hitherto had been unexplored.

In the cast are such popular favorites as Lewis S. Stone, Alma Rubens, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Betty Houston, Charles Wellesley and Lydia Yamans Titus.

The proposed British Radio law which would permit house-search for unlicensed sets as well as other tyrannical powers lately exposed in "The Dearborn Independent," has been withdrawn under the urge of public indignation.

If he advertises it, he knows it's good.
