...turning up right along." "How do you know they're doing it? If they deceive even experts?" "Well, all but the very best experts," insist the French. It isn't impossible the secret service is keeping a sharp eye out for the appearance of any suspicious-looking paper on the side of the water tower. Its operatives wouldn't say so, if they were. They chew brass bands.

La Grande Team on Way to Caldwell, Ida.

The Rev. William F. Holl will play first base. His normal position is at second or short stop, but he can hold down the initial sack in good shape.

Paust, ex-Whitman College star who has been playing ball for the Pirates will be kept at second base and will work with Spud Heim, Pirate short stop. This makes a strong combination.

The fourth member of the infield will be Clyde Spies, Spokane ball player who tried out for the Pirates early in the spring but was later picked up by Baker and finished the season with the Colts.

The outfield will be composed of Alexander, left field, Ray Cox of Portland, center field and Rubie Davin right field.

The team is making the trip by car. They left early this morning and will play the opener at Caldwell at 5:30 this afternoon. Big preparations have been made for them at Caldwell in the way of strengthening the team and enlarging the bleachers.

WHEAT READY TO HARVEST

the period, and there is complaint that spring wheat, especially on light soil, has burned and some of the kernels do not promise to be full and plump. Fall wheat, however, has made a steady and strong growth and has not been affected by the brief spell of hot winds.

Oats, barley and rye also look good, although it is not believed the straw will be excessively heavy, especially where the planting was late. Early planting produced much the best stand and the strongest growth.

During the war, when the county had an agricultural agent who kept thrashing records for the United States government, the wheat yield of the county was given as 806,000 bushels. There has been no attempt at a record of the crop since then.

Most of the wheat has been harvested in those central states where the grain ripens earlier than in this county, and the news stories in the daily papers say the growers are generally holding in the hope of higher prices. Kansas farmers are reported generally storing their wheat in the hotel. It will advance to $2.00 a bushel. It is also noted that harvesting methods here undergo a great change there, as in Wallawa county. The new harvester-thresher, or combined, are coming into general use and the grain is said to have been gathered with smaller crews and a lower wage cost.

Imagine how annoying it would be never to dare to accept a bill without submitting it to an expert.

Washington officials don't seem worried, but some of the European governments unquestionably are.

The French, in particular, say, "We know there's no mistake as long as the far here are the phony bills, turning up right along."

Public Sees Only Small Part of Developed Films

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The footage in the film flashes upon the screen in the motion picture theatre is but a fraction of the tremendous amount used in its production. Thousands of feet of the narrow celluloid pass daily through dark rooms and laboratories of motion picture studios that dot the vicinity of Los Angeles.

All one large production plant near here approximately 776,000 feet of film weekly or 48,000,000 feet yearly go through processes that result in the pictures which pass in review before millions of theatre-goers throughout the world.

Although the audience sees in a six-reel production, only about 1,500 feet of film, often much as 1,000 feet, are taken. Two cameras are trained on the scene being photographed while sometimes as many as five others are used in order that the scene may be taken from every possible angle and at different speeds.

Out of the mass of film developed, on each production, the cutting department and editorial workers select the "master" negative form which the release prints are made. These are printed by machine and placed on waxed drums which revolve slowly through developing solutions. Hundreds of prints of the "master" negative are made and sent to all corners of the globe.

Laclede Hit by Blaze

SPOKANE, Wash.—Virtually the entire business section of Laclede, a town of 150 population in northern Idaho, was destroyed by fire late Wednesday. Buildings burned included a restaurant, ice-house, garage, pool hall, general store and a few small vacant buildings. The structures were all frame and the loss was small. The cause of the fire is unknown.

LUMBERMEN TO IMPROVE TRADE

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—En-largement of its trade extension committee with a view to putting on an intensive campaign for marketing lumber, was voted Thursday by the directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association in session here. Prominent lumber men from all parts of the country attended the meeting. J. L. Kaul of Birmingham, Ala., president of the Southern Pine Lumber company, presented the resolution for the enlargement of the committee. H. B. Hughes of Jeanerette, La., representing the Southern Cypress association, presented the report of the trade promotion committee.

Baker Arnold, president of the Georgia Florida Lumber Men's association, urged advertising as a relief for the present situation in lumber trade.

W. E. Gibbs, Norfolk, Va., secretary of the North Carolina association said that west coast lumber going through the Panama canal this year for marketing to the east would amount to two billion board feet.

E. D. Kingsley, president of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, advocated regional selling agencies of manufacturers.

M. B. Nelson, Kansas City, of the Long-Bell Lumber company urged more co-operation for export trade saying "it takes lumber out of the country and will do us more good than anything else."

Charles S. Keith, president of the Central Coal & Coke company, Kansas City, and of the Oregon Lumber company, favored regional organizations and a program of better marketing and intensive merchandising.

Honor of Chinese Family Saved by Fake Funeral

PEKIN (AP)—How the grandmother of a sixteen year old Chinese girl, Miss Lu, untagged a matrimonial snarl by means of a pretended funeral wherein the granddaughter was cast for the chief role in current tea-house gossip. Miss Lu was affianced to Mou Yung-ching, 24, who was in the service of Chief Executive Tsoo Kun. Mou had social position and had saved money, and the marriage was to have occurred in July. While preparations were under way, however, it became known to the parents of Miss Lu that Mou had lost his situation in the executive household and that he had squandered his savings.

An engagement between Chinese young people is a serious affair involving the honor of both families. It is a contract not easily annulled and that the question of saving their daughter from union with a penniless husband gave the parents of Miss Lu great concern. When they had about decided that there was no way out, the grandmother stepped into the breach. She caused a coffin to be purchased and brought to the family home. The family went into mourning and a word was spread abroad and a word was spread abroad that Miss Lu was dead. The funeral was carried out in most solemn style, one of the conspicuous mourners being Mou Yung-ching.

After it was all over Mou discovered the ruse and learned that his promised bride had been spirited away and married another who was well to do and who had assumed all the expense of the funeral and mourning. Mou is of the relation of the North Pacific section to the rest of the county. Mr. Caldwell's talk was by way of an appreciation of the work done by Dr. Phy. Mr. Caldwell has come in contact with Dr. Phy when both were working for the interests of the Union Stock Show and in many other ways and was able to express a sincere appreciation.

During the course of the evening Alfred Meyers, baritone, who recently appeared in "Freddy" here, sang several songs. Mr. Meyers is an accomplished pianist and was this able to play his own accompaniments which made his performance doubly interesting. Miss Vina Conley of Cove, accompanied by Miss Othella Grey of La Grande at the piano, sang several songs that were well received. Another diversion which added to the enjoyment of the evening was the dance given by Sally Siegert, Jane Stange, Gilda Ashby and Twila House with Mrs. H. N. Ashby at the piano.
