COMMERCIALISM ROBS ART, CONDUCTOR SAYS
DENVER (AP)—The money a part of the public is paying to "hear a name sing or play" rather than an artist is held to blame as an item in a "commercialism that has taken the heart and soul from music," Robert Slack, noted concert director, signed as he said it. "It's money-money-money. The public makes and breaks artists. Unfortunately—and part of it pays to hear a name sing or play rather than an artist."

This public to which Mr. Slack referred pays to see the chosen few and in doing so, in his opinion, thereby is keeping hundreds of names from the electric signboards that are equally as good. "But Commercialism—Commercialism, that's what has taken the heart and soul from music," he added.

Mr. Slack has had an association with choirs, choruses and operatic stars over a period of nearly 40 years.

Texas editor refused to pay a $50 fine. Mightier hard, but he could make it back in 10 or 20 years.

They say it took millions of years to make us what we are, and still the job is only started.

La Grande Theatres

"Lorraine of the Lions" Now Showing at the Star.

"Lorraine of the Lions," a Universal Jewel, is the feature picture now playing at the Star theater, to completely free from any plot ideas ever utilized before and so filled with unusual incidents, the story was made into the big release of the current season by Universal. With thrills, heart-throbs, and delicate comedy interwoven; the story is declared to be one of the truest and most original ever written for the screen.

Norman Kerry is starred with Patsy Ruth Miller playing opposite him. Joseph Dowling, Fred Hunter, Frank Nechurs, Rosemary Cooper, Forester Turner, Jackie Goodrich and W. Stuart McCrea are in the cast, comprised of an unusual galaxy of stars.

The difficulties encountered in filming the picture were immense. It took more than three months work on three elaborate sets before production could be started. A San Francisco millionaire's mansion was reproduced in every detail, both inside and out, at a tremendous cost. A steam-heated jungle covering an area of six acres was grown with vegetation brought from the South Seas.

The story of "Lorraine of the Lions" was written by Leodore Bernstein and the picture was directed by Edward Sedgwick.

"Proud Flesh" Showing at Sherrys Last Time Tonight

The earnings and rains that follow in the wake of an earthquake and great fire are vividly portrayed in "Proud Flesh," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor, which is showing at Sherrys' theater for the last time tonight.

Much detail and time were spent in the reproduction of this biographical which is credited with being one of the finest bits of modern picture photography of the day. John Arnold cracked the camera in this production.

Eleanor Boardman, Pat O'Malley and Harrison Ford are featured in this production.

Comedy showing, "The Live Agent," with Al St. John.

JURY INDICTS WINTHROP

BEND, Ore.—Charges against Robert A. Winthrop, recently arrested in Pasadena, of obtaining money under false pretenses and larceny by false, were upheld by the Deschutes county grand jury in two true bills. Winthrop has informed officials that he will plead guilty to all charges, maintaining that any crime he might have committed a year ago was committed when his mind was deranged by liquor. He came to Bend from Crescent one year ago today with the intention of having his teeth treated, he asserted and took the liquor because of his fear of a dentist's chair.

Winthrop was to have been married in Pasadena tomorrow. He wired to Pasadena for money today.

Somebody robbed a loan office in St. Louis instead of a loan office in St. Louis robbing somebody.

Winthrop had the vision to see the possibilities of prehistoric monsters, as big as ten elephants, the prehistoric dinosaurs of "The Lost World," which are amazing patrons of the Arcade theater, are brought to life on the picture screen as a result of the pioneering spirit of Waterston H. Rothacker.

This picture is the first in film history where the brontosaurus, pterosaurs, megalosaurus, pterodactyl, trachodon, diplodocus and other creatures of 10,000,000 years ago are with reality reincarnated in the movie. The feat marks a cinema epoch.

Years ago Rothacker blazed another picture trail when he became the pioneer specialist in motion picture advertising. Some years later, after he had branched out into the film laboratory field, Willis H. O'Brien, a prize-fighting sculptor, conceived of the reincarnation of monsters of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "Lost World" on the screen.

Rothacker had the vision to see the possibilities of prehistoric monsters, as big as ten elephants, bursting loose on the silver sheet. Here, he reasoned, would at last be something new for picturegoers. He began financing this huge project.

Later he bought the film rights to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's novel, "The Lost World," and went to work on reincarnating the foursome beasts that made the earth a place of terror and millions of years before man and which Prof. G. E. Challenger claimed still inhabit unexplored regions of the Amazon. Finally Rothacker was ready to proceed with the human element of the photoplay. He joined forces with First National and Earl Hudson was assigned to supervise production. The cast selected included Jessie Lowe, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Lloyd Hughes and Hull Montana.

Time—its importance in the proper washing of clothes

ALTHOUGH the copper tank of The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washer measures only 24" in diameter and occupies a very small amount of floor space, this popular machine will properly wash a load of 10 lbs. of dry clothes. With this large tank capacity, it is practicable to take sufficient time to wash each individual load gently yet thoroughly clean. The total length of time to dispose of a large washing is, however, but the fractional part of an hour.

Large capacity means few loads, hence little handling of clothes.
Large capacity means slow motion of moving parts, hence no tearing of the clothes or wear on the washer.
Even with this large clothes capacity the "EASY" uses only 14 gallons of water with a correspondingly economical use of soap—the most expensive item in the washing of clothes.
The "EASY" will do a small washing just as efficiently as a large one. Its capacity is adjustable to the amount of clothes to be washed.
It is a matter of real science, of years of experiment and experience to design a washer which will thoroughly clean the greatest number of clothes in the least volume of water, absolutely without wear or tear on the finest of fabrics, without excessive handling, and in the shortest possible time.

The three large nickel-plated AIR PRESSURE and SUCTION CUPS of the "EASY," with their gentle agitation, wash clothes exactly in accordance with the above ideal conditions.

It will be worth your time to ask us to demonstrate these FACTS to you.
