GOOD CHOP AT CLOVER CREEK
CLOVER CREEK, Ore. (Special)—The weather during the past week was ideal for harvesting and the last few days delayed harvesting. Grain to be turning out well and well filled in most instances.
Miss Betty Matthews is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Louis DeVore.
Paul Dahlstrom, of Baker, has a 20-day leave and will with his wife spend their vacation at the home of his mother Mrs. H. C. Dahlstrom, holding during the harvest.
Hemming Campie and mother motored to Wallawa this week to visit with relatives.
Mrs. Smith and daughter Helen, of Yakima, have been visiting friends here recently.
Mrs. A. E. DeVore visited with her mother in Union last week.
Leo Frost, who has been employed at the Blaine farm for the past five months is now at the across place.
Shas Cross has completed his run with the leader near here and moved to Weir creek this week. Mr. Cross has more than 400 acres contracted to lead in that vicinity.
Leo Warrick, of La Grande, was a visitor here one day last week.
Mrs. Charles Walts, Mrs. Harry Slaber and grandma Hobbs visited friends here last week.
Alroy Goul is a frequent visitor to Hot Lake, having his foot that was recently injured, cared for.
Eon Blaine was a recent business visitor in Baker, securing help to continue his harvest.
It will take only a short time to finish harvesting here if the weather remains favorable.
Charles Harris, of Union, is employed on one of the combines in the section.
J. F. DeVore was a Union visitor Sunday.

A Matter of Finance
"Why did Dilliers quit writing poetry?"
"He fell in love."
"But how strange that he should give up poetry writing because of that!"
"But how necessary that he should take to bricklaying instead of poetry writing because of that!"

A Complicated Family
Thomas Hughes, of Princeton, Ky., a member of the 1924 General Assembly, presented a silver-mounted gun used in the early 1850's by Miss Mary Hughes, of Caldwell County, Ky., a young business, who after her marriage to Dr. Joel A. King, of Nashville, became his mother.

Three men on many western farms refuse to plow unless the farmer gives them at least twelve horses in a hitch. Twenty-horse hitches frequently pull six fourteen-inch bottoms.

Men's Wear
Benjamin Franklin appeared at the French court dressed like an ordinary farmer. The treaty of alliance between the United States and France was signed against a most suspicious background of gorgeous dressed courtiers in satin breeches, gold-braided coats, buckled slippers and powdered wigs. The king was there in all his royal splendor. The assembly room was bedecked with the most lavish brilliancy of the period.
And in the midst of all this splendor stood the American envoy in his faded old brown suit and holding a snuffbox for use in his hands. This incongruous appearance was taken, both at home and abroad, as being representative of American simplicity and democracy but nothing could be further from the fact. Franklin had, it was afterward learned, ordered a suitable court costume from his tailor, one that would enable him to take his place with satisfaction among the diplomats and nobles of Europe. But the costume was not finished in time.
The effect of proper dressing is just as great upon a man as it is with women. It gives him a self-esteem that is not gained in any other way. The very fact that some men tend to be careless and negligent about their clothes gives an added zest to the man who does know what to wear and when to wear it.
The American citizen of today demands a higher standard of bearing and appearance than ever before. Each year has brought an increased fastidiousness among us. Starting with a well-tailored, comfortable suit, the 1925 men's suits show a new and a new shade darker, a hat that will tone with but not match the suit and a tie that affords a pleasing but not pronounced contrast. He looks well, he knows it and is in keeping with the slogan, "dressed to succeed."

Didn't Know His Mother

Five years ago little Johnny Skornetta was taken away from home by his father. He didn't recognize or remember anything about his mother when he found her recently in Oakland, Calif. "Don't you remember me, Johnny," she pleaded. "My name's Mike now. I've changed it," he replied.

The New Hitching Post

Here's the modern hitching post. To this queer-shaped apparatus the front detachable showstand will be hitched when it comes to Port Leavenworth early in September. It is called a "self-mount," and the bow of the ship is attached to it.
