STATE EXPENSES SOAR

ASHLAND, Ore.—The expense of operating the state government is steadily increasing, while the income of the state is not increasing at a proportionate rate. We are facing a deficit unless something is done," Sam A. Koser, secretary of state and the speaker at the first forum, told the chamber of commerce here.

After tracing the rapid increase in the expenses of state government operation, Secretary Koser, in closing, said he looked for Ashland to become one of the leading educational centers of the state.

Princess' Death Ends Line of Royal Family That Ruled in Samoa

HONOLULU, (AP)—In a modest bungalow in the unpretentious residential section of Kahihi in Honolulu the death occurred recently of the Samoan princess Siupoto Tuimanoa (Mrs. H. A. Ross). She was the only daughter of the late King Tuimanoa and the last of the royal line which had ruled the little island kingdom for generations until 1908.

King Tuimanoa abdicated when he ceded the islands to the United States in the first year of this century. In Mrs. Ross' cottage was hung a letter signed by the late President Roosevelt thanking the king for his action.

On the death of her father in 1908, Princess Siupoto was adopted by Governor Herring, the American administrator of Samoa, and Mrs. Herring. When she was 18 years old the princess met Ross, a chief petty officer in the United States navy, and they were married at the home of the governor. Ross was transferred in 1922 to Honolulu and was accompanied by his wife and their four children.

From 1908 to 1908, King Tuimanoa served as native ruler of the Samoa group under the United States. He had control of the four higher chiefs, Misa, Tufele, Tuiloaga and Asoua. Upon the king's death, Tufele was chosen to succeed him, being credited with having been the most faithful to the United States during the political trouble in American Samoa. His son, Paotola Tufele, was sent to Hawaii by the government to be educated in American life. An athlete of more than ordinary ability, he rowed several years on Hilo crews and also appeared several times as an amateur boxer. When the elder Tufele died, Paotola was chosen to succeed his father as the native ruler of Samoa.

The home of Mrs. Ross in Honolulu was the center of Samoan activities in Hawaii. Here the transplanted natives of the South Sea islands gathered, mostly from the Mormon settlement at Lalo, to revive their native customs and hold their celebrations.

Guard Is Asked to Patrol Race Courses

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The job of the coast guard is not all in running down rum runners, nor in protecting navigation.

Right now the annual flood of requests is coming in for coast guard patrols for the regatta courses of the country during the big rowing events, and for cutters to take station for yacht races.

Among the events the cutters will patrol are the International Yacht race, the Harvard-Yale regatta at New London and the Intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The job is to keep the course clear for the contending craft and to prevent the multitude of steam yachts, sailing boats, excursion steamers, row boats and motor launches that crowd in.

Supplementing the guard's patrol boats, the regatta committees usually supply launches which carry a coast guard flag and carry a coast guard officer to enforce order. In river races where waves from moving craft might endanger the boats, the guardmen must keep the floating grandstands motionless.

Venues attending continually may be fined $50 and the license of the officer in charge revoked.

"This is not as our fathers did"

The civilization of the Chinese is old—older than the oldest records that are musty and yellow with age. Yet China today enjoys very few of our modern improvements. The Chinese do not welcome change. They object to innovation, saying "This is not as our fathers did!"

Imagine an American today saying that he did not want electricity because his father was satisfied with candles!

Why have we progressed?

Advertising, more than anything else, has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising today is as necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalog wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for use with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will save you money.

TO BUY THE NEW IS TO PROGRESS—TO LEARN OF IT FIRST IS TO READ ADVERTISING.
