Party Compliments Holiday Visitors

Mrs. A. T. Hill and Mrs. H. E. Watkins entertained informally yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Thomas Hill, of Chicago, Mrs. Robert Earl, of Eugene, and Mrs. Parley, of McMinville, Oregon, who are visiting here during the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Earl and Mrs. Parley formerly lived in La Grande and their many friends here were guests during the afternoon.

The women were in the dining room with Mrs. George Carey and Mrs. Ed Kiddle pouring. A beautiful centerpiece of holly was used. Christmas trees and candles were also used to decorate the Hill home on First street, where the party took place.

Oriental Setting Is Dancing Party Feature

An Oriental New Year's play was simulated in the setting arranged with Chinese standards, chairs and painted group of human life for the dancing party which Miss Chata and Chas. McKennon entered. A company of young people followed evening. These guests included about 40 couples from the high school and college classes.

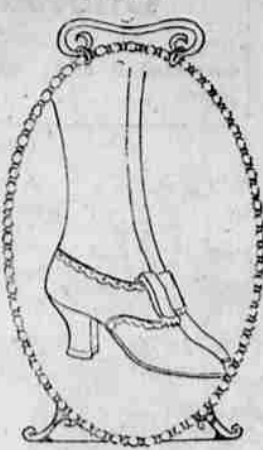

During the evening, Miss Georgia Frazer gave a feature dance, her accompaniment being played on the piano by Miss Lois Nelson. Miss Sylvia and Edwardine Malone, dressed in Chinese costumes, presided at the punch bowl. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKennon, parents of the young host and hostess, were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Dutton.

125 Couples Attend College Dance

Approximately 125 couples attended the annual holiday dance given by the La Grande Oregon Agricultural college students last evening in the Elks hall room. The hall was prettily decorated in the college colors, orange and black. Flavors in the same colors were presented in the silent auction. Dancing was enjoyed for three hours to music by the student orchestra.

During the evening Miss Georgia Frazer gave a symphony feature dance, accompanied by Jack Hiatt at the piano. The Misses

Novel

A novel adaptation of the buckle motif is shown in these little shoes of suede or kid. The tongue is long and falls over the instep, giving a buckle effect. The trimmings, too, in a harmonizing shade of smooth leather, is unusual.

Virginia Warnick and Gilda Ashby served punch.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Myers, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Audmer Playle. Floyd Smith, Marion Headley, Tom Russell and Francis Snodgrass were members of the committee in charge of the dance.

Many Will Receive New Year's Day

Many people set aside New Year's day as a day for calling on their friends and several families in La Grande are preparing to receive their guests on that day.

Besides the number of informal gatherings of this nature Dr. Pihy will receive his friends from all over the Grande Ronde valley at the Hot Lake sanatorium tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 7 o'clock. Several hundred people are expected to call at the sanatorium during the afternoon. The lobby, ball room and adjoining rooms at the sanatorium have been gaily decorated for the occasion and a special program has been arranged.

Miss James, Mr. Hawkins Wed

Miss Naomi James, of Olympia, Washington, and J. Phillip Hawkins, of Enterprise, were married on Christmas day at the parsonage of the Lutheran church here, the Rev. William F. Hall officiating. The bride formerly made her home at Enterprise, where both young people are well known. They will make that city their future home.

Mussels Make Fine Luncheon Dish for London's Society

LONDON. (AP)—Fashionable London has just found that mussels served with delicate sauces make excellent luncheon dishes. The poor people of the kingdom have known for decades that just plain mussels are delicious in themselves.

The new fashion is said to have been introduced to Mayfair by Lady Eleanor Smith, the daughter of Lord Birkenhead, who a short time ago was just Mr. Smith and lived nowhere near Mayfair. Mussels have become the dish of the season, with each hostess striving to serve them a new way. Recently the Dutchess of York served chopped mussels and mushroom sandwiches, which now appear at most of the season's dances.

Rev. W. E. Bobbitt Near Death. KIAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Rev. W. E. Bobbitt, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, is near death at Woodland, Cal., according to word received here. Mr. Bobbitt left here last June on a leave of absence and underwent a major operation about two weeks ago. Word was to the effect that he had suffered a relapse and physicians feared he would not recover. The ailing minister is well known throughout Klamath county.

Called Off

Miss Mildred Dorn of San Diego, Calif., niece of Gov. Dorn of Utah, was to have been married to Harold Nester. However, when guests came to her home for the wedding they found it was all off. No explanation could be had.

Klamath School Bonds Carry. KIAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Klamath county voters authorized a $75,000 bond issue for county schools by a five-to-one majority, according to tabulations made by Fred Peterson, county school superintendent. The money will be used in enlarging several schools in various parts of the county. Keep your mouth closed and it won't be open to criticism.

Because sparks from railroad engines under government administration caused the great forest fires of Minnesota in 1918, the government was held liable for $15,000,000 damages.
