Billy Evans Says

A SERIOUS CLOWN.
Nick Altrock is known to present day baseball fans as baseball's buffoon.

For perhaps 10 years, Nick has been drawing a fat baseball salary for his ability to make fandon laugh. He is a past master in the art of pantomime, has a keen sense of humor.

When the Washington club is on the road, Altrock shares drawing power with the great Walter Johnson.

Altrock the buffoon of today, was one of the game's greatest pitchers 20 years back. That fact is not lost on him when talking about Nick.

A smart pitcher, Altrock is very helpful of his club in developing the young pitchers aside from making the fans laugh.

NATS ARE GAME.
Always a close student of the game, Nick views the coming series with Pittsburgh with a sense of alarm.

"The experts who are doping the series backwards and forwards, rate Pittsburgh the favorite," says Nick.

"Usually the favorites are beaten in a world series so perhaps that is a good omen.

"If you can believe the experts, a left-hander hasn't a chance, also that the Pirates murder speed.

"That just about eliminates all of our regulars, except Coveleskie, with his spitball and Ferguson with his curve and change of pace.

"The expert dope doesn't give me any chance, but I don't mind an outside chance. The veterans, however, are able to fool the wise men.

"Of one thing I am sure, no ball club in the world will outgame us. The dope doesn't take into consideration the fighting spirit in our factor in a short series.

Nick's observations as to the genuineness of the Washington club are correct. It was the "well-to-do" that has been the greatest factor in its fight for two pennants.

OBSERVER WILL RECEIVE WORLD SERIES SERVICE

In keeping with its usual service to readers of unusual events, The Observer will receive special Associated Press reports on the world's series games between Pittsburgh and Washington.

The reports, coming in "hot off the wire" will be on the street in the regular edition, which is printed about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The branch line subscribers will receive the same world's series service as La Grande readers.

Chicago 10, Cleveland 8.
CHICAGO (AP)—The White Sox closed the American league season in Chicago Sunday by defeating Cleveland, 10 to 8, and making a clean sweep of the three-game series.

The game was an old-fashioned slugging match. George Connelly, who pitched Kerr, put the visitors out in front in the eighth inning with a wild pitch, but came back in the box half of the inning and won his own game by sending runners across the plate with a triple and scoring later himself.

SHERWOOD AND COMPANY WIN

Too much Sherwood!
That's why the score was 14 to 6 in favor of the graduates in the annual high school-annual football game last Saturday afternoon.

Couch MacTavish's proteges took promising but, pitted against a man who is undoubtedly the best high school player developed in Eastern Oregon in the past five years, they couldn't check the inevitable.

Sherwood, Tiger star for three years, hasn't lost a bit of his ability to go through an open field of opponents on high, nor his punting powers, nor his habit of skirting the ends for substantial gains.

Saturday, after both teams had fumbled, punted and seen-sawed back and forth until only two minutes remained before the half ended, Sherwood showed the ball under his arm and zipped around right end for 32 yards, placing the pigskin on the high school's 24-yard line. A plunge netted three yards and Sherwood went around again for a 20-yard gain. On the next play he put it over through the line. Metcalf kicked goal.

In the second half things began to look brighter for the high school who had the better of a punting duel for more than a quarter. Both teams were within scoring distance a time or two but couldn't get it over, largely because of costly fumbles.

Runs 62 Yards to Score.
With the game almost over, the high school, in alumni territory, made a last frantic effort to score via the forward pass route. Sherwood stepped in, scooped in the pass, and ambled down the field 62 yards for the last touchdown of the game—just before the whistle blew. Again the point was scored, the game ending 14 to 6.

To the spectator, MacTavish's team looks as if it could be developed into a consistent winning organization. The consensus of opinion is that if Wallowa can be beaten next Saturday at Wallowa, the season will assume a fairly rosy aspect.

In the backfield Price does the punting and is a fair gainer around end. Faus and McKernon show up well and Zundel, calling signals is promising. Cullen, who got his start last year, bids fair to become not only an good snapper-back but also a staunch defensive unit. Landry and Smith started at guard position with Keefer and Larson at tackle. All four did their bit. Hughes, a veteran in the line, did not play because of slight injuries. Strand, already a good end, and Wallace held down the wing positions.

The alumni was: Doc Smutz, center; Metcalf and Woodell, guards; Alstot and McCorkle, tackles; Williams, Price and Blackland, ends; Sherwood, quarterback; Bearden and Walsinger, fullback; Larson, fullback.

ROAD TO REACH SUMMIT
EUGENE, Ore.—The track of the Junction City-Horton "wooden" railway will reach the summit of the exact mountain by way of the "high pass" by the first of November, according to those in charge of construction. The work was started early in the summer at Horton in the Lake creek valley, and the wooden rails have gradually been extended up the side of the mountain.

Construction work will cease until next spring when the summit is reached and motor trucks will haul the lumber transported over the road from that point to Junction City, it is anticipated.

PAID FOR READING ADVERTISEMENTS

IT COSTS a small fortune to make one watch, automobile or fountain pen. It takes a large part of the brains and of the factory to make just one of any product—but if a thousand or a million can be made, the cost of each comes toppling down.

Advertising, by multiplying the number sold makes it possible to slash costs. Advertising, by opening up undreamed-of markets, has brought within reach of the people thousands of things which formerly were luxuries only of the rich.

When you buy an advertised article, you join in the popular movement to cut down production costs. America's millions of shoppers, by buying advertised goods, are every day forcing factories to be made larger and commodities to be produced for less.

To buy advertised goods is to start savings on their way to your pockets.
