YOUTH IS FOUND A HARDY MEMBER OF ARCTIC STAFF

CHICAGO, (AP)—Kennet Rawson, a lad of fourteen, will return to school this fall a proved member of an Arctic exploration party. Commander MacMillan took the youngest boy into the Northland and found him a hardy hand.
Whether it was serving in the galley, his principal duty, polishing brass or doing the heavy work with a shovel, Kennet made a success of it. He had to because at Sidney, Nova Scotia, MacMillan would send him back if he had not shown his worth.
Now an American boy and girl can claim partnership in being the youthful travelers of the Arctic Region, a daughter of Robert E. Peary having been born on his successful search for the north pole.
A companion of Rawson, also a youth, qualified as one of MacMillan's veteran seamen. He is Richard Salmon, of Larchmont, N. Y., 17-year-old son of the noted psychologist. Both boys attend eastern schools and in recent years each has cruised in sail and schooner with marked ability. Their fathers last June planned an ocean trip for them but learning they could not obtain the desired schooner, Kennet's father, Frederick H. Rawson, Sr., chairman of the board of directors of a Chicago banking house, decided to approach MacMillan, whom he knew to be interested in boys.

When MacMillan learned of Salmon's ability and size he was promptly accepted but at mention of Kennet's age, the explorer threw up his hands and emphatically said "no."
"But," assured Mr. Rawson, "this boy can box the compass take his bearings from the sun. He is a thorough seaman and has done some oceanographic work during school vacations, and will work." Kennet had many tests on the way to Sidney but upon reaching the Nova Scotia town, MacMillan notified Mr. Rawson the boy was making good.

Geese House Forecasts
HOOD RIVER, Ore.—Although furnace fires were not started here until mid-Columbia prognosticators of the weather have already announced the approach of an early and hard winter. They declare that the flight of a large flock of wild geese toward the south indicated immediate storms with a drop in temperature.

Ball Men at Klamath Falls
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—A party composed of high officials of the Great Northern railroad arrived to spend several days in Klamath Falls on a general inspection of the Klamath railroad situation. The party includes W. H. Kenney, of St. Paul, vice president of the Great Northern railroad, in charge of traffic; W. E. Hunt, of Portland, general agent of the Great Northern; M. J. Costello, western freight and traffic manager of Seattle, and

A. J. Hamilton.

Serve Hotcakes and Adirondack Cane and Maple Syrup

--as the main dish for breakfast. . .

Ham, Eggs, Hotcakes. These are the three great foods which are served as the main American breakfast. If you do take advantage of hotcakes and syrup as the main dish, just glance at our show window when down town and you will see on display the Adirondack Cane and Maple Syrup (30 per cent maple) which is one of the best we know of to spread on hotcakes.
