FRISCO LOSES SIXTH GAME

Club— W. L. Per.
San Francisco 4 2 .667
Louisville 2 4 .333

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Louisville, champions of the American association, defeated San Francisco, champions of the Pacific coast league, in a free hitting contest Thursday by a score of 11 to 8. The team scored five runs in an effort to check the hitting rampage of the Louisville three.

The Sox took a one run lead in the first inning when Maloney connected for a three base hit and scored on Warner's single. They had little trouble in finding the battery, who started for the visitors. The Sox added three more runs to their lead in the third before Jerry found his stride. In the "chickadee" part of the third, they scored their first run off Williams, who was more than holding his own against Ishery.

The association champions aimed a rally in the fifth and by George hitting and errors on the part of the locals collected five runs. Golf relieved Williams and was knocked out of the box before he got started. Big "Ding" McWerry came to the rescue of Griffith and, like his predecessor, was sent to the showers after Lou Saville had gathered five runs off him in the seventh.

Koob took the mound for the visitors in the eighth and was sent to the dug out after pitching but one third of the inning.

Williams relieved Koob and held the coast leaguers scoreless for the rest of the game. A home run by Crockett when he connected with the first ball pitched was the feature of the game. The Sox now stands San Francisco 4, Louisville 2.

Score:
San Francisco 4 1 2 1
Louisville 11 1 2
Batteries—Williams, Griffin, McWerry, Crockett, Mitchell and Yell. Pitcher—Deberry, Koob, Wilkinson and Myer.

EXCESSIVE GOALS.
With the "grid" season just a month old, Michigan is the only member of the "Big Ten" that has not been scored on.

An increased goal line is rarely in these days of open football. The modern game, featuring the forward pass, has thrust forward the element of chance, making it a difficult task for a team to keep its line from being crossed.

Ten years back it was not at all unusual for a number of the major elevens to finish the season with an unbroken goal-line. In fact, teams have often gone two and three years without being scored on.

When Penn recently met Yale, it was a clash between two evenly matched elevens, yet the final score was 16-11 against the Blue. The two teams put over four scoring plays, four touchdowns and a goal from the field.

Similar conditions are evident in the Big Ten, viewed everywhere. The unbroken goal-line is fast falling out.

GOLF HANDICAP.

Golf appears to be suffering from the same ailment as the national pastime, a "rabbit ball."

In baseball, for a number of years the leading hitters have been striving for distance, the hitting of home runs. That tendency has gone much to eliminate the leader ship, the strategy of the game.

It seems that the golf ball has also been "popped" up and still the longer courses, new as popular, distance from the tees points to be the main objective.

For several years, youthful golfers, noted for taking a healthy swing, have been in evidence. The lively ball is pointed to as the reason for such a condition.

Baseball found it necessary to curtail the fireliness of the ball for the good of the game. Golf will probably do likewise.

FOOTBALL THIRDS.

So far no one has complained about the lively football play to the great amount of scoring being done on the gridiron.

The forward pass and other trick plays, now being featured in football, provide the grid thrill that would make golf get out from the ivory hill.

A run the length of the field for a touchdown in the "game-run" of the gridiron. It's a "game" thing because it happens less.

The run the length of the field is usually due to the cleverness of too bad strategy rather than the ball.

In the games of Saturday, October 27, the annual feat was twice turned in Big Ten circles. Grange of Illinois ran 50 yards against Iowa, Friedman of Michigan ran 55 yards against Wisconsin.

It was a coincidence that Ingwersen, Iowa coach, had much to do with developing Grange, while assisting Zappke at Illinois, while Little, now coaching Wisconsin, was chief sponsor for Friedman during the stay at Michigan with Yost.

TIGERS READY FOR BOISE '11

The first big game of the season for La Grande High school football team will come to a hot Friday when the Tigers meet the Boise Braves at Boise in the annual inter-city game on the line and under the stars.

The team has been doing a period of hard practice, in an effort to approach grid-iron form before the strong Grid state team to meet. Boise is yet undefeated in Idaho, winning three association games. The only defeat of the season was a 17 to 0 loss to the West high of Salt Lake City, said to be one of the strongest elevens in the nation.

La Grande remained undefeated with Boise on the gridiron last year after more than a dozen and a half games, but failed to convert after Kev's sensational run and touchdown causing the Tigers to lose.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Clark Howard Jones and 22 University of Southern California football players were speeding northward Tuesday to Moscow, Idaho, for a game Friday afternoon with the University of Idaho. Two assistant coaches, a physician, trainer and manager rode out the party.

Several of those who left Monday night have not participated in a single game this far this season, but may be needed in view of the fact that Alton Kier, Russ Adams and Lloyd Haysberger are recovering from injuries and may be out little the Friday.

GRID BATTLES STIRRING FANS

NEW YORK (AP)—The seed of inter-sectional football rivalry will bear its most prolific fruit of the season Saturday with seven grid-iron wars witnessed by thousands of opponents of different sects.

Tapping the Big Ten as well as covering the main springs of the day with the Army-Vanderbilt, Michigan-Wisconsin and Pennsylvania-Pennsylvania battles, the gridiron will be a hotbed of excitement with star athletes of inter-sectional fame.

No less the case, inter-sectional play all before it is inter-sectional play with rivals from the mid-west and south, beside a lead of two to one in money involving the school of the Atlantic, Saturday night with members of the "Big Ten."

Columbia was defeated by Ohio State but that setback was more than offset by Syracuse's victory over Indiana and Pennsylvania's triumph over Chicago, 1925 western conference champion.

Pennsylvania Favorite.

Pennsylvania, on the strength of her successive victories over Brown, Yale and Chicago, will be a favorite to win the gridiron and add to the list of national champions, but Michigan, displacing the "Big Ten" title is expected to take the measure of the navy, although the mid-west have a veteran and formidable outfit.

The grid war will be favored to add to its triumphant inter-sectional status in which Georgia will triumph over the University of California, while Georgetown will triumph over the University of Tennessee and Harvard will be best to William and Mary. East and West also meet in a major event involving Oberlin and Rochester at Oberlin, Ohio.

The mid-western's greatest rival, Notre Dame, will go down in a search of conquest against Georgia Tech in another inter-sectional high spot with the "rock" seemingly closely matched.

Lead Teams

Here are the captains of two of the best football teams in the country and Fred Henderson of Chicago and Joe Wilson, Pennsylvania. They are expected to lead their elevens against each other in the great inter-sectional battle at Philadelphia, Saturday. Henderson is the one at the top of above.

WEINGARTNER'S APPOINTMENT KAYS LONG OPERA CAREER

BERLIN (AP)—Felix von Weingartner, the famous French philosopher, Henri Bergson, has been elected chairman of the newly founded league of nations commission for intellectual collaboration.

Weingartner was born in Dolmbein in 1862 and studied at the Berlin royal opera as alternating chief conductor in 1881. In 1883 he went to Munich to conduct a series of great performances and subsequently also in Vienna, without the permission of Count von Hofmann, at that time the intendant of the Berlin opera. Thereupon Count von Hofmann charged Weingartner with having broken his contract. The court finally ruled that von Weingartner was to be prosecuted from conducting in Berlin for the term of 10 years.

In 1921, however, he severed his German knot by giving a series of symphonic concerts in Paris, and a similar one in London. The Parisians and the Londoners, beyond the prospects of Berlin. The event at that time was the talk of all Germany. Weingartner was married to the American singer, Lucile Marcell, who died in 1921.

WOMAN NEW DANCER IN EUROPE

BERLIN (AP)—Wanda Gág, German dancer and economist of Germany, after several years and her in the streets of New York, has been invited to dance in Europe.

PRESIDENT REPEALS PIE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president and Mrs. Coolidge have declined an offer from the state of Vermont University of a large apple pie for the White House Thanksgiving dinner.

Although no reason was given for declining the pie, it is thought it was refused because acceptance might have been taken as an endorsement by the president of the proposed apple week to be held about that time.

Columbia was defeated by Ohio State but that setback was more than offset by Syracuse's victory over Indiana and Pennsylvania's triumph over Chicago, 1925 western conference champion.

Pennsylvania, on the strength of her successive victories over Brown, Yale and Chicago, will be a favorite to win the gridiron and add to the list of national champions, but Michigan, displacing the "Big Ten" title is expected to take the measure of the navy, although the mid-west have a veteran and formidable outfit.
