Quake Reveals Great Painting to World

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The Santa Barbara earthquake, which did great damage to the historic mission there, resulted in the restoration to the Franciscan padres one of the mission's greatest treasures, a portrait of St. Francis of Assisi, revered saint and founder of the Franciscan Order of Monks.

When the earth tremor rocked the walls of the old monastery, the painting of the saint came crashing to the floor. In a niche of the walls this painting had been lost to sight for years behind coats of varnish, shellac and other preservatives.

The mission fathers rescued the picture from the debris. Inspection proved it worthy of restoration. It was sent to Los Angeles, and Theodore N. Lukits, portrait painter, member of the American Federation of Arts, was engaged for the task.

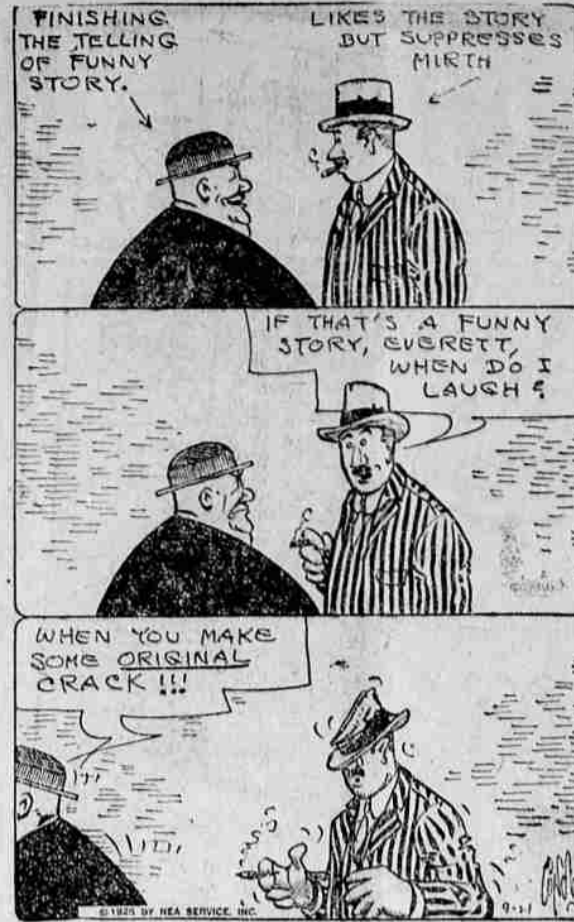

First, Lukits explained, the portrait will be fastened, face down, to a sheet of paper. Then a thread at a time, the ancient broken canvas will be removed from the precious film of paint and a new canvas, prepared to resist heat and gold, will be glued to the back of the picture. The new canvas in place the artist will reverse the work and with utmost care remove layers of dirt and preservatives.

"Under the varnish," Lukits said, "I hope to find the artist's name. We know that a master did the work, but his name has become invisible below the dirt. The painting is worth conservatively $25,000 and will undoubtedly be one of the assets of the Pacific Coast art world."

The portrait known to be 150 years old for 130 years in the Santa Barbara monastery, is five feet by three feet ten inches. It shows the saint in an attitude of prayer. A Bible is open before St. Francis. His eyes are raised to a crucifix, while back of the bible lies a human skull, apparently a grim reminder of the fleeting nature of temporal things. The saint is clad in sackcloth, the fabric still plainly depicted through the film of a century and a half, and the hempen rope gathered about his cassock traces a clear line across the darkened background.

Richard Dix A Racing Driver In Latest Picture

Richard Dix is an automobile racing driver in his latest Paramount picture, "The Lucky Devil," which opens on Wednesday at the Arcade.

"That's the stuff!" "The Lucky Devil," directed for the screen by Frank Tuttle who made "Too Many Kisses" and "Miss Bluebeard," is an original screen story by Byron Morgan, author of all the Wiley Reid auto successes. Esther Ralston is Dix's leading woman.

Dix, as Randy Farman, who demonstrates auto camping outfits in a store, wins at a charity bazaar a specially built roadster, around which has revolved a sensational branch of promotion, suit between the wealthy Franklyn Amber case, and takes her daughter, Zola Amber.

Then follows a series of thrill-filled laugh scenes when Randy starts out on his long dreamed of cross country trip. At a tourist camp he meets and falls in love with Doris McLee (Miss Ralston), journeying with her mother in a battered flyer. The mother, suspicious of young men who travel in ten thousand dollar roadsters, identifies Randy's beloved car as the one in the famous Franklyn Amber case, and takes her daughter, Zola Amber.

From here on the laughs and thrills build up to unbelievable heights, the scenes including a bout between the war and "Gunboat" Smith (himself) and winding up with an automobile road race that'll pull you out of your seat.

Other big names in the cast of the picture, which is absolutely the greatest Dix picture yet made, include Edna May Oliver, Anthony Jovitt, new "vixen" who played in "The Little French Girl," Joe Burke, Mary Fox and Charles Selton.

Thrills and Beauty Depicted in "The Bandolero"

"The Bandolero" (The Bandit), an unusual picture of love and hate in Spain, directed by Tom Terriss will be shown for the last time tonight. The exterior photography was made in Cuba and Spain, and gives the production not only extremely beautiful natural settings, but also a remarkable atmosphere of realism. The story, adapted by Mr. Terriss from the novel by Paul Gwynne, is full of action. It is a motion picture more than ordinarily worth seeing.

Pedro de Cordoba is romantically effective in the title role; Renee Andre, charmingly beautiful, leaves nothing to be desired in her appealing role; Gustav von Seyffertitz is always one of the most delightfully mean villains on the screen, and Manuel Granada, who makes his film debut in this picture, lives up to the promise made for him. Altogether, this offering by Metro-Goldwyn should not be overlooked by any one who enjoys thrills and beauty in the theatre.

Also showing the stereoscopic novelty "A Runway Taxi."

By Condo Legion Program Full Of Song and Gaiety

OHAMA, Neb. (AP)—Ohama streets are going to be full of song and gaiety when the American Legion national convention convenes in October.

Entertainers will come from every part of the United States. The hosts open to any Legionnaires who can sing.

Yield entertainment stations are to be given town where the Legionnaires will commiserate. Stages will be provided. Entertainers will "do their stuff" at station number one and get away to station number two, then to station

You would naturally think that a man that tried to be a business man would not advertise in such a footy way. Just look at this picture and read this crazy stuff. Thank you, sir. Be careful or you will catch the foot and mouth disease and will be caught footing it across the road or mouthing it over the fence. We do not say very much about the Kemmerer No. 5 Big Lump Coal any more, as the coals are coming in so fast and we have about all we can deliver. Some call up and say we want a ton of that good coal.

We sold 20,000 more shingles yesterday. A country carried off a roll of roofing paper on his horse, yesterday. I suppose it is getting almost too cold to lay outside any longer. The rough lumber is $12.00 per M, and is selling like baked possum head in the swamps of Arkansas.

P. S.—The new lumber man spent three years in Arkansas.
