PAYETTE MAN AT WALLOWA

WALLOWA, Ore. (Special)—H. W. Anderson, of Payette, Idaho, arrived here recently for a visit with relatives here and at Enterprise. Mr. Anderson lived in the Leap section for many years, where he farmed extensively. He moved to Idaho about five years ago, and has been employed on the same ranch during the entire time. Mr. Anderson reports conditions in the farming sections of that part of the state fairly prosperous. Much commercial orcharding is done near Payette, the apple crops were very good this season, and growers have received very satisfactory prices for their products, he states.

Mrs. G. P. Reed, who underwent an operation at the hospital here the first of last week, is reported to be improving very rapidly, and will soon be able to return to her home.

Farmers Plowing.
A number of farmers in both the valley and hill section are still busy plowing despite the hard freezing at night. Some state the ground is really too dry to plow well in many places at this time, with the absence of storm for some time the ground has dried out considerably.

Some of the farmers in Middle valley have been busy recently hauling and hauling hay into town, the greater part of the hay being hauled at this time is timothy.

Ira Fisher, accompanied by his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fisher, and daughters Cora and Myrtle, passed through here Saturday, going to their home near Joseph, after having visited the past week with relatives at Cove.

Ben McGinnis, of Powwatta Ridge, was a business visitor here the last of the week. Eugene Gastin was in the Dry creek section the latter part of the week hunting some cattle which could not be located at the time other stock were gathered from the range which have drifted in from the range sections recently.

Smallpox Case.
A couple of new cases of smallpox cases has developed in the John Couch and L. V. Lathrop families of Leap. It was thought that the danger of any more cases was past, as most of the children who were thought to have been exposed, had been vaccinated.

Roy Gastin and George Cussins were Enterprise business visitors the last of the week. The coyotes are reported to be plentiful in many parts of the county at this time, with some small losses from them, in poultry and sheep.

F. A. Downing and wife were Enterprise visitors the last of the week.

Artists Colony at Taos Find Indians Best Picture Type

TAOS, N. M. (AP)—Of all the aborigines, the Taos Indian appeals to members of the famous Taos artists' colony as having the background best suited to the brush.

The picturesque setting in which the Indian is found and the Indian himself with his statuesque physique are the reasons why the 11 persons—10 men and one woman—who form the colony are here.

"The Indians of Old Taos hold to their customs and costumes more tenaciously and remarkably than any others," says Burt Phillips, dean and founder of the colony. "They live in a picturesque environment, which they fit to summer and winter. The lure of the native Spanish life around the plaza or Taos pueblo and adjoining villages is strong. An endless variety of subjects are here available—the mountains, canyons and mesas and, above all, the marvelous coloring which seems to find

An attractive finish for an evening frock of pink chiffon is a wreath of French flowers in shades of rose, blue and gold. They are hand-made and the colorings very delicate, so that the effect is very youthful and girlish.

Its equal nowhere else in the country.

The Taos group is said to be the first band of artists to receive a large order for pictures as an organization. Each member was commissioned to paint three murals for the Missouri state capitol building. As a result of the commission, the panels of the new Missouri capitol may be expected to reflect accurately the spirit and methods of the Taos Society of Artists.

One member of the society, John Sharp, now is confining himself entirely to the painting of Taos Indian subjects. The Taosans are a stalwart race, every one a striking figure, given to standing on house-tops in white robes at sunrise. They have furnished Sharp with an inspiration which now is occupying his entire attention.

The colony is the outgrowth of a friendship struck up between Phillips and E. L. Blumenschein in the Latin Quarter of Paris during the late '90's.

country shortly before 1900 after an arduous trek overland from Denver. Blumenschein later went to Arizona to paint Pima Indian subjects, but Phillips stayed on, and it was his persevering efforts that finally led to the coming of the other ten artists.

Churches Hold Art Treasure

UPSALA (AP)—Swedish churches hold a national treasure of $27,000,000 in art treasures. A general art inventory of church property was taken as part of a movement to preserve the nation's cultural inheritances and the antiquities that are representative for each province. The average value of the contents of each church was estimated at $10,500.

The French plan for a flight to the North Pole next summer and from there to New York doubtless is subject to change of schedule due to wind and weather.

John Galsworthy is in New York and the amazing feature of the visit lies in the fact that he is an Englishman and says he didn't come here to lecture. John doesn't need to. He gets American money by writing, not by talking.

Thanksgiving pardons show a forgiving spirit but they sometimes become attractive reasons for more crime. Law violators who are in jail for criminal acts are just as deserving of punishment on Thanksgiving or Christmas as on any other day.

HIGH SCHOOL POPULAR.

A one-third increase over last year's enrollment is noted in the high schools of several cities. It is a most remarkable record. Reports generally give evidence that the gospel of high school education for American boys and girls has not been preached in vain.

Raising school age limits may account for the additional enrollment in some communities. Economic conditions may help swell the list of others. But lack of these reasons is a growing appreciation among all people of all classes of the real value of education and the fact that the youth who completes a high school course has a distinct advantage in the business of professional fields over the one who does not.

The schools also are meeting the public need better than ever before with their broader courses and more comprehensive training, and so make greater popular appeal. No boy or girl unless it is absolutely necessary, should fail to take advantage of the high school course which is offered to them by the taxpayers of the community in which they live.

INDUSTRIAL U. S. MOVES.

The New England mind is troubled. Within and without the press has sensed something wrong. Industrial leaders are meeting in solemn conclave. Behind it all is the discovery—distressing to New Englanders—that the New England states are no longer supreme industrially that the south is now leading in the manufacture of cotton goods and New England shoe factories and tanneries are moving westward.

New England's surrender of domination over the nation's industry was inevitable. As the first section to be settled and developed, it had to be the first to exhaust its resources, which is the beginning of the decline.

The geographical conditions which favored New England in the days of its colonization and industrial development are rapidly disappearing. Its primeval pines are gone and many miles and high mountains separate it from new timber sources. It has always been far removed from fuel resources. The center of distribution has traveled far west of New England through the more general distribution of the nation's population and the extension of railroads. These conditions have combined to make possible the building of cotton mills in the southern cotton fields and shoe factories and tanneries nearer western sources of leather supply.

New England's remaining hope of regaining her lost prestige as a manufacturing center is in her water power. Her rivers, mountains and irregular coast line place her second only to the far west in harnessed and potential water power. The New Englanders can no longer be the "only rock on the roost" of American industrialism, but they may confidently expect to remain well in the foreground.

The girl about to travel alone was warned not to talk to strange men. At the station, the conductor asked: "Where are you going?" "To Detroit," she answered, so he put her on the Detroit train. As the train pulled out she looked back and said: "Ha, ha, I fooled him that time. I'm going to Chicago."

STUDENT GOES TO PRISON

EUGENE, Ore.—Cecil Peetre, University of Oregon medical student, who was indicted here in circuit court on charge of larceny of a microscope from the university campus here, was sentenced by Judge Skipworth to serve two years in the penitentiary and was taken there.

HUGE AIRSHIP TO BE BUILT

AKRON, O. (AP)—Akron, the rubber manufacturing capital of the world, has hopes of being the Friedrichshafen of the Now World. The first step toward this realization has been the bringing of 14 high officials of the original Zeppelin works in Germany to the headquarters of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation.

Months of laboring over blue prints and charts have brought forth designs for new development in the realm of lighter-than-air craft. Whenever there is a market for commercial or military airship, the transplanted Zeppelin works will be ready to build it.

Designs for the GZ-1, the world's largest dirigible, have been completed by the Zeppelin and American engineers. Its plans and specifications show it to be a ship of over 8,000,000 cubic feet gas capacity, measuring about 500 feet in length, and capable of developing 5000 horsepower. Improvements, as yet kept secret, have been worked out to add to the safety and strength of the ship.

The passenger-carrying GZ-1, according to the plans, will have Pullman equipment inside, with compartment seats which can be made into berths at night, a dining room, corridors, bath rooms, including showers and promenade decks running the length of the ship on both sides.

As designed, the ship will be able to carry 100 passengers and to make the trip between New York and London in 48 to 54 hours, depending on whether it is flying eastward with the prevailing winds or westward against the wind.
