Newell To Live Here

EUGENE, Ore.—W. K. Newell, recently selected for the position of deputy for Oregon in the enforcement of the national prohibition law, will take up his residence in Portland and will be officially installed in office in about two weeks, he said today.

He is in communication with the district offices in Seattle and when arrangements are completed he will be called to Portland for installation ceremonies.

Several appointments are to be made by Mr. Newell in the near future, he said. Many applications were being received, he said. No announcement would be made until after Mr. Newell was officially in office concerning his aides, it was announded.

Living in the past or the future isn't much fun. Try the present. It is both of them combined.

Try giving less thought to what people think of you and more to what you think of them.

"Helena's Boys" To Be Here November 21

A theatrical season would not be complete without a visit from the favorite Comedienne, May Robson, and the glad tidings have been received that on Saturday evening, Nov. 21st at the Arcade Theatre May Robson will present her comedy "Helena's Boys" which has made a noted success in New York, at the Henry Miller Theatre, in a three months run, and Miss Robson is on the crest of another victorious wave.

"Helena" is an ideal role for our versatile comedienne, as it supplies her with an abundance of ammunition to make an attack on the science of Modern Liberty, which her two boys and their friend are advocating to such a degree that she has to do something desperate to hold her fort of moral decency against such Iconoclasts; she takes chances but she gains her point.

The Saturday Evening Post story "The Boys" is the foundation of the comedy, and Miss Robson has modeled herself into the role of "Helena" so amiably that it bids fair to be her best work. Augustus Pitou has sent us a company of all new players and the New York production which never fails to get special notice.

Mail order for seats are now being received. Prices are 2.20, 1.65 and 1.10 show starts at 8:45.

Music, Singing, And Tumbling Featured In Vaudeville

Sensational novelty, Magic, good singing, tumbling, bumps and good comedy will be the outstanding attraction to be found at the Arcade theatre on Sunday next.

The Ward Trio, sensational knock-about acrobatic act, is an exceptional trio in the field of entertainment. These clever artists, having combined their talents, offer one of the most laughable as well as most entertaining novelties in vaudeville. Bozo and Frank, the "Broadway Idlers," create many funny episodes that would hardly be fair to enumerate. This offering is one laugh after another. Williams and Williams present "Harmony A-La-Carte," a dainty and clever singing act. All their work is high-class and clean-cut and their natural singing ability has won them favor. Ray Lucier in "What's it all About," a one-man vaudeville show, does juggling, hand balancing, impersonations, singing, dancing and talking. This chap is indeed a versatile entertainer. Nitta and Girlie offer an artistic musical treat. Nitta is a master accordion and Girlie is a violin wizard. What a combination they make. Watch and see. They surely will amuse and satisfy. Orchestra and pictures also featured on the bill.

Another De Mille Screen Sensation Coming Sunday

Cecile B. De Mille, outstanding directorial genuis of the film industry, has lived up to his reputation and created another sensational offering in "Hell's Highroad" his first independent production from Producers Distributing Company, starts a three day run at Sherrys theatre Sunday.

The statement might sound like a platitude because the picture going public has become so used to seeing the unusual from Mr. De Mille. In the present instance, however, the producing director has excelled himself. Rupert Julian, who directs the picture, under Mr. DeMille's personal supervision, has managed to combine spectacular effects and big punch scenes with a gripping story of teary tenements and mirthful mansions. The value that the story has, is accentuated by the strong contrast between these two phases of life, a contrast that is brought out in an entirely different manner from that which the film fans usually see.

Leatrice Joy plays the part of the society girl who loves money not so much for itself but because of an honest conviction that it is essential to happy married life. The man of her choice, played by Edmund Burns, fails to share this view, so the woman, thwarted in attaining her goal by direct suasion, turns to subterfuge. She gets a wealthy man about to place her husband on the path of wealth. The idea turns out to be a boomerang. Infected by the money lure, the man now sets about to discard everything that does not contribute to his ambition—and that includes his wife.

Mr. DeMille has turned his tayo deftly in showing how the penitent wife, conscious of her error of judgment, sets about to ward off this catastrophe, and incidentally, her rival. The situation has been used to good advantage in providing another DeMille "punch" scene, one that carries realism along with the melodramatic action. The conclusion is necessarily satisfying and carries with it its own lesson.

Comedy showing "Working" for the Rest."

"Sell 'Em Cowboy," Western Drama, Now at Sherrys

"Sell 'em Cowboy," an Arrow-Ben Wilson "Great-Western," at Sherrys today is a succession of sensations from start to finish. Action!—hard riding, shooting, hair-raising stunts, fighting and loving.

Dick Hatton is the star and his popularity can safely be judged by his fan mail which takes all the time of a couple of secretaries to answer the numerous requests for his autographed photograph.

Yakima Canutt, world's champion cowboy, is the desperate character and he certainly leads Dick a dog's life.

Dick throws a scare into Canutt by wearing the outfit of "Texas Pete Owens," a bandit whose name is sufficient to make a street filled with people become deserted in a second. There is a terrific fight during which Dick knocks all the ambition out of Canutt.

Marilyn Mills and her two trained horses "Staf" and "Beverly" do some wonderful work and fans will get more than one thrill when they see Marilyn ride and also see the stunts her horses do.

You have to like this "Western," you just can't help yourself. The stars win their way into your heart and you find yourself living the part and aching to punch the villain—when Dick is fighting Canutt it is all you can do to keep from shouting and rooting for Dick. Comedy showing "The Iron Mule."

The greatest suffering in the world is not half so painful as the fear of facing it.
