La Grande Theatres

"Lightnin'" Is Record-Breaking Comedy Hit

The commanding event of the past several years in local theatricals will be the forthcoming engagement at the Arcade Theatre on Thursday night, Nov. 12 of the record-breaking comedy hit, "Lightnin'", which John Golden will send here fresh from his sensational run in San Francisco. It is seldom that a play which has already run five years can boast of the same cast that appeared at its metropolitan premiere, yet "Lightnin'" makes this claim. The same players who scored so conspicuously when this comedy was first brought out at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, are still playing their original roles. This includes Thomas Jefferson who succeeded to the title role upon the death of the late Frank Bacon, and who achieved such splendid popularity during the San Francisco engagement, will be seen in the same role here.

Mail orders are now being received for tickets. The regular sale starts Monday Nov. 9th at Glass Drug Store. Prices are: Loges and Lower floor $2.20; Balcony first 4 rows $1.65, balance $1.10. These prices include the tax.

"The Live Wire" At Arcade Friday and Saturday

A motion picture comedy is such an intricate affair that it is seldom that a story can be found that will be suitable for screen purposes without considerable changes. Such a vehicle must have a rapid succession of "situations" that are original and laugh-provoking; there must be "gags" without end, and, last but not least, there must

"Calgary Stampede," With Gibson, Is Epic of Canada's West

The immortalization of the famous Calgary stampede is the accomplishment of the feature at the Star theatre, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Those who have often longed to see the dramatic frontier celebrations of the West at last have that opportunity while at the same time seeing a motion picture which sets a new standard in the screen reflection of Western life.

In a Universal-Jewel named "The Calgary Stampede," this is accomplished. The West is shown

Weber-Fields Originators of Slapstick Comedy

To the world at large the mention of "Weberfields," at Sherrys for the last time tonight, means years and years of delightful, vigorous, enthusiastic comedy—a national institution. To the stage the name means even more. They were in truth, the originators of the pie-throwing gag.

Charlie Chaplin may start suit in the high courts of law claiming some intiator has "stolen his thunder" but in stating his case Charlie must be careful not to claim authorship for the pie-throwing trick for which he has become famous.

Weber and Fields started throwing pies long before Charlie knew there was such a thing as a stage, much less a screen. The stunt's birth is a simple story, quickly told. When the drama "The Controversy" was running in New York, Weber and Fields presented at their Music Hall an uproarious travesty called "The Controversy."

In the original the "heavy" had commanded the heroine to drink a glass of yelme. Instead she dashed it in his face. In the Weberfields version, Charlie, the villain of the piece, ordered his wife, Michael Fenton, the girl, to eat a custard pie of her own making, a fat juicy, extra thick custard. She threw it in his face. Charlie Chaplin was then but a chicken-lud of nine.

It was Weber, too, who first wore a steel wig and padded pantaloons that his anatomy might withstand the terrific blows dealt him by the deadly cane of Lew Fields, and it was Fields who first sank a hatchet in a layer of cork between the hair and the steel wig—tricks that have since become commonplace on the stage.

Weber and Fields are bringing their comedy to the screen for the first time in "Friendly Enemies," a picturization of the famous Broadway success of the same name.

Comedy showing, "Big Game."
