SPILLMAN IS EVOLUTIONIST

(By Charles P. Stewart)

WASHINGTON (NEA Special).—Not only the fundamentalists, but a good many evolutionists, too, are likely to be startled by some of Prof. William Jasper Spillman's theories. Prof. Spillman is a consulting scientist of the agriculture department, a prominent member of the National Academy of Science—a very big man in the scientific world. A long succession of races, as highly developed as ours may have inhabited the earth before man was even a tadpole, he says.

"A complete process of race evolution—from the lowest form of germ life to decadence and extinction—takes," continued the "no more than five billion years. The earth's age has not been exactly determined, but we know it must be many hundred billion years old. Thus, since its beginning, there has been time for almost any number of complete processes of evolution. We have no reason to believe they didn't take place."

"When the earth was first formed," Dr. Spillman went on, "of course it was entirely different from the earth we know now. It was much smaller and probably surrounded by a different kind of atmosphere. Its living conditions may have been un suited to the evolution of a race like ours, but well suited to the evolution of a race with different physical characteristics, yet equal to ours in capability and intelligence."

"The passage of a few billion years. The earth's character changes. It grows larger. Its atmosphere assumes a new quality. It becomes uninhabitable for the first race, which perishes and is buried far underneath the meteorites which are striking the earth constantly and increasing its size. But conditions now may be suitable for the evolution of a second race."

"A few more billions of years pass by," related the professor, "and the second race suffers the same fate as the first. Nobody can guess how many times this happened before conditions became suitable for the evolution of the human race."

WEATHER COLD AT WALLOWA

WALLOWA, Ore. (Special)—The weather conditions over this section has been considerably colder during the past few days. A small amount of snow fell over the higher portions of the county Tuesday and soon cleared away. During the past few days the days have been clear, with freezing temperatures at night, the ground does not thaw during the day, on north slopes, and many farmers have been stopped from fall plowing. Partners as a rule are well along with the farm work.

Reports from various parts of the county indicate that chicken thieves have been active recently, two or three farmers in the hill country northeast of Lostine report the loss of considerable poultry last week, while reports from other sections of the county also tell of losses from the same cause.

John Couch of Leap, lost a fine two year old heifer last week. The animal was found dead in the pasture, while the cause of its death could not be determined.

George Cousins made a trip to Lostine during the past week for some logs to use in cribbing up a well.

C. F. Harrison of Leap was an interesting visitor the last of the week.

Eugene Gastin was busy the last of the week helping Albert McGinnis take his cattle from partnership in Middle valley, to Wallawa for shipment. Much stock is still being gathered from the ranges and brought to the valley. The warm weather of the past few weeks has caused the grass to get a good start on much of the range, and stock have been doing fine.

MAINTHEFIELD, Ore.—Charles Christensen was sentenced by Judge Kinsaid to 12 years in the penitentiary after he had been convicted of an attack on a 17-year-old Coquille valley girl. The jury was out less than half an hour.

Another Yorkshire Village—Destined for Bottom of Sea KILNSSEA, Eng. (AP).—This ancient little village appears destined for the bottom of the ocean, a fate experienced by other Yorkshire towns of centuries past. The sea for some time has been working its way toward Kilnssea at the rate of about 12 inches a month. Coast erosion, due to high seas, has been causing concern all along the east Yorkshire coast. It is being washed away at the rate of 2.17 feet per annum near Bridlington, increasing to 15.5 feet at Kilnssea, which is near Spear Point.

The Rev. C. A. Quinn was called to Alice last Wednesday to conduct the funeral services of Mrs. Murphy who died there on Tuesday. Rev. Quinn was formerly pastor of the Albee church where the Murphys were members.

The Hooster club, an organization of local high school girls, held a meeting at the high school last Thursday evening, and initiated about 20 of the freshman girls into the society. Initiation stunts and a feed constituted the program for the evening.

The seven rooms of the south building gave a varied program at the high school gym last Friday evening. Dances, marches, plays and musical numbers were on the program. The entertainment was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Josephine McKenny has gone to Canyon City where she will spend several weeks visiting with her son, Alva Mosier.

ROAD TO BE EXTENDED
EUGENE, Ore.—Additional locations for a forest service road, extending up the north fork of the Willamette river from Westfir will be made this week by R. E. Greife, in charge of road and rail work to the Cascade national forest, according to Nelson F. Maeduff, supervisor of the forest.

A crew of men has been at work for some time clearing and burning brush on the new road, and it is necessary to obtain new sections before work can proceed much further, it was stated. The construction will aid forest fire work.

URGENT TEACHING OF CHESS FOR STEADYING WOMEN

LONDON (AP)—Chess as a steadying influence for girls who seek the excitement of a hectic life is urged by Mrs. Arthur Dawson, president of the Imperial Chess club, in furthering her contention that teaching of the game should not alone be confined to boys.

Many English secondary schools are teaching boys to play chess on the ground that it is a splendid exercise in logic and mental training.

"Chess develops the power of concentration, ordered thinking and foresight and, above all, trains the mind to work logically," said Mrs. Dawson, who believes that with character thus developed there would be less dissipation among men and women.
