Decreased Costs

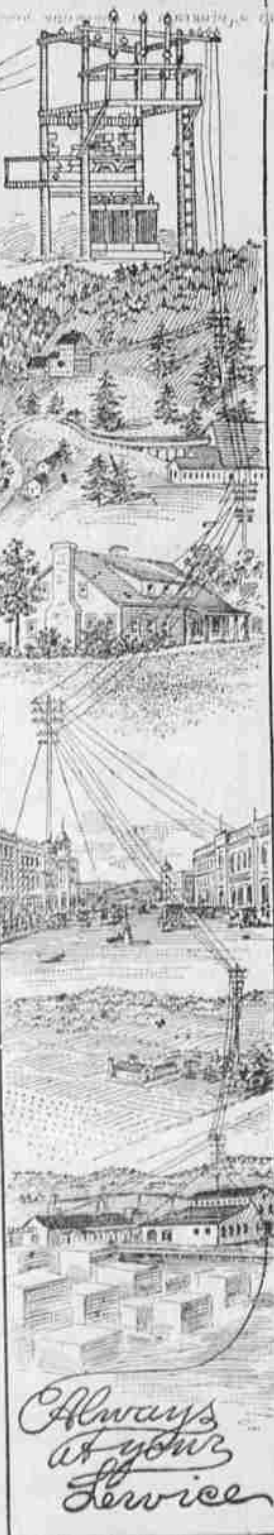

While the prices of all commodities have increased an average of 60% since 1915, the price of electricity has gone down.

This remarkable achievement has resulted largely from the efficiency of private management coupled with a desire to serve the most people at the least cost.

Even in the territory of Eastern Oregon Light and Power Company, where conditions for rapid development are not so good, there have been no increases in the price of electricity since 1915, despite increased taxes and other costs.
