ARREST HALTS OFFICE TAKING

KLAMATH FALLS, (By the Associated Press)—E. L. Elliott, who is scheduled to take office Saturday as district attorney here was indicted here on a charge of malfeasance in office in a secret indictment returned by the grand jury yesterday.

The accused attorney was arrested in his office shortly after the noon hour and was in custody of Deputy Sheriff Hilton pending his appearance before circuit Judge Leavitt this afternoon to arrange bail bond.

The indictment involves the theft and subsequent disposal of approximately 21 sacks of sugar from the Mason Ehrman and company warehouse here in March, 1924. It is charged that the sugar later was found by certain persons and part of it turned over to Elliott who at that time was special prohibition prosecutor for Klamath county.

The sugar, it is alleged, subsequently disappeared. It is charged that Elliott disposed of it and made no return as a public official as to what became of the sugar or funds said to have been received for the sale of the sugar.

Refused to Comment
Elliott declined to make any comment immediately after his arrest.

Following the resignation of District Attorney William Gango here early this month, Elliott was appointed district attorney by Governor Pierce, effective August first. For the past few days he has been arranging his business affairs in order to take over his official duties. He had already announced the appointment of W. A. West, former deputy supreme court clerk at Salem, as his deputy.

Elliott served as special prohibition prosecutor for Klamath county for 18 months prior to January 1, under appointment by Governor Pierce.

Many Nations to Take Part in Anti-Malaria Congress
ROME (AP)—The first international anti-malaria congress will be held in Rome October 4 to 6 with participation by representatives of all 134 nations of Europe, North and South America, as well as India, the British Dominions, Japan and Turkey.

Among the American representatives 50, it is expected, will attend, are General Cummings of the United States public health board, Col. Hessel of the Rockefeller Foundation, Prof. Stone, Bass, Fickel, Brooks and Darling, Drs. Hackett, Thayer, McCullum, King and Barber.

NEW YORK'S ENGINEERS ARE LATEST TO REVOLT
NEW YORK (AP)—An important corps in New York's great white-collar working army Tuesday raised the standard of revolt.

The municipal engineers, 3,000 strong and representing the largest single aggregation of their profession in the world, outside of military establishments, completed an organization which has for its object improvement of salary and working conditions "compatible with dignity, training and responsibility of the position."

The movement has aroused among other professions whose members, despite years of improvement receive less compensation than the recently arrived immigrant "engineer" of a compressed air drill or of a brick hod.

The association of engineers of New York, formed at a meeting Monday night, representing every city department, approved the resolution submitted to the city authorities of their demands for a flat increase of 25 per cent in salary and for amelioration of working conditions.

Statistics prepared by the chamber showed that 88 per cent of the

Ladybug Industry Is Latest In Northwest Orchard Country
WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—A shortage of 6,000,000 ladybugs was reported this spring by Clark Turner, "ladybug king," who is conducting a new industry in North Central Washington—that of furnishing ladybugs to orchardists.

Despite a hard winter on ladybugs, Turner sold nearly 3,000,000 this spring. They are gathered in the higher regions of the Cascade mountains, and in certain crevices are very thick.

The red-coated little insects are shipped to the fruit ranches and planted about 1,000 to an acre. Breeding several times during a season they multiply very rapidly, and are a natural enemy of the green and woolly aphid, peach tree louse and other orchard pests.

LOVE SONG.
I love you,
If it were your will,
I'd steal,
I'd cheat,
I'd rob,
I'd kill.

In every corner of my heart
The memories of you lurk.
I love you,
I treasure you,
Almost
Enough to go to work.

German Veterans Demand Aid
Instead of War Monuments MUNICH (AP)—The Legion of German War Veterans at its third national convention passed a resolution criticizing the various memorial and veteran clubs for wasting so many monuments for dead comrades instead of proper sparing for their widows and children,
as a more fitting method of honoring the memory of the dead. The resolution recommended the construction of a number of recreation homes for the widows and orphans of soldiers killed in the war. The Legion of German War Veterans comprises more than 400,000 members throughout the country.

street bridge, in this city, helpless from disease and starvation.

For a month he had been lying on the gravel and sand of a dry river channel, and for the past two weeks had no food other than a clover tea. He was discovered and removed to the county hospital.

He was engaged in farming near
The Dalles for more than 20 years,
he said, and was employed as city dump tender for ten years. The Douglas county authorities will see that he is cared for until his case can be turned over to Wasco county.

Jennings and Shumate

The man of the hour seldom lasts longer than that.

The best way to find your kinfolks is to get rich—which possibly explains why some people prefer poverty.

Even the man who does not hesitate to eat hash in a cafe may be super-critical at home.

You don't have to nurse a grouch very carefully to make it grow—and you don't have to talk pessimism very often to make it spread.

Some one has remarked that the leading nation problem is: Can I afford a new car? But we are inclined to disagree with the wording of the problem. In reality it is a question of, Can I get a new car? with very little attention being given to the question of affording one. If we bought new cars only when we could afford them and their upkeep, many individual economic difficulties would eliminate themselves. When the time comes that Mr. Average Citizen is actually concerned about "affording" a new car and conducts himself accordingly, and ceases to be primarily interested in getting one whether he can afford it or not, then we will be more surely progressing on the road to national prosperity and permanent happiness.

LAUGH FOR HEALTH.

Laugh and grow fat is an old prescription and promise. Ghouly spirits make for lean bodies. Worry takes off flesh. "I should worry," could not have come into daily use in a time when the struggle for existence was as desperate as a certain type of agitator would have us believe it is and ever will be unless they are given carte blanche to order the political, commercial and social life of the nation.

Our people are substantially "upholstered." It's a grief to the ladies, to whom fat, judgment from the way they inveigh against it, is a calamity. But the facts of life visite to sit with eyes to see compels the conclusion that Americans are a happy, prosperous people, their worries few, their stomachs full of good food and their minds frequently refreshed by mirth-provoking fancies. This is not to say that they regard life as a joke. It is far from that, but the serious considerations of everyday existence, the perplexities and problems that assail the normal being, are materially relieved by the saving grace of humor.

Now comes Dr. Frederick W. Seward, neurologist, who tells the American Institute of Homeopathy that the comic strips in the daily papers, the colored comic pages of the Sunday issues, are aids to health. Be tolerant, he says, we've one way to cultivate tolerance is to look for the funny side, and laugh. No grouch can grow inward where a sense of humor exists. Homeopaths might be cited as examples. To no few people their school of medicine is a joke, but the homeopaths can afford to join in the laugh they provoke, if only because it is on their deriders.

The point is that people who can tolerate the lighter things will never be compared with the lean and hungry Caspian, nor be so devoid of healthful interests that they will worry themselves sick.

The comic strips are an excellent tonic. One need not regard them as art. Few do. Some of them are at times trifling and spurious wit. But they are amusing. They turn the mind from serious engrossments and real or fancied troubles. They help one to begin and to end the day with a grin. People who take this tonic will be healthier than those who can't see the funny side of most everything around them.
