Cooper home on Fourth street and to join Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Osgood, of Boston, Mass., who have been guests at the Cooper home for the past week. Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Osgood, and Mrs. Cooper are sisters. The visitors were much impressed with the prosperous look of the city of La Grande and the beautiful scenery surrounding it. They left for Portland Monday morning to visit another sister before returning to their homes in the east.

Saw picture made—While in Los Angeles last August Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ford saw most of the filming of the motion picture "Forty Winks" which is now being shown at the Arcade Theatre. While taking some of the stills in the picture, they saw the people were invited a part which does not show up in the finished production. Mr. and Mrs. Ford were quite amused to see Raymond Griffith, one of the principals in the picture, portrayed in the act of shouting. Mr. Griffith, a former opera singer, lost his voice before turning to the movies and is barely able to speak above a whisper. However, one witnessing the picture would never guess that Mr. Griffith was so afflicted.

Personal Mention—Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Burleigh, tourists of Boise, Idaho, were registered at the Sommer hotel last evening.

SNOW TO SEEK TAILED HUMAN

with frail boats battling whales is also holding attention through the novelized diary being shown.

But neither of these thrilling expeditions is just up to the standard of accomplishment that Snow and his son hope to set.

"Every couple of years, there comes word of ape-tailed men from the South Seas," says Snow. "To date, though, nothing corroborative has been brought out by the several expeditions going in search of these tribes."

Seek Whole Tribe.
"With the evolution question now almost a national issue, there is more than usual interest in tail-bearing humans. We have been gathering information for years, and believe we shall find not more than individuals possessed of caudal appendages, but an entire tribe so distinguished or marked."

"It is the Malayan or mound-builder a rare variety of the megalopithecus that is scattered through the Pacific island districts," explains the curator-explorer.

"They are the size of turkeys somewhat of the same order. They live in colonies, and even build a community incubator to hatch their young."

"With their powerful feet, the females build huge mounds of mud and vegetable matter—mounds 60 feet in diameter or five or six feet high. The top of these heaps are hollowed, so they will catch rain-fall."

How Heat Is Supplied.
"The eggs are carefully placed in holes dug under the mound. Rain water seeps down the vegetable matter in the mound, and the resulting fermentation generates heat to hatch the eggs."

"Sanitation is also known to these birds. Each night they return to the mound, dig out the eggs for a short airing, then carefully replace and cover them, always with the air chamber uppermost."

"In this manner, the entire incubation process is carried out. When the young emerge from the shell and clamor out of the mound, they are well hatched and can even fly a little."

"These are but two of the rarities the Snows seek to bag with gun and camera during their next expedition. But the ape-tailed man and the bird who knows chemistry are sure to be the stars of the whole collection."

GLADSTONE BOY KILLED
OREGON CITY, Ore.—Frank Decker, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Decker of Gladstone, was injured and died shortly after in a hospital at Pendleton. According to a report received here, Decker fell under a moving train at Pendleton and was so badly injured that it was found necessary to amputate both arms. The body arrived here yesterday.

Mr. Decker was born August 23, 1906. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Decker, his brothers, Ernest, Byron, Myrtle, Joe, Elva, Perry, Lloyd, Bill, and sisters, Velma, Thelma and Esther. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock from the Holman & Son chapel, with interment in Mountain View cemetery.

Discovery of Ancient Wall Again Involves Holy Sepulchre Site

JERUSALEM, (AP)—Part of the wall enclosing Jerusalem built by Agrippa, one of the last Jewish kings and destroyed by Titus, has been unearthed, recently. About 60 yards of the wall, some four yards in thickness, have been uncovered by the Jewish exploration society.

This discovery has aroused deep interest in archeological and religious circles. If this is the third of the series of walls built around Jerusalem, it is argued, it brings into question the authenticity of the site of the Holy Sepulchre, which is thus placed outside the city walls.

The third wall was commenced by Herod Agrippa about 40-44 A. D. and was interrupted by the Roman governor of Syria, to be completed later by the Jews before the final siege of the city. By all accounts there were three walls which protected Jerusalem on the north, built successively both for the protection of the weakest side of the defenses and to afford room for the steady growth of the city at the beginning of the Christian era. Both the first and second walls were standing at the time of Christ and the place of crucifixion and burial must have been outside them.

Some scholars have contended that the site of the Holy Sepulchre is impossible because it is situated within ancient Jerusalem, it being known that crucifixions did not take place within the city walls. Adherents of this view, especially a large number of the English community, who have always entertained doubts about the location of the Holy Sepulchre, see further confirmation in the discovery of what is believed to be the third wall.

The Jewish Exploration Society, which is conducting these excavations, holds with Dr. W. F. Albright, Director of the American School of Oriental Research here, that the discovery of the Agrippan wall does not seriously affect "this long unshaking question," Dr. Albright admits that the situation is awkward.

"Should we decide for the Holy Sepulchre and against the evidence, or against the Holy Sepulchre and against other evidence of little less cogency?" Dr. Albright asks. "Neither horn of the dilemma is necessary. The present north wall of the city dates back only to Hadrian's time and represent a wholly new wall."

MANN'S PETITION DENIED
SKIDM, Ore.—Judge McMahon of the Marion county circuit court overruled a demurrer filed by the petitioners in proceedings started by J. G. Mann of Hillsboro to compel the officials of the Oregon state hospital to release his brother, Grant Mann.

Had the demurrer been sustained several thousand commitments on file in Oregon's two state hospitals would have been subject to legal attack.

Big Cities in Revolt; Rural Rule Disliked

"The cities are compact and it's easy for them to combine. The ruralites are scattered, their forces dispersed, impossible to draw together into an effective body for aggression or defense. The cities have money, too—great accumulations of capital, such as the country can't match."

Speaking conservatively, it isn't honest, very likely that a dozen or twenty of this country's foremost cities actually will set up in business as independent states.

"There's an excellent prospect, on the other hand, that by attempting secession, they'll shake loose from their various state, essentially rural representation in their legislatures—control of some of them. Which will mean considerable difference in future laws. Urbanites and ruralites don't make the same kind."

SINGERS GIVE RECITAL HERE LAST EVENING

posed by John Stark Evans, his former teacher.

Miss Bell's group in the second half of the concert included "Slyssin" by Lindberg, "The Star" by Rogers and "Lystytsk and Hurlerlines" by Del Riego. All light airy things which showed Miss Bell's voice to best advantage.

"Lullaby" by Cyril Scott was sung as an encore.

Negro Songs Sung.
The final group on the program were "Negro Songs" including "Your Door," "I'm So Glad Trouble Don't Last Always," "Glad and 'Goin' to Shout All Over Gods Heaven" by Burleigh. The last was written on the rambling song variety with several verses, each of which retained the title line and evidently the furthest of some of the modern songs in which the original song phrases figure so prominently. For an encore Mr. Meyers sang the old camp meeting favorite, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."
