creators had capitalized public apprehension of a suspension to boost their sales of coal at exorbitant prices. He said the miners had no choice in the present wage deadlock except to wait until the operators, "having effected a maximum public exploitation, will be ready to discuss sanely the problems of a new contract."
The miners will present a per cent solidarity in the present demonstration, according to Mr. Lewis, who pledged that the public need have no fear of disorder in the mining communities.

Strike Now On PHILADELPHIA (By the Associated Press)—The hard coal suspension involving a walkout of 15,000 miners went into effect at midnight as scheduled. DEMAND FOR LOGGERS UP
PORTLAND, Ore. (Special)—The demand for loggers, especially among men, showed a noticeable increase in most districts during the past week, according to reports from 41 employment service offices in various northwestern cities received at 41 headquarters here today. Part of the demand was due to camps reopening, the reports show, and part was due to the usual labor turnover.
Despite the falling off in calls for harvest help in the Inland Empire, employment there is holding at a high point and the 41 reports indicate that there are yet more jobs being offered than there are takers, although this condition will undoubtedly change during the next two weeks when the wheat harvest will have been finished, reports from the various districts were as follows:
Star-bidder.—Logging in the Coos Bay district is becoming more active and there is a steady demand for skilled loggers. There is no surplus of men here.
Portland.—A large number of orders for loggers, appeared on Portland employment boards during the past week. Logging men, especially here in demand. Jobs offered for sawmill workers have been few. Many firms are advertising for log pickers and this work will be well under way next week in most districts. Calls for construction laborers dropped off somewhat but a few replacements are required daily.
Raymond.—Logging was resumed last week at the camps of the Raymond Lumber company at But and Swann on the Raymond-Centralia line of the Milwaukee railroad. Local help on Willapa harbor is well employed.
Alvord-Hoquiam.—An extremely low labor crop is at both camps and mills and no added production in either the logging or lumbering industries of Graye Harbor, resulted in few jobs being offered here last week. Logging in this district is 80 per cent of capacity. There are more loggers than jobs.
Tacoma.—There is no surplus of either common or skilled labor in this city. Logging activity has increased during the past two weeks with the resultant demand for loggers. Sawmills are well supplied with help. Work on the North Tacoma water front road is in full swing with a large crew of men.
Seattle.—Calls for loggers and log pickers led last week's employment demand here. The North Bend Timber company resumed logging at its two camps and several other operations are getting under way. No change in sawmill operation has been reported. Workers have started migrating to the Yakima and Wenatchee districts for the apple harvest and to Altonia, Canada, where the wheat harvest has started.
Spokane.—Although orders for harvest hands fell off last week all other work continued to call for men and there are still plenty of jobs in this district for all who want them. Woods operations have been extended at some camps. The sawmill of the Milwaukee Lumber company at St. Maries, Ida., has resumed cutting after being down one month for repairs.

SPANISH WAR VETS TO MEET
HOISE, Ill. (Special)—Gen. McConville (Camp No. 3, United States military and naval forces during the period from 1898 to 1902 in the Spanish American war, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition, on Sunday, Sept. 13, 1925.
The ranks of the Spanish war Veterans are being depleted rapidly and the purpose of the reunion is to bring about a closer fraternalization of the survivors of that memorable time and the purpose of becoming better acquainted with each other.
There are hundreds of veterans scattered throughout the state who are not affiliated with the national organization and it is the hope of the sponsors of the reunion that they will attend and learn of the benefits that may accrue to them by keeping in touch with their comrades.
All members of the national or local organizations are invited to be present to attend on matters of importance to every comrade, whether a member or not, will come up for discussion and action.
If for any reason a veteran is unable to attend, he will help himself and comrades by sending his name, address and the regiment he served in to Sylvester Kinney, adjutant of Gen. McConville Camp No. 3, 152 So. 3rd street, Boling, Idaho, who will inform him of the proceedings and plans for his benefit.
The reunion will be held in High School park, adjacent to Tourist park. There will be a business session commencing at 2 o'clock sharp. Bring your families and your lunch. Coffee will be served free on the grounds.

WILKINS NOT CONSIDERED
SALE, Ore.—Governor Pierce denied reports that he had at any time considered Dillard Ekins, member of the state industrial accident commission as successor to A. M. Duffin, warden of the Oregon state penitentiary.
"Mr. Ekins has given high-class service as a member of the state industrial accident commission," the governor said, "and I would not think of transferring him to the prison."
Governor Pierce indicated that a new warden at the penitentiary would be appointed this week. At the time of announcing the appointment the governor will make public the report of his special committee selected recently to investigate the conditions at the prison. This report, it was said, recommended the appointment of a new warden and material changes in the prison plant.

DETROIT LAWYERS ARE TOLD OF VALUE OF NEWSPAPERS
Detroit, (AP)—Closer relations between bar associations of the country and the press were urged by Julius Henry Cohen of New York in his address as chairman, opening the conference of bar association delegates.
"The progress that has been made in the formulation of ethical standards, in the improved machinery and administration of the law, in the raising of standards for admission to the bar, could never have been brought about except through the co-operation of the press is not organized as is the profession, and even as the press is not organized as is the profession, it is through the attention of our own organization is still in the making. Newspaper publishers are men of business. Newspaper editors are beginning to evolve just now a form of associational activity. The serious attempt made last year to bring about a formal relationship between the two professions was unsuccessful. The two professions are not yet properly organized for formal co-operation. There must be co-operation between the press and the bar, but for some time to come it will be co-operation of a different kind."
Mr. Cohen referred to a committee report to be made which would outline a plan of co-operation between the two professions by closer relationship between the organized bar in each state and the newspapers of that state.
"What the bar is doing in the improvement of machinery for the administration of justice, for the modernizing of legal institutions, for the maintenance of high character, qualifications for admission to the bar, and for the disciplining of those who offend, are all matters about which each state bar organization will find the press of its state only too willing to inform the public and to aid in the formation of supporting public opinion," the speaker continued.
"The modern newspaper has so many fields to cover, the changes taking place from day to day are so kaleidoscopic, that no newspaper, no matter how well informed or how well organized, can keep abreast of the activities of the bar associations of the country unless these activities are brought to its attention. Every state bar association should have a committee whose business it is to see that the press of its state is kept fully informed of associational activities."
"The suggestion recently made by Don C. Selts of the New York World, that in every bar association there be created a Bureau of Correct Information, is a valuable one, for a bureau could furnish the press with correct information regarding pending cases, the issues involved and decisions rendered. Conducted by a bar association and speaking in its name, there would be no danger of its improper use. The newspaper could rely upon receiving disinterested information, uncolored by desire to favor one side or another, and free from suspicion of self-exploitation or advertisement. The existence of such a bureau would in itself prevent or reduce from occurring in the first instance, provide for its correction if necessary."
