

UNION NEWS OF THE WEEK

UNION. (Special.)—The Union people have had the custom of having the members entertain the ladies during the month in which their birthdays occur, and at the first meeting in September the committee put on a fancy carnival for the entertainment of those who were present. The carnival consisted of the usual nigger games, wheel of fortune, fortune telling, and the like. The evening was very enjoyable to all and the day was pleasantly spent in hearty reports, and discussions about the work and in disposing of the same.

One of the first schools to start in this county was the one near Hot Lake, August 11. Miss Habetta Wright, a graduate of the Union high school is teaching in that district this year.

Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. Wayne Vanhooker, both of whom are in the hospital at La Grande and have undergone operations, are reported as getting along nicely.

Mrs. Walter Stevens, who has been in the hospital at Hot Lake and later on a visit with her mother in La Grande, has returned to her home in Union, much improved in health.

Miss Lora Wilson, a former graduate of the Union high school and later of the Baker business college, has accepted a position in "Columbia store here, to succeed Miss Julia Crocker, who will leave for Corvallis in a few days to attend the U. S. A. S. taking up bookkeeping and accounting. Miss Wilson's home is in Toloanet.

Visiting in Idaho
Claude Cooper, jeweler, accompanied by his family, left by automobile for Jerome, Idaho, the last of the week to visit for a few days with Mrs. Cooper's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Winters. The Winters were formerly residents of La Grande. Miss Bethine Miller is in temporary charge of the jewelry store till Mr. Cooper returns, which will be the first of this week.

Preparations are under way for Union's first community market day auction sale, which will be held at the stock show grounds, under the auspices of the commercial club, Wednesday, September 23rd. Livestock, farm implements, furniture, autos, and many other varieties of goods for sale are being listed with the secretary of the sale, C. L. Cadwell.

Mrs. P. G. Delap left Saturday for Glenn's Ferry, Idaho, having received word that her brother, Lloyd Mayfield, had been killed in an auto accident near that place. James Rosewell arrived home from Wallawa, Oregon, Sunday morning, for a visit with his folks here.

Mrs. Bell Wright while visiting with her son in Baker the first of last week, had the misfortune to fall and was injured severely. Though not dangerously she was brought home and is still confined to her room as a result of the fall.

Jack Ord, the new manager of the local electric light office and substation, has arrived in Union from Baker, with his family and will make his home at the station.

Marion Quinn, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Quinn, leaves this week for Hooding, Idaho, to enter the college near that city. Miss Quinn was a student in the local high school the last few years.

and the best wishes of her many friends accompany the young lady to her new school work.

Edwidge Hoffman, a local young man, returned last week from Blount, where he graduated this year. Mr. Hoffman will teach in the Greenwood school at La Grande the coming year.

Many Union boys and girls attended the club picnic held Friday at the state experimental station just west of this place. There were about fifty boys and girls members present from over the county and about the same number of parents and other grown-ups who were vitally interested in the work of the children in the various club projects. They brought their own lunches but the committee, headed by county agent Avery, had plenty of ice cream for all and the day was pleasantly spent in hearty reports, and discussions about the work and in disposing of the same.

Conducts Campaign From Bed

Ross F. Walker, Democratic candidate for mayor of Akron, will conduct his entire campaign from his bed. A sprain in his back was fractured in an automobile accident in Canada and he will have to lie in a plaster cast until after the November election.

WINTER WHEAT OUTLOOK GOOD

Winter wheat production in the United States next year will be considerably in excess of probable domestic requirements if reported intentions of farmers to increase average acreage 4,000,000 acres above last year are carried out and average yields are secured, the department of agriculture points out in its wheat outlook report released today.

This situation, the department says, would place winter wheat on a world market basis. The fact that our market is now an approximately a domestic basis is considered largely to have brought about the present favorable market position of wheat producers.

The winter wheat area which this fall will be in the neighborhood of 46,400,000 acres, if farmers carry out the intended increase of 9.7 per cent. Allowing for average abandonment the area to be harvested next summer would be about 46,225,000 acres compared with 22,825,000 acres harvested this year.

Should the yield be the same as this year, 12.7 bushels per acre, the crop would reach 588,000,000 or 24 per cent more wheat than was harvested this year. A crop of 24,000,000 bushels or about 40 per cent more than this year.

would be produced should the yield per acre equal the average of the past five years, which was 14.5 bushels.

The spring wheat crop has averaged 251,000,000 bushels in the past five years which added to 588,000,000 bushels of winter wheat would make a total of 839,000,000 bushels. This would produce an exportable surplus of from 160,000,000 to 240,000,000 bushels in the face of an upward trend in world production.

even preferential exploitation of supplies of raw materials might at any moment threaten serious danger. The most dangerous word was "oil." The intractable struggle for markets he declared would threaten peace in proportion as the power of armed governments was associated in the struggle, and intervened to secure unequal or preferential conditions proportionate to their strength.

If peace was to be preserved, Sir Arthur said, the armed power of governments must be more and more and more dissociated from the economic struggle. Economic and various tariffs, used as a counterpart of general foreign policy, must play with it. The main principles of economic and commercial policy should be internationalized.

You naturally would expect a rising generation to get out of bounds.

League Official Sees Economic Struggle As Menace to Peace

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. (AP)—Speaking on "Economic Disarmament," recently, Sir Arthur Salter, director of the economic and financial section of the League of Nations, said that of four main causes of war—dynamic, religious, political and economic—the last was likely to become continually more serious.

In the future, he said, the chief preoccupation of the bulk of mankind would be a struggle for the means of life. Monopolistic or

by REX BEACH

The most powerful novel of the most adventuresome, romantic period in the world's history—the call and the lust for GOLD. Clear and biting as the bitter north—virile in theme as the brawny men who sought its treasures—a color portrait of primitive love written in the lawless tempo of the gold mining camps. "Winds of Chance" is Rex Beach's best—an authentic chronicle by its famous pioneer.—You will enjoy every line of it. (The story of which several scenes were filmed at Wallowa Lake last spring)
