Minor's Misfortune Brings Aid To Make His Dreams Come True

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Lester Forlin, now believed "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," for a misfortune that befell him helped him to realize a dream of years. Forlin, a mine laborer at Blairsville, Pa., had an ambition for a long time to return to his home in the Tyrolean Alps and establish a tourist hotel. The savings mounted slowly, however, and the goal seemed far distant. One day a pile of slate fell on him in the mine and caused an injury to his back which incapacitated him for further work. The workmen's compensation board awarded him $12 a week for 500 weeks. Forlin applied for it in a lump sum. The board granted his request, and with the money he intends to make his dream come true.

Thomas Meighan In Latest At Arcade.

Film fans in general and admirers of Thomas Meighan in particular will be delighted to know that the popular Paramount star will make one of his all-time screen appearances locally when his latest production, "Old Home Week" begins a two days' run at the Arcade theatre Friday.

This is a crackjack, bang-up story from the pen of George Ade, famed American author and humorist, brimming over with swift-moving action, breezy humor and wholesome romance. Tom Meighan made the film adaptation and Victor Heerman wielded the metaphor.

Lila Lee is featured in the leading feminine role and the notable supporting cast includes such stirring favorites as Larry White, Charles Daw Clark, Max Elgan and Charles Sellon.

Paradoxical as it may sound, "Old Home Week" is a tale of a successful failure. Meighan has the part of Tom Clark, a small-town youth, who tries his luck in the big city, fails and returns to his home town. Amusing complications ensue when the local folks are erroneously informed that Tom is a wealthy oil man. The plot takes an unexpected turn when a couple of sharpers try to engineer a sale of all Clark and wife's town property. In trying to beat the crooks, Tom is himself exposed, but he fights through to a triumphant finish.

One of the not-worthy features of the play is an old-fashioned Old Home Week celebration. A late news film and a fable are also scheduled for the same program.

Jackie Coogan At Sherrys Beginning Sunday.

Jackie Coogan in the fourth of his Metro-Goldwyn pictures, "The Flag Man," will be the attraction at the Sherry theatre, beginning Sunday.

The story by Willard Mack, is a comedy of New York life, revealing the adventures of an Irish-American boy who becomes the partner of an old Jewish junk man.

The cast includes Max Davidson, Robert Edison, William Conklin and Lydia Yamamoto. The production was supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr.

"Lover of Camille" At Sherrys Next Two Days.

In "The Lover of Camille," the screen version of the famed Sacha Guitry play, "Deburau," Monte Blue has the starring role, playing the part which Lionel Atwill assumed on the boards.

"The Lover of Camille" had an unusually long run on Broadway, distinguished among other long-run plays by the brilliant all-star cast. In it people find the romance they never found—the achievements they somehow missed, the adventure they dreamed of but never knew. All these things are contained in the story of Deburau, the master pantomimist and lover of Camille.

Marie Prevost is the Camille, and the supporting cast boasts such personalities as Willard Louis, Pierre Gendron, Rose Dione, Winifred Bryson, Harry Baumgart, the noted director of "Boat Brumby," "Mata Street" and "Tablitz," and the director, and the equally prominent Dorothy Farnum was signed the transportation of the play to the screen.

"The Lover of Camille" tells of Jean Gaspard Deburau, greatest pantomime actor in France, who has swept the women of Paris off their feet. But he remains true to the dream-land of his life. A student lovely visits him after a performance—and she proves the first to storm his heart. The Lady of the Camille gives him her love till she realizes that he is poor, and leaves him for Armand Duval. Deburau is heartbroken but has to continue his work, outwardly blithe and debonair, inwardly cankered with care. The story unfolds with fascinating implications.

Free State Parliamentary Opposition Was Almost Nil

DUBLIN (AP)—During the session of the Free state parliament, which recently adjourned, the government was not faced by serious opposition. This was due to the refusal of the republican party to recognize the hall or take any part in the government proceedings. The Labor party, which to some extent, filled the role of an opposition group, was dissatisfied with the handling by the government of the unemployment problem and seriously considered withdrawing altogether from the proceedings in parliament as a protest. Thomas Johnson, who was the Labor party leader, favored withdrawal, but the party decided to remain and be abandoned the leadership.
