BAKER HEARS OF BRIDGE

BAKER, Ore.—Baker business men met here to discuss a proposed bridge over Skaha river at Ballard's landing. The bridge has been authorized by the states of Oregon and Idaho and is favored by the county court here. If money can be found with which to build it, Idaho has appropriated $25,000, Oregon has appropriated $12,000, and Baker county is expected to furnish the remaining $12,500. Judge Dodson was frankly perplexed as to where Baker county's share is to come from as the county's road funds are pretty well tied up for the next two years.

Billy Evans Says

RECORD FEAT
The lively ball of the majors has been considerably curtailed but it will still travel if properly socked. Had the good luck to umpire a recent game between Philadelphia and New York in which three successive batters made home runs.

While that merely ties a major league record, I doubt if the feat was ever before accomplished on so few pitched balls. Incidentally, each ball cleared a different part of the fence.

Sam Gray, star of the Athletics' pitching staff, was serving them. He threw a total of four balls to Bob Meusel, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees and three home runs were the result.

Bob Meusel hit the first ball pitched to him, a curve inside, into the left field bleachers. It went into the upper tier and was a real home run on any man's ground. Babe Ruth was the next batter. He fouled off a slow curve, then hit a fast ball in his "groove" on a line over the right field fence. It was a line drive home run, not a towering fly, as are many of Ruth's circuit clouts.

Lou Gehrig connected with the first ball pitched, a fast one on the outside and drove the ball over the center field fence. It was the longest wallop of the three.

Three home runs by successive batters on four pitched balls off one of the greatest pitchers in the majors is truly a most unusual feat.

FEAR OF Jinx
Pitchers are superstitious. Sam Gray is no exception. He has a habit of walking to the plate and addressing the umpire, said: "Don't give me any more of those home run balls." Reaching into my pocket I selected a ball at random and tossed it to him.

After Ruth, he proceeded to hit the first pitch. He walked up to the plate, Gray, hair in jeer and equally serious, said: "Let me see if I can pick one that won't turn out to be a homer." With a smile I held four balls in my hand and he took one of them. Lou Gehrig proceeded to immediately knock it out of the park for the third successive home run of the inning. As Gray watched the ball pass over the center field fence he remarked:

"Guys they are all the same, any one will do." Again I tossed one at random. Ben Paschal denied the forces for two bases. It was as hard hit as any of the three previous homers.

In all his career I doubt if Pitcher Sam Gray experienced quite the same feeling as he underwent when the trio of Yankee sluggers connected for successive home runs.

PITTSBURG (AP)—The National league pennant, emblematic of supremacy in the senior baseball circuit, was clinched Wednesday by the Pittsburg Pirates.

A double chance to win the flag faced the Pirates Wednesday—a defeat for New York or a victory for Pittsburg. And both chances were good, for the Giants went down to defeat in St. Louis while the Pirates were winning a thrilling game from Philadelphia, 2 to 1.

Only a few thousand fans braved the chilly breezes to witness the game Wednesday afternoon. It was a mighty struggle between pitchers, with the Pirates holding the advantage up to the ninth inning. Philadelphia put up a game fight. In the final seasons the visitors succeeded in crowding the bases with one man out. Huber lifted a fly to short left field. Wright got under it and his perfect throw to the plate doubled Durning. The game was wop and the flag was awarded Pittsburg.

As Gooch touched Durning, the fans swarmed upon the playing field to congratulate the men who brought to the fans the realization of their dream of 15 long years.

PLAYERS' PRIDE FILLS
Their enthusiasm was unbounded. The Pirates forgot their showers and crowded about Bill McKechnie, their manager, and the veteran pilot, Fred Clarke, singing the praise of the men who led them to victory. They danced about him and hugged each other, refusing to settle down until A. Heydler, president of the league, stepped in the clubhouse. He had witnessed the game from the press box.

The league executive said: "There never was a team that showed such fine deportment at all times. Now I want you to go out and win the world's series."

Wednesday's game was one of the hardest fought contests in the Pittsburg records. Ydg pitched brilliant ball for eight innings, holding the visitors scoreless and keeping their hits well scattered. Pittsburg tallied in the opening inning on a base on balls, two singles and a sacrifice, adding another in the seventh, on Grantman's double, an out and a sacrifice.

Ydg weakened in the ninth. The first three men to face him singled, putting across one run. The fans called for a victory and McKechnie, anxious to make the pennant a certainty, sent Tom Sheehan to the mound. Henline walked, hitting the socks. Huber, the next batter, sent a short fly to left. Wright ran back, made a perfect catch and pegged to the plate. Gooch took the throw and touched Durning out, ending the contest.

The game was marked by eight double plays, six for the Pirates and two for Philadelphia.

PECKINPAUGH GIVEN CROWN

CHICAGO (AP)—Roger Peckinpaugh of the Washington club Wednesday night was selected as the most valuable player in the American league for the 1925 season by a small margin over Al Simmons, youthful star who has been shining in the outfield for the Athletics.
Peckinpaugh, just finishing his fifteenth season as a major leagshortstop, was given a total of 45 points out of a possible 64 and Simmons received 41 points in the voting for the honor which was awarded by a committee composed of one veteran baseball writer in each city of the American league.

The previous winners of the trophy were: George Slaters, now manager of the St. Louis Browns, for the season of 1922, with a total of 55 points; Babe Ruth of the Yanks, for the season of 1923, with the highest possible of 64 points, and Walter Johnson, pitching ace of Washington, for 1924, with 59 points.

A Bargain In Quality
Fine One-Profite Studebaker Coach
—at a new low price

THIS Standard Six Coach has always been a wonderful value—a leader of the Studebaker line. Yet on August 1st, its previous low price was reduced one hundred dollars.
Today you can buy the same fine car without a single change in equipment or construction—at this new low price which only further emphasizes the Studebaker policy of offering you a "bargain in quality."

Here is a truly fine coach—built throughout from quality materials and careful workmanship. Fine northern white ash and hard maple are used in body construction. We pay a premium to obtain the toughest grades of steel. The upholstery is a durable woolen fabric—the windshield and windows are real plate glass. Extra equipment includes a gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.
According to the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce this Standard Six Coach is the most powerful car of its size and weight. Full-size balloon tires and an especially designed steering mechanism add to its riding and driving ease. A completely machined crankshaft gives perfect engine balance and reduces vibration to a minimum.
Yet this Standard Six Coach sells for no more than competing cars—its low price is made possible by the Studebaker policy of one-profit manufacture.

There are only two cars manufactured on this one-profit basis. Studebaker in the fine car field, and the Ford in the low priced field. Only in these two cases does one company in its own plants make all bodies, all engines, all clutches, steering gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings.
This one-profit policy not only eliminates the extra profits of outside parts and body makers—but it also makes possible unit-built construction. All parts for Studebaker cars are designed, engineered and built as a unit. And being built as a unit they function as a unit—which results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, lower repair costs and much higher resale value.
But the only way to judge this Standard Six Coach is to see it—to actually sit behind the wheel and drive it through the thick of traffic, over the steepest hills and rough country roads. Then, and only then, can you completely appreciate its amazing power, its velvet smoothness and wonderful riding qualities.
