Party Announces Approaching Marriage

The approaching marriage of Miss Rue Hanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hanks, to William Heughan, son of Mrs. H. G. Dow, was made known to 50 friends of the bride-elect Sunday afternoon at a tea given in her honor by Misses Melba Hanks and Edith Maguire at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. S. H. Morgan, at 1616 Sixth street.

Chrysanthemums, poinsettias and carnations in a color scheme of pink and white, garnished the rooms in which the guests were welcomed by the bride-elect, the hostesses and Mrs. Morgan. Chamber music was played by H. Eugene Tolls, Andrew Loney and Kenneth Gekeler.

From a cleverly devised wishing well, in the center of the table at which Mrs. Hanks and Miss Louise O'Connell sat to pour chocolate and tea, the guests drew heart-shaped tokens inscribed with the names of the betrothed couple. Misses Melba Hanks and Edith Maguire assisted with the courtesies in the dining room.

Miss Hanks is to be complimented at a number of prenuptial affairs that her friends are planning. Her wedding day has not been announced.

Large Millinery

The large hat, undoubtedly would like to return to fashion's favor and is trying very hard to do so. Here is a new model of black velvet with a wide band of white kid and three rows of white kid about the crown with tiny bows in the back. It is short in the front and back, but wide at the sides.

Entertains With Dancing Party

Mrs. H. E. Williams entertained a number of friends at a dancing party Saturday evening at her home on M avenue. The affair was given as a surprise for Mr. Williams in honor of his birthday anniversary. Mrs. Arley Price and Mrs. Al Herman won the prizes in the game contests.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess before adjournment.

W. W. G. Meeting Of Much Interest

The World Wide Guild of the Baptist church met in regular session Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. A. Pollard, with Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. C. C. Pennington as hostesses. A dainty plate luncheon was served at 2 o'clock, after which Miss Cornelia Hansen, president, presided over the business meeting. The "pen" committee gave a report concerning the World Wide Guild home party, which will be held at Gladstone Park early this spring. The local girls are working diligently to win the trophy which will be given to the guild having the largest number of points by that time. The 16 point system was explained by several of the girls.

Mrs. W. P. McAdory, counselor for the W. W. G. had charge of the afternoon's program. Miss Ethel Brown gave a report on the missionary magazine, "Missions," and each girl told of the work of a missionary in foreign fields. After the program, the girls practiced songs, which they sang at the church services last evening.

Miss Louise French, a member of the guild, who is attending school at Salem, was present. She came to La Grande for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Reuter Entertains Clio Club Members

With covers laid for 26 Mrs. Walter Reuter entertained the members of the Clio club and a few friends Saturday afternoon at a prettily appointed luncheon at 1:15 o'clock at the country club. A bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums served as a centerpiece and candles and nut cups were in the same color.

Five tables of bridge were formed after luncheon. Mrs. W. H. Hohnenkamp, Dr. Von Hien, secretary among the club members and Mrs. A. J. Stange received the "guest prize."

Orders Honor James Moss

James Moss, who was 71 years old Saturday, was surprised with a birthday party given by 45 members of the Rebechah and Odd Fellows lodges.

Games and an informal program passed the hours. George Mouts played a harp and Mrs. George Richardson, the piano. Mrs. C. P. McPherson and Mrs. Will Adler sang. The party concluded with a lap supper, served by a committee under Mrs. Mother Eldridge, who had charge of the arrangements for the entertainment.
