American Wed in Bulgaria.

SAMAKOV (AP)—The Bulgarian town recently witnessed the wedding of two young Americans, the culmination of a short romance. The bride was Miss Laura Standish of Oak Park, near Chicago, who last spring started on a trip around the world with little thought, it is said, of marriage. In Samakov she met John Strawn, a teacher in the American school. Their engagement was announced after a short courtship. Mr. Strawn is a graduate of Harvard.

Newspaperman Pens His Own Obituary

POREN, Poland, (AP)—Tad-cusa Gubrynowicz, a Polish journalist, literally "died in business" recently. Among his biographers in the hospital was found his own obituary written by himself a short time before his death.

It recounted the evolution of a real journalist to his work, and on behalf of those for whom he wrote. It contained this paragraph:

"Now just before his death, he has at last found, as a moment of himself, which he devotes to penning his obituary, so as to take an additional burden from the shoulders of his colleagues, who also never have any time to spare."

Concluding the obituary, Gubrynowicz asked his readers, if they felt that he deserved to rest in peace, to say a brief prayer for him. Answering those who might say it was a clever way to solicit thousands of dollars, he said:

"Even if it be so it will have been the first and certainly the last time in his life that he has asked the aid of an exploiter or profiteer."

It Hurts.

A young man, much out of breath, rushed into a smart dancing academy.

"I want to learn the very latest dance steps," he panted, "and I want to learn 'em quick, so I won't be out of date before I get 'em learned."

Triple Climax Features Zane Grey Photoplay at Star.

William K. Howard, whose epic production "The Thundering Herd" is still fresh in the minds of moviegoers, recently completed another Paramount western based on Zane Grey's powerful frontier story "The Light of Western Stars," which makes its local debut at the Star theater today. When it will be the attraction for three days.

Advance reports hail it as the film drama of perfect suspense, and those who have been privileged to preview the picture agree that the plot builds to what amounts to a triple climax in a way that is totally unexpected and extremely exciting.

The principal characters in this mighty production, which depicts the early days of the frontier, are: a desperate band of bandit outlaws; the remaining vestige of frontier America, including a notorious bandit chief, a daring, romantic cowboy and a beautiful eastern girl, portrayed respectively by Noah Berry, Jack Holt and Billie Dove.

The action develops some smashing dramatic situations and hair-raising thrills. In a stirring turn when Berry abducts Miss Dove and follows that up by capturing Holt and William Scott, her brother. The girl is suddenly faced with a dilemma that is overwhelming. For Betty, with Godwin clinging to her, she may have her choice of naming either her brother or the man she loves to go free; the other must die.

This is where the suspense begins in earnest. Each urges her to save the other. Finally she asks that Holt's life be spared, but Betty's loyalty is now revealed. He turns Scott loose instead and sends Holt on the "walk of death."

Each moment one expects to see the lion-hearted cowboy fall as the bandits open fire on him as he walks away.

Meanwhile, Holt's friends, having learned of his danger, start out on a wild ride of rescue, arriving just in the nick of time. In the battle between the rescuers and the outlaws, the former are outnumbered, and the suspense increases until reinforcements arrive and engage the bandits in a furious gunfight.

"The Light of Western Stars" is the kind of red-blooded entertainment that is universal in appeal!

"Stepping Lively" Showing at Sherrys Tonight Only.

"This comedy, romance rather than farce, is the best of the kind in the history of the stage. It is the work of the late Richard Talmadge, production "Stepping Lively" slated for exhibition at the Sherry theater tonight. As the victim of a nefarious frame-up as a result of which he is being sent to prison just as happens in within his reach, Talmadge gives one of the best performances of his career. Thrilling, funny, and in which the handsome young star risks his life repeatedly, are reported to make "Stepping Lively" by far the most gripping of all the Talmadge productions to date. James Horne directs, production is credited to Aho Caros and the cast embraces Mitchell Hurns, Norval Martingor, Stanley Shaw, Fred Kelsey, Marie Carille, William Clifford, John W. Dillon and Victor Mizetti. F.O.B. distributes the production.

Comedy showing, "Folly Voo."

Corinne Griffith At Arcade In Film Hit.

A woman's faithfulness to a jazz-band husband, who dragged her to the very rim of the vortex of Parisian night life, is graphically envisioned in Corinne Griffith's latest screen endeavor, "The Marriage World." First National's offering at the Arcade theater today and Saturday.

Starting in its real life, the film brings home the reason that the woman who "sticks" isn't always the sentiment, sensible and successful being that she is held up to be, and that loyalty on the part of one without faithfulness on the part of the other is no gain to either.

Expertly analyzing Miss Griffith in the development of this absorbing plot are Kenneth Hartman, Harrison Ford, Nita Nadi and a half dozen other prominent screen delectables.

The craft and color of the jazz-swing French capital is all there, forming a fabulous background for one of the most dramatic achievements of the screen. Based on the successful J. Hervey Minors stage play, "The National Anthem," Miss Griffith's latest contribution will rank at the very top of the list of successes.
