Organ Day Program Features W. R. Boone

Clubwomen numerous enough to fill the auditorium of the Presbyterian church heard with charmed interest the Neighborhood club's first organ day program featuring a lecture-recital by William Robinson Boone, Portland organist, at a meeting planned and presided over by Mrs. W. P. MeAdory Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. George S. Birnie introduced the theme of the day with a story, whimsically but tellingly given, of how the organ originated in the broken reeds that Pan found in his arms when he reached in a clasp an elusive goddess. She brought the history up to date with references to the organs of different periods—the bellows, the hydraulic and the pneumatic.

"An organist needs all the agility of the goat," observed Mr. Boone, commenting on the appropriateness of the god Pan's association with reed instruments.

Mr. Boone approached his recital informally, interpreting titles and tunes, and throwing light on the various treatments with remarks on the nationality and temperaments of the composers.

In his first group, he played three numbers, of which the second comprised two selections: "Fimandria," a tone poem by Sibelius; "Ethereal" on Beethoven's "Melodie" by Saint-Saens; "Scherzo Pastorale" by Frederic, and "Christus Resurrexit" by Ravaanello.

"I never play an all-American program, because I believe the American composers have merit to afford comparison, but I never play a program without including a goodly number of compositions by American artists," declared the organist.

"The Spirit of Music," dramatically interpreted by T. J. Scroggin with Mrs. Birnie playing accompaniment on the piano, was followed by a presentation of a gift of appreciation—a framed list of Indian philosophy called "I Am Music"—to Mr. Boone by the program chairman.

Mrs. Jessie A. Hoskins, of Baker, delighted the audience with four soprano solos, accompanied on the organ by the Portland musician. She sang "Ninety First Psalm" (MacDonald), "Ich Liebe Dich" (Edward Greig), using the German version and an "Indian Serenade" by Marie Walters Kennedy, an

Handbags

Many of the new handbags, particularly those for afternoon or evening wear are of velvet or satin, beaded in gold or silver beads, brilliants, pearls or combinations of jewels and beading. The shapes continue to be square or oblong.

Then, after sketching and expounding with here and there an illustration on the manual, Mr. Boone concluded his program with four more numbers: "Swaying Tree Spirits" (Stewart), "Entr'acte Gavotte" (Gillet), "Song of the Hunter" (Nevin) and "Toccata in E Major" (Bartlett).

Applause, which at the request of Mrs. MeAdory had been restrained until the program's close, recalled Mr. Boone to the organ, where he responded to the organ with Beethoven's "Minuet in G Minor."

Artful bouquets of golden chrysanthemums and daisies that nodded brightly from tall baskets arranged about the platform and along the walls of the church afforded a cheery setting for the program.

As the audience paused at the door to express appreciation to Mr. Boone and Mrs. Hoskins for their enjoyable offerings, each member was presented a gift flower by the social committee. Unique programs, topped with a sketch of the Presbyterian church made by Miss Marjorie Antonette Warnick, were kept as souvenirs of the first organ day meeting.

Tuesday Bridge Club Entertained

Mrs. W. C. Froman won high score yesterday afternoon when Mrs. W. S. Harer was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge club at her home on Cedar street. The home was attractively decorated with potted plants and carnations.

After the play, a two-course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Stoddard Entertains

Mrs. Lester Stoddard entertained at a delightful party last evening honoring the fifteenth birthday anniversary of her brother, Cecil Black. Games were enjoyed for three hours, and at 10 o'clock delicious refreshments were served.

Many Attend Benefit Card Party

For the benefit of the children's cottage at the Masonic and Eastern Star home at Forest Grove the social committee of the Eastern Star entertained with a card party Monday night at the Masonic hall.

The hall was decorated with bouquets of beautiful yellow chrysanthemums forming a delightful setting for the evening's entertainment. Ten tables of bridge were at play and nine tables of "Go." Mrs. L. M. Hoyt and Mr. Southard won high scores at bridge. Mrs. Arno Woods and W. J. Nowland received the honors at "500." For those who did not play cards several guessing contests were conducted, with Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. C. E. Soltz winning the prizes. During the evening Loney's orchestra played several selections including a selection from "High Jinks," by Primi and "Serenade" from "Les Millions de Arlequins."

Shower Compliments Mrs. Richardson

Mrs. Howard Richardson, recent bride, was honored with a miscellaneous shower last evening when the Westminster society of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. E. C. Bowser.

Mrs. A. V. Linger, president, presided over the business session and Mrs. Lynn Bohnenkamp led in the devotional. Mrs. Hay Murphy had charge of the evening's program. The subject for the evening was "Mohammedan Religion."

After the program dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

American Education Topic of Meet

At a well-attended meeting of the Willow Parent-Teacher association at the school building Tuesday afternoon, three short addresses in the interests of American education were given by a lawyer, a minister and a newspaper man.

When "America" had been sung and the Lord's prayer repeated, a group of children from the primary room appeared in two Indian gowns that dramatized work from the daily classroom.

Colon B. Eberhard addressed the meeting on the topic, "How Our Schools Are Supported." The Rev. George A. Pollard, pastor of the Baptist church, then gave a talk on "Religious Education." The concluding talk was by Frank

R. Appleby, whose theme was "Patriotism."

Patrons will be honored at the next meeting, which is to be held the evening of Jan. 8.

Celebrates Birthday Anniversary

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kimmel last night when a number of friends gathered to assist Mr. Kimmel in celebrating his sixtieth birthday anniversary. A delicious dinner was served after which a musical program was given and the remainder of the evening spent visiting. A large birthday cake, with sixty candles, served as a centerpiece for the dinner table.

Those present besides the family were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyerick, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Leck, Dr. R. M. Miller, Ed Rigotte and Mrs. George Pannino. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Kimmel present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Don Haller and Mrs. Zoe Thompson.

Ladies Auxiliary Elects Officers

Officers for the ensuing year were elected last evening when the ladies auxiliary to the Brotherhood of railway trainmen met in regular business session at Engles hall. Mrs. Grace Adkiss was elected president; Mrs. Margaret Arnett, vice president; Mrs. Anna Pidecock, secretary; Mrs. Emma Fowler, treasurer; Mrs. Hazel Coughenover, conductress; Mrs. Anna Galvin, warden; Mrs. Hanna Woods, inside guard; Mrs. Zeda Harding, outside guard; Mrs. Ethel Mann, musician and Mrs. Emma Fowler, legislative representative.

According to the custom of the organization the charter was draped in honor of the late Mrs. O. G. Hamilton, a member of the auxiliary.

Bridge Club Meets With Maxwells

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Maxwell entertained the members of the Tuesday Evening Bridge club last evening at their home on Adams avenue. Four tables were at play with Mrs. Fred Spauth winning high score among the ladies present and the gentlemen's prize going to Colon R. Eberhard.

A dainty luncheon was served after the play.

Sister Mary Says: (By Sister Mary) Breakfast—Breakfast baked apples, cereal, thin cream, waffles, strap milk, coffee, toast. Luncheon—Creamed celery with poached eggs on toast, rye bread, cookies, milk, tea. Dinner—Noodle soup, baked pork chops, baked potatoes, creamed corn, whole wheat bread, pineapple jelly, milk, coffee.

If the creamed celery with poached eggs on toast is to be served to quite small persons they will find it much easier to handle if the toast is cut in neat squares and fitted tightly together before the creamed celery is poured over. Toast is hard to cut for the biggest or as while tiny hands find it almost impossible to accomplish without disaster.

Breakfast Baked Apples. Six apples, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups prune juice. Pare apples and cut in halves. Remove cores and put into a buttered baking dish, cut side up. Fill cavities with butter and sprinkle with sugar. Pour over prune juice and cover baking dish. Bake in a slow oven, basting frequently with the juice in the dish. When the apples are almost done remove and cover and finish the baking. Allow 20 minutes for the apples to bake without a cover. Serve cold with or without cream.
