To Know It May Interest You

That—
The new silhouette is elastic enough to make way for the short, full skirt, which comes to its feminine in such lovely soft materials that she will find no difficulty in maintaining lines, when she wears it.

That—
The flare remains for the season. The slender woman will wear it better than the heavier one, and in doing so, she will exonerate rather than detract from her slimmness.

That—
The mode in frocks and dress has taken a decided turn. Designers have "flipped" if you please; the gown is hind-borne in appearance at least.

That—
To be more explicit—the fullness in the skirt of the 1925-26 dress is all in the back. The apron and the ruffle and the slash are all established well back of the side lines, and the front of the dress is perfectly, positively plain!

That—
Necks are high or convertible and waists are slowly reasserting themselves in an irregular, timid way that indicates the "slow but sure" advance, not to be denied.

That—
Following out the change in frock form, we note that sleeves are very much "au fait" (at its places).

That—
The molded silhouette is apparently here for the winter. The bodice and the flared outlines are on the top notch of favor.

That—
It is only in evening dress that the straight lines are to be noted. Even in this group of dresses, the style is getting rarer, for here the molded silhouette is suggested, and the tubular gown is elaborately trimmed with beads or imitation jewels.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Home run drives by Fletcher Tom Zachary and Goose Goslin, both in the third inning, contributed largely to Washington's 5 to 3 victory over Detroit Tuesday in the first game of the final series of the season between these clubs. Besides his home run, Goslin, back in the game after his suspension last Sunday by Manager Harris, had seven putouts in left field.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia took the first game from Chicago here Tuesday, 4 to 2. Gray's pitching helped him hold the Sox to five hits and best Faber. Over the last five innings the visitors were retired in order and without a man reaching first.

ST. LOUIS 2, BOSTON 1.
BOSTON (AP)—The St. Louis Browns defeated Boston, 2 to 1, in the opening game of the series here Tuesday. Ehmske pitched no-hit ball until the seventh inning, Stiller singled, with one down in the ninth, and then Jacobson and McManus doubled against the score board, scoring the two runs which eventually won the game. R. H. E. St. Louis 2, Boston 1. Batteries: Gaston and Dixon; Ehmske and Picinich.

Game Postponed.
Cleveland at New York; rain.

National League.
ST. LOUIS (AP)—After winning four straight from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates, the St. Louis Cardinals went down to defeat to the Phillies Tuesday, 4 to 2, in the first game of the series. James Bottomley, Cardinal first baseman, ran his string of season home runs to 21 by hitting into the right field bleachers in the second. No one was on base.

New York 4, Cincinnati 1.
CINCINNATI (AP)—New York won the first game of its last series with Cincinnati, 4 to 1, Tuesday. The visitors bunched hits on Rixey in two innings while Greenfield held the home team to five scattered hits. R. H. E. Cincinnati 4, New York 1. Batteries: Greenfield and Snyder; Rixey, Mays and Hargrave.

Games Postponed.
Boston at Chicago; rain.
Brooklyn at Pittsburgh, called at end of second inning; rain.

BRAVES FACE HARD SEASON

BOISE, Ida. (Special)—Prospects for as good a football team as Boise has had in the past are very discouraging, according to Loren Bassler, who is coaching the school this year. The men are all green. Argo, who played tackle last year, being the only regular letter man out. The squad, however, is large, about 70 men reporting every night.

Because of the discouraging prospects Mr. Bassler said it will be his policy to train a number of freshmen and sophomores to be used as reserves for the next year's team and at the same time build as good a team as possible this year. The team will be light and not very fast. They have one of the toughest schedules Boise has ever had, as they have to play the best teams of three states. The schedule, which is now complete, is as follows:

Schedule for Season.
October 3, Parma at Parma; October 24, West Side High school, Salt Lake, at Boise; October 31, La Grande at Boise; November 6, Salt Lake at Salt Lake; November 14, Nampa at Boise; November 20, Caldwell at Caldwell; November 25, Pocatello at Boise.
There will also be a game September 25, with Kuna, at which the public school field will be dedicated. A program is to be given and several speeches will probably be arranged. The Boise public school field is the only one in the northwest of its size, so it is intended to make this affair a large one. Nothing definite concerning the program has been given out, but a detailed explanation is expected within a few days.

AUGUST LOSSES REBATED.
SALEM, Ore.—Five losses in Oregon, exclusive of Portland, in August aggregated $139,575, according to a report issued by the state fire marshal.
In all, to fires were reported for the month. The most disastrous blaze was near Salem, where a barn, silo and other property were destroyed with a loss of $18,000. Three fires were of incendiary origin, three were due to overhauled or defective flues, while five were caused by defective wiring.

Billy Evans Says

BIG HANDICAP.

The injury to Johnny Rawlings, second baseman of the Pittsburgh club at this particular time, is a most unfortunate one.
Never a star, Johnny Rawlings has always been a most valuable asset to his ball club. Rawlings, in the parlance of baseball, is known as a money player. He does his best work in the pinch.
Baseball fans will readily recall his fine play in the 1921 world series. Little considered, prior to the start of the event, he was the hero of the classic.
His remarkable stop on Frank Baker's near base hit, that was the start of a double play which ended the series, ranks as one of the greatest fielding feats of all time.
Now, with Pittsburgh seemingly certain of playing in the series, Rawlings suffers a leg injury that is sure to keep him on the sidelines.

Baseball fans like to see a team present its best front in a world series. Pittsburgh needs Johnny Rawlings to have all its possible reserve strength. The Pirates are sure to miss Rawlings.

It is baseball history, that very often just prior to the start of a world series, one of the contenders will lose one of its stars.

INJURIES TO STARS.

Back almost to the inception of the series, we have the Philadelphia Athletics losing "Rube" Waddell, the club's pitching ace.
One season Johnny Evers of the Chicago Cubs broke a leg just prior to the series. Evers was at the top of his game then and his club was badly handicapped.
Babe Ruth was a "bust" in the 1921 series, but it was not his fault. The big fellow played with an infected arm that would have had most any other athlete in the hospital.

A short time before the close of the 1925 American league season, Cleveland, winner of the pennant that year, lost Shortstop Ray Chapman through death as a result of a pitched ball delivered by Carl Mays that killed him.
Joe Sewell, just out of college, filled in for Chapman, however. He did a fine job of it and became a star almost overnight.
These are just a few of the handicaps that have been suffered by almost sure pennant winners in the final days of the campaign.

FOURNIER TO QUIT.

NEW YORK (AP)—A special dispatch from Pittsburgh to the New York Evening World says that Brookline National, now playing here, has announced he will not play another season in a Brooklyn uniform.

PORTLAND BOY WINS BOUT

SALT LAKE (AP)—Cracker Warren, Portland, Ore., featherweight, was awarded the referee's decision over Kid Bell of Denver, Colo., after six fast rounds of boxing here Monday night. Warren easily won the closing rounds and held his man fairly even in the earlier fighting.

PORTLAND BOY WINS BOUT

Tiger Bob Robins, Denver negro, middleweight, defeated Roy McCarthy. The affair was called in the first round. McCarthy, badly beaten, quit. George Lopez of Denver forced Adrian Elton of Santaquin, Utah, to quit after five rounds. Paul Hardy, Salt Lakebantamweight, defeated Bobbie Gannis of Denver in six rounds.
