W. C. North is here from Corvallis today to finish up the local campaign in connection with the drive for $500,000 for the erection of a memorial building at O. A. C. About $4500 has been raised here, according to Charles H. Reynolds, of the alumni association. The building will house student and alumni offices and a large auditorium.

Roads and Street Slippery—

The highways and streets were quite slippery from the rain last evening, and several cars of La Grande people on their way to the Country club skipped off the highway and had to be pulled back. Also several drays had to be pulled from the unpaved streets of the city onto the paved streets, because of the mud.

Prospectors—

Grabbed and equipped for an extensive prospecting expedition into the hills of Wallowa county, Lane Co., William Hume, L. E. Garrison and William Denton, left North Powder this week. The trip is the result of a preliminary survey of the townsite district some time ago by Goff, who reports a fine showing of gold, silver, and lead ore outcroppings at several points in that vicinity.

Shanks, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Case, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Brannon, Mrs. E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. William Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Alberts, Mr. Steffens, Mr. Hanson, William Swartz, Mr. Charbeau and Mr. Lehtolter.

OPERAETTA ENJOYED BY BIG CROWD

did commendable work as accompanist. The plot involves the obnoxious engagement of a scheming nobleman and her ultimate delivery by a young American whom she previously had met in United States. Subplots revolve around an affair between Margarita's sister, Mercedes, and Emilio, the torador, and the comic encounters of Patrick Malone with Martha Matilda Ayers, an English governess to Margarita.

Babe Tobbs, as the belle of Barcelona, was the darling of the evening. She was at once light-hearted and sad, coquettish and despairing. And those moods she carried as successfully through her songs as in her spoken lines. Her lovely soprano voice was equal to all those to the demands of a difficult role.

Male Soloist Pleases— Tom Bruce, as the villainous nobleman, did exceptional character work and delighted the audience with his baritone singing, both as soloist and in the harmonious duet, "No! No! No!" with Margarita. With his man, Pedro, played by Raymond Griffin, scenes were played that expounded the heavier elements of the plot.

Edward Buchanan gave a good account of himself as the American lieutenant. Marion Crowe was buoyant and forgivingly cocky in his role of torador, and Grace Welch put just the right seasoning of witchery into the part of Mercedes.

For pure comedy, nothing else in the operaetta could approach the work of Jack Coolidge, as the Irishman, and Edna Halley, as the English governess. They created their roles with the manner of professionals. Jack had some good lines, but he might have recited his a-b-c's and conserved the house, or he tickled the audience's funnybone whenever he showed his blazing red wig. Miss Halley has remarkable stage presence, and real histrionic talent in her work.

Marion Miller and Melvin Parker gave a good interpretation of the ambitious parents of Margarita.

Norman Fink entered proper dignity as Captain Cutton of the cruiser Montana. The cast of characters was acceptably completed by Misses Charlotte Walker and Sylvia Malone, as friends of Margarita's, and Percy Lowell and Eldon Hankis, as student followers of the torador.

Second Performance Tonight— Clarence Berry, Clifford Masters, Donald Metcalf and Marjorie Baker, made up the major portion of the chorus, which included the following Spanish students: Sadie Bennett, Marlan Harris, Lucie Metcalf, Edith Ebel, Edna Geisler, Dorothy Brown, Barbara Hilt, Sylvia Malone, Charlotte Walker, Myrtle Whitecock, Phyllis Ansell, Margaret Kohlberg, Irma Johnson, Catherine Buckley, Dean Wright, Norman Sting, Floyd Berry, George Harnden, Joseph Baker, Glen Henderson, Kermit Ragatz, Welford Stoddard, Edward Thompson, Vernon Coleman and Cleland Walsinger.

Miss Isabella Miller, as director, Misses Mabel A. Bennett and Ruby Dillon, who gave her assistance with dramatics and the instrumental phases of the presentation, are being warmly complimented today on the success of the operaetta. The second performance will be at 8:20 tonight.

Fathers and Sons to Eat Salmon, Chicken

When fathers and sons meet next Friday evening in their annual banquet, there will be on the tables at the Methodist church basement the kind of food that appeals to a full grown man and the young man, too. The Ladies Aid society and the Committee on men have decided on salmon loaf and chicken—two things that because of a national characteristic, are sure to hit the bull's eye every time.

LAKE PLANS SERVICES

HOT LAKE (Special)—Sunday evening services tomorrow at the Hot Lake sanatorium will be under the direction of the Methodist Episcopal church of Union. The Rev. C. A. Quinn is to lecture on Hawthorne's "Great Stone Face," while members of his choir will lead the community singing and offer group and solo work.

Chicago's First Double-Decker Street Soaring Completion

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's first double-decker street is nearing completion as a $3,950,000 hardware plant, the last building in its path, gives way to a wrecking gang.

JACK HILARY ACCUSED OF BURNING DOG

Mr. Hilary says that he emerged from the house in time to see the dog running from his yard after and tried to catch him, but could not do so. Hilary's dog has traces of oil on its coat.

Asked by the police chief as to whether he knew how the can containing rocks became affixed to the dog's collar, he said that he did not. Mr. Haynes says that several other cans of a similar nature were at the Hilary place. He also reports that although the Weisel dog is supposed to have been saturated by the oil coming from a tipped-over can, there are no traces of oil on the floor beneath the bench.

Police officers are not inclined to put much faith in Hilary's story, they say.

SHERIFF PLEADS FOR 4

SALEM, Ore.—Executive clemency for four men now in Umatilla county jail under sentences for violation of the prohibition law has been asked of Governor Pierce by Sheriff Cookingham of that county, the district attorney and judges.

Two of the prisoners, Art Spangling and John Pehien, according to the sheriff's letter, have wives and children, and the others, Jack Wright and J. S. Swanson, have served out their time and have no money to pay their fines.

Sheriff Cookingham has obtained a job for each of the four men and has exacted from each a promise to obey the laws.

had often told friends that she had not a relative in the world besides her husband.

The strange circumstances recall a similar situation in the case of the late Henry P. Perkins, who came to death in an automobile accident in September, 1923, and left an estate of $235,000. Mr. Perkins was a bachelor, and like Mrs. Hamilton he appeared to be without heirs. Four second cousins, whose existence he neither knew nor had forgotten, were discovered after a long search.

had sat silent in their places during the long weeks of bitter attacks on the administration in connection with the Teapot Dome and Daugherty investigations. When the senate proposed to go into the conduct of prohibition enforcement, Mr. Coolidge personally took a hand, transmitting to the senate a letter concurring in the view of Secretary Mellon that no good could come of such an inquiry and that senate investigations should be halted.

LIQUOR FIGHT IS SEEN.

WASHINGTON (By the Associated Press)—The conflict that has developed prohibition enforcement ever since its inception and gained new momentum in the last few days, last night was headed toward its original battle ground—the floors of congress.

With the opening of congress only a few days away, both sets and days are familiarizing lines for attack and defense. Developments indicate that while some breaches exist in the ranks of the prohibi-
