

Gossard Corsets

"For the Perfect Figure"

HILL'S

"A Good Place To Trade"

SPORT NEWS

BROWNS CINGH THIRD PLACE

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Washington	77	53	.587
Philadelphia	67	63	.516
St. Louis	62	69	.474
Detroit	59	72	.448
Chicago	55	75	.424
Cleveland	50	82	.381
New York	48	84	.363
Boston	45	100	.310

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburg	54	57	.487
New York	54	58	.483
St. Louis	49	72	.404
Brooklyn	48	73	.398
Chicago	47	84	.360
Philadelphia	44	81	.349

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Browns clinched third place in the final American league standings for 1925 by overcoming the Detroit Tigers Thursday, 4 to 3, in the opening contest of a three-game series. The locals may now have the two remaining wins without dropping in position. Manager George Halas, leading American league batter in 1925, came out of his recent slump by slugging in the first inning for his first hit in 24 times up.

H. H. H. Detroit 3 to 2
St. Louis 4 to 3
Batteries: Whitehill, Stover and Hamer, Woodall, Davis, Dunforth, Vandelider and Franke.

Boston 3, Washington 1.
BOSTON (AP)—Wingfield's pitching proved too much for Washington to overcome Thursday, the Red Sox taking the second game of the series, 3 to 1. Only five hits were made against him, two of which came in the first inning when the Senators scored their first run. The spectacular play of Herriek at second base, a recent addition to Boston, was the feature.

H. H. H. Boston 3 to 2
Washington 1 to 2
Batteries: Wingfield and Ince-off, Thomas and Tate.

Chicago 3, Cleveland 0.
CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Blakenhip registered his seventeenth victory of the season Thursday by holding Cleveland to four hits while Chicago shut them out, 3 to 0, in the first game of the final series. Chicago was held to seven hits, but without scoring.

H. H. H. Cleveland 0 to 0
Chicago 3 to 2
Batteries: Towell and Sewell; Blakenhip and Grobowski.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAME.
Phillies 6, Dodgers 5.
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia gained its third straight victory over Brooklyn Thursday, 6 to 5, and at the same time evaded the series for the year at 11 games each. Rube Ehrhardt, Dodger pitcher, hit a home run in the seventh.

H. H. H. Brooklyn 5 to 2
Philadelphia 6 to 2
Batteries: Ehrhardt and Taylor; Ring and Wilson.

GAMES TODAY.
American League.
Washington at Boston.
New York at Philadelphia.
National League.
Pittsburg at Cincinnati.
St. Louis at Chicago.
Pacific Coast League.
Vernon at Oakland.
San Francisco at Los Angeles.
Sacramento at Seattle.
Salt Lake at Portland.

W. S. C. TO PLAY MONTANA ELEVEN IN COAST GAME

The actual opening of the Pacific coast conference football season takes place tomorrow with Washington State college playing Montana at Missoula. Other games scheduled for Friday are: Multnomah vs. Oregon at Eugene. Willamette vs. Oregon Aggies at Corvallis. Nevada vs. California at Berkeley. Santa Clara vs. Stanford at Palo Alto. Pomona vs. U. S. C. at Los Angeles. Whittier vs. St. Mary's at San Francisco. Columbia university vs. Pacific university at Forest Grove.

LURE OF GOLD

Only three clubs, New York, Cleveland and Boston and their pay fall experimentation. Washington is now trying to reach the general Philadelphia in putting forth its best effort to hold second, while St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago are fighting for the other two money positions, third and fourth place.

All five clubs have bought any number of promising recruits who have reported, but the conditions of the race prevent them from getting a chance to show in actual competition.

Most of the money clubs have had their new players report and are working them out in the morning but it is real competition that proves the worth of a player. It is said that John McGraw of the Giants is in an effort to strengthen his club for next year, is making every effort to get a line on the players this fall. Morning games have been a feature of the day's work at the Polo Grounds. McGraw has always been a pioneer in the development of new ideas in baseball. He's wise.

FRISCO LEAD CUT BY BEES

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	116	65	.641
Salt Lake	104	74	.584
Seattle	97	84	.534
Los Angeles	94	85	.521
Portland	88	95	.479
Oakland	71	102	.402
Sacramento	74	100	.424

YESTERDAY'S GAMES

Salt Lake 10, Portland 9.
PORTLAND (AP)—E. H. E. Salt Lake 10 to 9. Portland 9 to 10. Batteries: Mowday, Stroud, Harvey and Cook; Hollingsworth, Burns and Haddock. (Eveon in index.)

Sacramento 2, Seattle 5.
SEATTLE (AP)—H. H. E. Sacramento 2 to 5. Seattle 5 to 2. Batteries: West E. Shen, and M. (Shen, Lucas, Hamer and E. Thawlin, O'Connell.)

Los Angeles 8, San Francisco 6.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—H. H. E. San Francisco 6 to 8. Los Angeles 8 to 6. Batteries: Gentry, Mowday and Agnew; Jacobs, Root and Washburn.

Oakland 8, Vernon 2.
OAKLAND (AP)—E. H. E. Oakland 8 to 2. Vernon 2 to 8. Batteries: Christian, Carson and Whittier; Rims and Hicker.

Australian Population Nears Six Million Mark

MELBOURNE (AP)—Statistics recently completed show that on March 31, Australia had a population of 5,900,000, an increase of 21,000 in three months.

Having bank deposits on the same day aggregated $30,525,000. The total industrial production of Australia for the year ended June 30 is shown to have been $1,971,000,000.

JUNIOR WORLD SERIES POSTPONED BY RAIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rain postponed Thursday and caused postponement of the second game of the junior world series between Louisville of the American association and Baltimore of the International league.

Friday was to have been an off-day, but weather permitting, the game will be played then. Louisville won the first game, 9 to 7.

World Series Players

(By the Associated Press)

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Dempsey Matched.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankford, New Orleans fight promoter, has announced here that he has completed negotiations for a 16-round decision fight between Jack Dempsey and Martin Burke at New Orleans Thanksgiving day.

The bout is said to be in line with the champion's accepted intention of engaging in two or three preliminary fights before meeting Harry White, the negro challenger.

World Series Players

(By the Associated Press)

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Dempsey Matched.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankford, New Orleans fight promoter, has announced here that he has completed negotiations for a 16-round decision fight between Jack Dempsey and Martin Burke at New Orleans Thanksgiving day.

The bout is said to be in line with the champion's accepted intention of engaging in two or three preliminary fights before meeting Harry White, the negro challenger.

World Series Players

(By the Associated Press)

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Dempsey Matched.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankford, New Orleans fight promoter, has announced here that he has completed negotiations for a 16-round decision fight between Jack Dempsey and Martin Burke at New Orleans Thanksgiving day.

The bout is said to be in line with the champion's accepted intention of engaging in two or three preliminary fights before meeting Harry White, the negro challenger.

World Series Players

(By the Associated Press)

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Dempsey Matched.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankford, New Orleans fight promoter, has announced here that he has completed negotiations for a 16-round decision fight between Jack Dempsey and Martin Burke at New Orleans Thanksgiving day.

The bout is said to be in line with the champion's accepted intention of engaging in two or three preliminary fights before meeting Harry White, the negro challenger.

World Series Players

(By the Associated Press)

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Edie, Senators.
Entering the big show as a pitcher, Edie G. Ryan—for that was his name in his days—was converted into an outfielder by Chief Goffin because of his hitting ability and in that role he has become one of the outstanding stars of the American league.

Normally fond of fast, big speed on the paths, Ryan has the reflexes of "Moose" Bear and that same speed in the field enabled him to show master-like play in the 1924 world's series by virtue of his.

Russell, Senators.
The most famous in much as to pitching ability Alvin Russell gave his prowess here in the major leagues.

Twice while with the New York Americans he was unrepentant, once by a falling arm and another time by a ball striking him on the head. The doctors held out little hope for Russell in either case but he fought on with grim determination and finally won back his health.

Born in Baltimore, Md., on July 21, 1882, Russell had his first professional experience with the York team in the Tri-State league. He was obtained then by the Baltimore Terrapins and from this point went to the New York Americans in 1915. Four years later he was traded to the Boston Americans in the deal which sent Red Moran to the Yankees and three years later he was obtained by Washington in a trade. Like Morrie he plays purely the role of relief hurler.

Godin, Senators.
Like his running mate, Russ Edie, Leon Allen Godin is another of the Senators' outfielders who believe he is a diamond cutter with a desire to shine behind the top plate. But his mistake was committed in the season when he embarked upon a career of "home-coming" that ended him as an average league job with Washington after one season.

Godin has been in Godin's blood from birth. He was born near Salem, New Jersey, on October 16, 1896, and grew up to be a farmer boy, but he couldn't keep away from a baseball field and many a championship he received for deserting his chores to play on a neighborhood team.

Dempsey Matched.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankford, New Orleans fight promoter, has announced here that he has completed negotiations for a 16-round decision fight between Jack Dempsey and Martin Burke at New Orleans Thanksgiving day.

The bout is said to be in line with the champion's accepted intention of engaging in two or three preliminary fights before meeting Harry White, the negro challenger.

Billy Evans Says

FALL TRAINING.
Fall training for major league ball clubs is a possibility of the near future.

This situation has been created by the rule that permits the first four clubs to share in the world series average.

In the old days, when only the dominant winter got a rest, other teams out of the race made it a point to use the month of September to try out likely recruits.

With four clubs vying in on the big money, no team with a number of promising fourth or fifth year prospects will miss with any of its rookie players.

After a long season in the fall try-out was able to get an excellent line on his new material. As a matter of fact it enabled him to weed out the underdogs and practically settle his selections for consideration in spring training.

Take the American league race of this year as an example of the point I am trying to bring out.

THAT'S IT!

Men's O'coats
Handsome Overcoats for the 1925-26 season. Many models to choose from. Some are sliver effects, others conservative. They are all wool and the fabrics and color show character. You'll like these.
$18.50 - $19.95

Women's and Misses' Footwear
Pumps and Oxfords in the very latest Fall styles. We can give you the best at the lowest prices in town. Style and durability combined. A large array of beautiful new lasts in a variation of shades.
$2.95 to $4.95

SHOES
WOMEN'S SHOES
Many women favor a shoe for winter wear. They are high quality and are priced to save you much money—
$3.25

Moleskin Coats
Leather lined with knit collars and cuffs. Just the thing for Fall and Winter outing needs. These prices defy competition—
$3.95