

Local News In Brief

Navy's Hero

Watchcase Vanities Of Cara Nome Powder and Rouge

are the last word in convenience for the handbag or purse—likewise in beauty. A real mirror, generous contents, a dainty lamb's wool puff, non-tarnishing case, a chic design, a catch that holds firmly, yet easy to open at your wish.

Vanity of Powder $1.25 Vanity of Rouge .75c

Glass Drugs Inc.

The Rexall Store La Grande, Oregon

Markets

PORTLAND MARKETS.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Live stock, butter, buttermilk—Steady. Eggs—Top grades one cent lower. First 36c@36c, extras 40c@40c.

APPLES

SPOKANE—Carloads, f. o. b., usual terms, medium to large sizes, Wenatchee valley district—Delicious, extra fine, $2.25@2.35; fancy choice, $1.75@2. Winesaps, extra fine, $1.75; fancy choice, $1.50@1.60; choice, $1.35. Black Bens, extra fine, $1.35; Jonathans, fancy choice, $1.20@1.25; choice, 90c.

PRUNES

NEW YORK—Twenty-one Idaho, 1 New York, 1 Oregon, 1 Washington arrived; 6 cars of Idaho Italian crates at $1.30 to $1.60; average, $1.47; 12 cars suitcases, 8c to $1.00; average, 95c; Washington suitcases, Italians, 2 cars, 8c to 90c; average, 83c; Oregon suitcases, Italians, 1 car, 95c.

PORTLAND GRAIN MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Wheat—BBB, hard white, September, $1.47; hard white B. S. Baart, September, $1.45; October, $1.44; soft white, September, $1.43; October, $1.42; western winter, September, at $1.42; October, $1.41; hard winter, northern spring, western red, September, $1.39; October, $1.38. Corn—No. 2, E. Y. shipment, September and October, no quotations.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Stocks—Firm; rail and moderate priced motor shares lead recovery. Bonds—Irregular; new offerings of $77,000,000 readily sold. Foreign exchanges—Easy; sterling declining to $4.84 1/2. Cotton—Steady; bullish private crop estimates. Sugar—Easy; European selling. Coffee—Lower; New Orleans selling.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat

Easy increasing stocks. Corn—Barely steady; larger country offerings. Cattle—Steady. Hogs—Dull.

SUMMER PASSES INTO HISTORY; AUTUMN ARRIVES

Summer was given its exit cue yesterday and passed from the 1925 stage to make way for autumn, which today succeeded the season noted chief for, excluding a few days of very warm weather, its pleasant and enjoyable temperate days.

In the latter part of July the thermometer touched 103 the highest mark registered here for several years, but in the above-100 period was short and gave way to 80s and 70s during August and this month.

Today, with the fall season at hand, citizens are turning their attention to making ready for the winter season—and to a full enjoyment of the present and probably the most colorful time of the year in Union county.

NEW FIR TREES DO WELL

EUGENE, Ore.—Replanting of Douglas fir in the Mount Hebo district of the Blinnix national forest in Tillamook county is a success, according to A. R. Wilcox, expert, who has just spent several weeks in the locality. An area replanted from 1912 to 1916 has trees of 16 feet, while the average height is eight to ten feet. Two years ago 150,000 trees were set out in this district, and Mr. Wilcox found that four out of five of them are growing. Everywhere except on the highest mountains where there is little protection, the replanting has been a success. The tallest tree of those planted two years ago is 52 inches and the average growth has been 16 to 18 inches.

COMING EVENTS

Union County Fair at Elgin, September 23-26, inclusive.

Union County Annual Armistice Day Celebration—La Grande—November 11.

Here From Seattle—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sherman, of Seattle, Washington, are spending a few days in La Grande.

Here On Business—Dan P. Smythe, attorney of Pendleton, was a business visitor to La Grande yesterday.

To Nampa On Business—E. A. Stravens returned Sunday night from Nampa, where he transacted business in the interests of his store there.

At Telecast Today—Mrs. George Draskell went to Telecast this morning and is spending the day there on business.

To Make Home Here—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chandler arrived in La Grande today from Warrenton, Oregon and expect to make their home here.

Here On Business—W. H. Holmes, Monday, Mont., is in La Grande on business for a day or two.

Left for The Dalles—S. M. Hoffeditz, who has been a business visitor here for several days, left this morning for The Dalles.

Tourists En Route Home—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gorman, who have been vacationing in the east, are making a brief stay at Hotel Foley on their return trip to Portland.

At Elgin Today—H. G. Avery, county agriculturist, is at Elgin today assisting in arranging exhibits for the Union county fair, which will be held there, beginning tomorrow.

Granted Divorce—A divorce was granted Mrs. Winnie France today from Paul France, to whom she was married April 12, 1921. The charge was cruel and inhuman treatment.

Coach Is In—Coach Lester MacTavish is in at his home here today. Rev. W. C. Ross, pastor of Presbyterian church, is supplying in assembly hall.

Students Want Work—Miss Mabel Bennett, dean of girls in La Grande high school, has the names of several boys and girls who wish to do work for room and board, or by the hour to pay incidental school expenses.

Will Visit Daughter—Mrs. D. P. Charlton went to Portland today for a few days visit with her daughter, Miss Iris King, who is employed in the offices of the Southern Pacific railroad.

Visitor Returns Home—Miss Fern Pierson, who has been here visiting her sister, Miss Mary Pierson, for about two months, returned home to Coquille, Ore., this morning.

Goes to Elgin—Mrs. Lou Dearman, accompanied by Miss Verona Stoop, went to Elgin this morning. Mrs. Dearman will attend the Union county fair which starts there tomorrow and Miss Stoop will visit friends.

Niney-Three Years Old—Robert Parnell, of Pendleton, passed through La Grande this morning on his way to Wallawa, where he will visit for two or three weeks. Mr. Parnell is ninety-three years old and in very good health.

Visiting Friends at Elgin—

Mrs. Ora Guffey went to Elgin this morning on the branch line train and is visiting friends there today. Mrs. Guffey formerly lived at Elgin but now makes her home here.

To Attend O. A. C.—Marion Headley will leave tonight for Corvallis, Oregon, where he will resume his studies at the Oregon Agricultural college. He spent the summer months in La Grande at his home here.

Left for Portland—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Knowles and small son, Richard, left yesterday, by auto, for Portland, where Mr. Knowles has accepted a position. They will make their home in that city.

Visits Here One Week—Elmo Russell, son of J. O. Russell, of Goldendale, Washington, left the first of the week for his home after spending the past week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson.

Ex-Police Chief Here—Jim Christenson, formerly chief of police in La Grande, is visiting friends here while en route to his home in Seattle, from Colorado. Mr. Christenson now holds a responsible position in the Seattle stockyards.

Passed Through City—W. L. Edwards, of Cour de Alamo, Idaho, passed through La Grande this morning on his way to Weiser called by the death of his wife's mother, Mrs. N. J. Bergman. Mrs. Edwards went to Weiser about ten days ago to be with her mother during her illness. Mr. Edwards visited friends here a short time this morning.

Inspector of Eggs Here—L. S. Leach, Salem, state egg inspector, has been in the city for a couple of days in the interests of the new law requiring that all marketed eggs be graded according to size, as standard, medium and undersized. He expects to finish his work today.

Has Been in Portland Hospital—Mrs. M. M. Brown, and her daughter, Edna, passed through La Grande this morning en route to their home at Enterprise after spending the past three months in Portland. Miss Brown has been in the Portland Surgical hospital since June 27. She was badly burned in a gasoline explosion three months ago.

To Leave This Evening—Lambert Pearson will leave La Grande this evening, after spending the summer months at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pearson. He will go to Los Angeles, California, where he will resume his studies at the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

Attended Round-Up—Mrs. J. Klinghamer, of Elgin, and her little grandson, Leifey, of La Grande, left this morning for Elgin, where Leifey will visit for several days. Mrs. Klinghamer attended the Pendleton Round-Up, after which she visited relatives at Wilton. She spent last night in La Grande with Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Klinghamer.

In Arizona Five Years—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ransom, of Arizona, accompanied by their little grand-nephew, whose parents live at Elgin, but who has been spending the past five years in Arizona with Mr. and Mrs. Ransom during his mother's illness, passed through La Grande this morning on their way to Elgin. Mr. and Mrs. Ransom will visit there for two or three weeks. Before returning to their home they will visit points in California and Idaho.

Mr. Baldoek Here Yesterday—B. H. Baldoek, formerly division highway engineer with of

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

Years may pass, but courage remains forever—a good description of Commander John Rodgers, Hawaiian flight hero. Fifteen years ago, Rodgers, then a lieutenant, was considered the bravest man in the navy air service. He was the first naval man to take off from the deck of a ship in a flying contrivance. Here is an old picture, showing him on his first air adventure. A series of 13 kites lifted the daring flyer.

WARM NEW BLANKETS At Special Savings

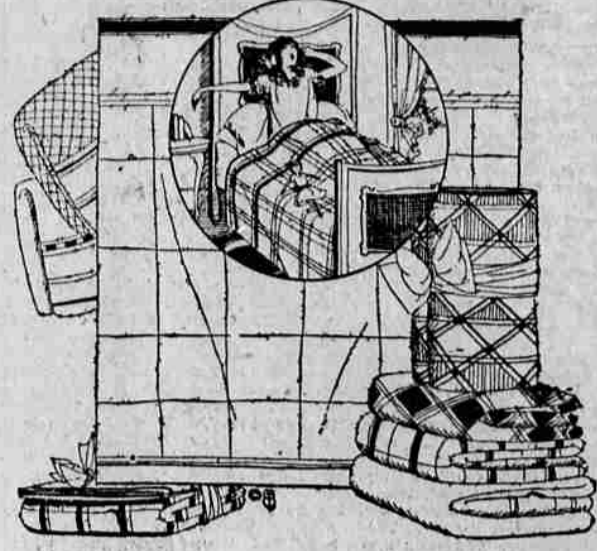

Cotton Sheet Blankets

Fine, large Double Blankets in grey and tan, with pink and blue striped borders; edges stitched in contrasting colors; size 64x76; good heavy weight. Priced very low at—

$2.49

Sheet Blanket as above, size 68x80, double size. An exceptional value at—

$2.98

Sunset Plaid Blankets

Nashua make, size 72x80, full double blanket, in all the wanted colors—pink, blue, lavender, tan and gold plaids, finished in contrasting colors. A heavy weight blanket at only

$3.69

Blanket Values That Are So Outstanding You Will Want Several Pairs This Winter

BEAUTIFUL WOOL NAP BLANKETS in large sizes, 66x80, plaids of blue, tan, pink, lavender and gold, blanket stitched in colors to match. Priced at—

$4.50

EXCEPTIONALLY HEAVY WOOL NAP BLANKETS, extra large, 72x84, all the wanted colors; warm and durable. Large plaids and blanket stitched. Priced very low at—

$5.50

NASHUA WOOL MIXED BLANKETS, size 66x80. Heavy weight, colors, blue, pink, grey, buff, lavender and gold, stripes of contrasting colors on border, soisette binding to match. Priced at a great saving to you—

$5.90

PART WOOL NASHUA BLANKETS, as above; large size, 72x80, extra weight, in all colors—

$6.45

100% Virgin Wool Blankets, Special Value At $12.85

BEAUTIFUL BLOCK PLAIDS in all the wanted colors, with soisette bindings to match. Sizes 70x80-inch. Soft, warm blankets that will take the edge off these cool Fall nights.

55 STORES

Fall Clothes At Clint's

OUR LINE OF QUALITY CLOTHES NOW ON DISPLAY FOR YOUR SELECTION.

Popular Prices.

"THE STORE WITH A CONSCIENCE"

USED CARS

DODGE TOURING—A Snap! 1924 FORD TOURING 1923 STAR TOURING

Jennings & Shumate Buick Sales and Service

The Paris

Fashionable AUTUMN COATS In Feature Offerings at $22.50 to $82.00 A New Line of DRESSES From New York $9.95 to $45.00 MILLINERY In all the latest styles

The Paris

Towns More Healthy Than Rural Districts

ERIVAN, Russian Armenia (AP)—Town life in Russia is more healthy than peasant life in the countryside, a survey made by the American Near East Relief in Russian Armenia shows. The study of disease, mortality and sanitation in this country is no ground for the time honored belief that rural life is inherently wholesome. The farmer and his family, contrary to general belief, live under sanitary conditions which average lower than the town dwellers. The old, taken bucket of the farmer frequently carries the germs of typhus and other water-borne disease; the average Russian farmhouse is a hermetically sealed dwelling to which the health-giving qualities of sun and air have innumerable access, and hygiene among the Armenian peasantry is on a very low plane. The infant death rate among the farm dwellers is everywhere bigger than that of the towns, and the average lifetime of the farm worker is three years less than that of the urban inhabitant. The Armenian relief organization in connection with its plan for removing thousands of its orphan charges from institutions to homes in various districts of Armenia, has found it necessary to install a service of public health