W.S.C. DEFEATS HONOLULU '11'

HONOLULU (By the Associated Press)—The Washington State college football team decisively beat the Honolulu team composed of local and former mainland stars by a score of 24 to 7 here Saturday afternoon.

WEST BEATS EAST

SAN FRANCISCO (By the Associated Press)—The west defeated the east Saturday when an all-star football aggregation selected from the sunset side of the Rocky mountains defeated a similar squad picked from the sunrise side of the great divide in a game arranged for the benefit of the Shriners' hospital for crippled children. The final score was 6 to 6, the only score coming in the third period when a forward pass, flung to Muller, netted a gain of 25 yards.

With a number of all-American selections of former years in the two lineups, the play was brilliant, except for several fumbles which resulted from insufficient practice. Wycoff, dashing fullback of Georgia Tech, was the star for the east, one of his punts traveling a distance of 76 yards from the punting position. The play during most of the game was in the east's territory, but several times, because of the wide-open basketball-like character of the contest, the east threatened to score, always falling just short of the west's goal line. A capacity crowd of 20,000 witnessed the play at Ewing field.

Frieda Hempel Feels Effect Of "The Spirit of Leonardo"

HAMBURG, (AP)—The "spirit of Leonardo," has been extended to Frieda Hempel, the prima donna who aroused the ire of the Germans by singing on behalf of the Liberty Loan in America during the world war.

Arrangements have been made for her to appear next year in a concert and operate tour of the leading cities of Germany. The Germans resented the fact that Mrs. Hempel, although of German birth, supported the American side of the war. She was therefore persona non grata with the musical bureau, which feared to arrange concerts for her. There were hostile demonstrations. Mrs. Hempel's point of view was that America was the land of her adoption and that there was nothing else for her to do except to side with America.

Decline of Dialect Speech Charged Chiefly to Women

SHEFFIELD, England, (AP)—Decline of dialect speech has been brought about chiefly by women, said Prof. W. E. Hale, formerly master of English at Harvard Technical school, in addressing the dialect society. "Adults of all classes and ages, especially girls and women, are more and more dropping dialect and trying to 'talk fine,'" he said. "Boys and girls, instead of being ashamed of dialect, seem the foremost and expressive of somewhat rugged speeches of their fathers, should be proud to present it as a dialect tongue with the standard of English."

Billy Evans Says:

(By Billy Evans)
Success in sport comes literally overnight to some, while others must plod along for years before realizing their cherished ambition.

The most recent example of the plodder in sport is Rocky Kansas, newest lightweight champion of the world. Fifteen years ago Rocky Kansas began his career as a slinger of molten malle. A rough and ready type of fighter, always giving the public a run for his money, he has been a popular performer. Several times Kansas has reached the stage where he was regarded as a logical contender for the lightweight title but he has always fallen just a trifle short of the mark.

Three times he won enough recognition to be matched with Benny Leonard. The first bout was a no-decision affair but Leonard was away out in front all the way. He lost a decision in 15 rounds and was knocked out in eight.

Then, Kansas has been thrice beaten by Benny Leonard, who retained the undefeated lightweight championship. Shortly we may hear of Leonard doing a comeback.

FAME COMES LATE

The last time I saw Kansas perform against Lola Vincenzini, who stopped him in 11 rounds, the Buffalo fighter looked about 50 per cent efficient. The spirit was still there but the physical asset, the ability to absorb punishment and shake it off, was missing. Kansas, never clever, always depended upon strength to wear down his opponent.

Now, at a time when he seemed all through as even a good second-rate fighter, Kansas, who has always had the knack of upsetting the short-dope, defeats Jimmy Goodrich and wins the lightweight crown at the age of 30, old as fighters go. The case of Johnny Dundee almost parallels that of Rocky Kansas. Dundee, before he won the featherweight championship from Kippsie V'ring, battled for a dozen years without achieving lasting fame.

While the lightweight pack at present is none too classy, Kansas may have his troubles retaining his long-sought honors any great length of time.

THE TWO EXTREMES

In baseball, Mickey Cochrane jumped to the ranks of stardom in one short year. In his first season he was generally picked as the most valuable backstop in the American league.

In 1923 Studly Roel of Boston occupied a similar position in the catching world to that held by Cochrane last season but it took him about six years to get there. Muddy Ruel joined the St. Louis Americans in 1916. He showed much ability but lacked experience. He was sent to the minors to acquire that very necessary asset. He returned to the majors with New York in 1918, spent three years with that club and then two seasons with Boston. He had great natural ability but the big opportunity never presented itself. Then came a change. He was sent to Washington and at once he became a play national ball. He has been doing it ever since.

Which brings up the question, to whom is the greater credit due, the athlete who has to fight hard for success or the one who seems to have it thrust upon him?

Unlawful to Kill Swans in America

The 10-year close season during which swans may not be hunted anywhere in the United States expires December 1, 1926. This restriction was made under the provisions of article 5 of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain enacted for the protection of birds migrating between the United States and Canada. The biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, which makes this announcement, says that the federal law to enforce the treaty also prohibits the taking of migratory birds except as permitted by regulations hereinafter promulgated by the president. Therefore, even with the end of the 10-year close season, it will still be unlawful to kill these birds at any time, until the migratory-bird treaty act regulations are amended to allow the "killing of swans" during a closed open season. An exception will be made for scientific purposes, however, under permit of the secretary of agriculture.

GIVE FIGURES ON AIRPLANES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A new and official array of figures on how many service airplanes the army really has—a question that has been handled for the last year with so much confusion of answers as the old catch "How old is Ann?"—is furnished in the report to Secretary Davis by Major General Maxon M. Patrick, air service chief.

Speaking as of June 30 last, General Patrick said there were 219 service airplanes on hand, an attached note adding:

"Does not include war time equipment and experimental types. War time equipment is issued for active service and has deteriorated to the extent of needing immediate replacement."

These plans "on hand" were tabulated as consisting of 21 training, 147 observation, 95 bombardment, 40 bombardment, 95 pursuit, 10 attack and 10 transport types, making a total on hand or in early process of 737 machines of all types.

Under "shortage" of airplanes General Patrick said this 737 figure represented a deficiency of 956 planes under present peacetime requirements, and of 2,139 under the Lusitana Board project for the six services approved by the department. He placed the cost of making up the shortage to present requirements at $15,600,000 and 10,100 Lusitana Board schedule at $45,425,000.

Reliable News

IF "SO-AND-SO" told you that "Somebody" said "such-and-such" was a good buy—you probably wouldn't buy it.

But if you read an advertisement in this paper about the merits of that product—you'd have confidence in it.

Advertisements are reliable. The merchant or manufacturer who signs an advertisement knows that he must keep faith. He knows that when you come in to buy you will expect the goods to be just what he has claimed. He realizes that if he deceives you once, your trade is lost.

Never was there a more severe test of the worth of a product than advertising! You can pin your faith to an advertised product every time. It invites the inspection of millions and it must be worthy or it cannot live.

Read the advertisements for reliable news of what is wise to buy.
