

Men of La Grande ATTENTION!

Many of you (and your sons) journey to Portland each year.

While there you stroll or drive through the streets and see Portland's fine shops—particularly the well-groomed "men's" stores should attract you.

We sincerely hope you will do so, for then you will note—the same high-quality merchandise—the same smartly distinctive and down-to-the-minute styles as carried here at La Grande, your home town, in metropolitan abundance, at the same prices and frequently less.

We want you to make this comparison. Not in any spirit of competition on our part—for they are all good friends, every last one of them—but as a matter of civic pride. Something to be inwardly proud of and to take advantage of, but not to boast of.

GIVE WELCOME TO M'MILLAN

PORTLAND, Mo. (AP)—Commander Donald B. MacMillan and the 25 members of his Arctic expedition, scientists, aviators and seamen, were welcomed home by a program of entertainment and excitement which extended from Wisconsin to this place, Monday.

Given more than usual disappointment by the worst summer the natives remember in the north, beset and delayed along the entire homeward route by gales which culminated in that which kept not only the expedition but nearly 50 friends and relatives marooned on the small, wind-swept Monhegan Island, the attitude of them all was expressed by Commander MacMillan when he said, at a luncheon given him here:

"This room looks good to us."

This last day of the expedition was a long one. The crews were ashore on the ships before 4 o'clock Monday morning, preparing for the run for the mainland which the expected break in the ice would permit.

From the 20 of more houses on Monhegan where they had found shelter, the band of relatives, friends and newspaper men gathered in intense darkness preceding the dawn about the wind-swept dock where the Peary lay. Shortly after 5 o'clock the expedition got under way.

MacMillan Given Luncheon.

The culmination of the rejoicing at their safe arrival was reached at the luncheon tendered Commander MacMillan by the Portland Rotary club.

It was at this luncheon that the leaders of the state, of the army and navy, of science and of education, gathered to congratulate the explorer on his safe return and the accomplishments of the summer.

Commander MacMillan, hoarse from the exposure and hardship of the long voyage south, thanked them for his reception and that of his men, then proceeded to extol the work of his companions.

School News

(By Marjorie Maguire) Anticipating Something New—

It is the plan of the various school reporters to reserve a space for the publication of the ideas of students, faculty and towns people. The idea of this column is to bring out school opinion and the staff will appreciate signed articles from anyone interested.

Itah! Itah! Itah!

There was a whisper among the students Friday morning that ran something like this: "Did you hear if we'd have an assembly?" The morning passed without one, and the students began to get excited, fearing the rocks would not get their justice. Four bells rang the seventh period, and the students flocked to the assembly. The rocks were nervous, since they were doomed either to "die at the scaffold" or be "burned at the stake."

Wesley Brownston, student-body president, gave the directions for the rally to be held at 7 p. m. Mr. Longfellow made an excellent speech on education. Jack Coolidge led some new yells. The students met first at the high school auditorium where the rocks were given their opportunity to show their ability along dramatic lines. The football men talked of the Wallowa game. This was the first game of the season and the team is out to win. The students then went to the bonfire, giving some yells, after which they serenaded through town. There was no rough tuff and everyone went to his home feeling that the 1925-26 rally had been a success.—Judith Brown.

Final Tryout for Play Held.

The final tryout for the junior play, "Miss Somebody Else," was held last week. The results of the tryout, with a few exceptions, have been announced by Miss Bennett. She was aided in her choosing by other members of the faculty. They have attempted to take only the best material furnished this year. Dorothy Kierhard has the good fortune of being the "leading lady." The next two important feminine roles will be played by Dorothy Ann Warnick and Ann Stange.

Glee Club Large.

The glee club enrollment is a great deal larger this year than has hitherto been the case. The students are working on two difficult selections, "Sheik of the Desert, Am I?" and "The Elephant and the Chimpanzee." There are a number of excellent voices that seem to "speak for themselves." From all indications a great deal may be expected from the glee club this year. The girls' chorus has been chosen with a total of 16 girls. This chorus, under the able direction of Miss Miller, sang at the Neighborhood club last week. The selections sung were "Morning Invocation" and "Buttons"—Lula Ansell.

Dramatic Class Active.

The dramatic class is now planning a historical play of the Grande Ronde valley. A chairman has been appointed to take charge of such acts. This chairman appoints the students to represent a certain character. The students are also impersonating different characters of modern life. Many of them have real ability along this line.

Meeting of Mimic Staff.

The first meeting of the Mimic staff was held Wednesday after school. Mr. Longfellow, Miss Bennett and Mr. Towler addressed the staff on possibilities of the Mimic. The members of the staff are busily engaged in making dramas for the Mimic. It is the desire of the

CURB ON FRESHETS AIM

EUGENE, Ore.—Robert N. Stanfield, United States senator, will be here to confer with farmers along the river road north of Eugene regarding means of curbing the overflow of the Willamette river during freshet seasons, according to E. J. Adams, his secretary.

Learning Correct English.

The students in English I are trying hard to speak correct English. They have a list of English errors which are called "Intolerables." They hope to master them.

Autumn Tea Party.

The senior girls are planning to give a tea to the mothers of the senior class. The chairman elected to take charge is as follows: Reception, Eugene Clowry; program, Delsie Hobbs; decoration, Margaret Baker; invitation, Marjorie Maguire; refreshments, Marian Miller.

Orchestra Rehearsals Start.

The orchestra, composed of about 15 players, has taken up its fall and winter practices. Under the excellent supervision of Miss Miller and Miss Dillon, it is expected that they will accomplish much, both in giving to the school and deriving experience for themselves. Credit is allowed this year, giving another inducement for those interested.
