La Grande Theatres

Snappy Vaudeville Promised Patrons Of Arcade

Unique novelties, singing and dancing revues and large producing comedies will be assembled, making their initial appearance at the Arcade theatre Sunday.

The headline attraction for this occasion will be the "Three Jokers" in a comedy pantomime, gymnastic and tumbling offering with sensational stunts, falls and funny pantomime situations, and tumbling of all kinds. American and Arabian, Conboy and Vane in "Maggie," a comedy satire with harmonious songs and chatter, are two comedians who are versatile and have a genuine laugh feel. Keep your eyes on the nurse and the baby. Moore and Haxton in "The Production," a program of eccentric comedy mingled with popular songs and comedy antics, makes this vehicle one of the stellar attractions of the season. Alfred and Haxton. "The King and queen of the blues" in a choice selection of instrumental numbers on the piano. Miss Alfred in an adept at presenting character and blues songs in her own inimitable style. Jerry Golde, "The Fiddling Ventriloquist" plays the violin and makes his dumb figure sing at the same time. He is also the inventor of the novelty horned violin. The offering is entertaining and educational as well.

National picture which opened yesterday at the Star theatre for a three day run, the story is acted by an exceptionally brilliant cast, and directed by Edwin Carowe, a master craftsman in stirring emotions, there is nothing left to be desired. In fact, this production can safely be ranked with the best pictures of the year.

Blanche Sweet makes her debut as an actress. First National player in this picture, and she has put into her part the touches that have stamped her as one of the screen's foremost emotional artists. As Mollie, who has spent her girlhood on board her father's vessel, she contributes a characterization that is unique and powerful.

Robert Frazer easily is the type, dark, dashing and devoted, to capture the fancy of Mollie. Dorothy Sebastian, as the rebellious daughter, of a lighthouse keeper whose life has been soured by an ill-fated romance, started with the realism of her work.

Finely etched characterizations are given by Russell Simpson, Edward Earle, Alan Roscoe, Charles Murray, Bert Sprague, Fred Warren and Herbert Prior.

"Why Women Love" was adapted from Willard Robertson's stage success, "The Sea Woman."

Here is a picture that you can't afford to miss if you enjoy the finer things of the screen.

A western picture and a comedy also are being shown.

Mary Pickford Coming Here in Ragamuffin Role

The saucy, mischievous imp who is beloved by millions throughout the world is back on the silver screen.

Mary Pickford has forsaken the ruffled lace and bejeweled gowns of costume plays and has returned to the type of role that made her famous.

"The World's Sweetheart" is again the curly haired, prank playing, impetuous Irish lassie in "Little Annie Rooney" her latest United Artists Corporation photoplay, which comes to the Sherrys.

"Little Annie Rooney" starts with a fight and ends with a fight. In between are laughs galore, a tear or two, much suspense and many heart throbs. It's an ideal story for Mary Pickford and her characterization of Little Annie is one of feminine artistry, played as no other actress could play it.

The story is one of the slums of New York, an epic of those crowded, musty thoroughfares on the East Side, where men, women and children in motley array swarm like ants in an ant hill.

Little Annie is one of a million there. She is the leader of a gang of boys which is continually getting into battles.

While still a child Annie is plunged into a meltem of dramatic incidents that first sober the impulsive girl, then bring out the heroic qualities so often found in children of the slums.

"Little Annie Rooney" is from an original story by Katherine Hennessey. The title is familiar through the old time song of that name, but there has never been a book nor a story of "Little Annie Rooney."

William Beaudine, who was a property boy at the old Biograph studio in the day when Miss Pickford was an extra there, directed the picture.

A notable cast, including William Haines, Spec O'Donnell, Viola Vale, Eugene Jackson, Carlo Schipa, Eugene Griffith, Walter James, Hugh Fay, and many others are seen in support of Miss Pickford.

"Little Annie Rooney" is declared to be Miss Pickford's best picture in her eventful screen career. It is the type of picture which should please everyone, has been a sumptuous production and the photography by Charles Rosher and Hal Mohr is beautiful throughout.

The coming of "Little Annie Rooney" is an event of magnitude in the present theatrical season. Comedy showing "Fun Fun."

"Ranger of The Rio Pines" Showing At Sherrys

Hamilin Garland's novel of the West, "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger," has been pictureized, and the screen version, "The Ranger of The Big Pines," a Vitaphone production, is now showing at Sherrys.

This story of the love between a guardian of the forests and the lovely daughter of a neo-do-well cattleman and his slatternly mate, the ranger's fight between the lure of her sweetness and beauty and his pride of family and his loyalty to the law he has chosen above all else.

Kenneth Harlan plays the featured role of Ross Cavanagh, a forest ranger in the Rocky Mountains. This characterization marks his return to his favorite type role, a husky son of the outdoors.

Hilma Costello, a newcomer to the screen and daughter of one of its old time favorites, Maurice Costello, plays the ending feminine role, the lovely flower of a corrupt stock.

Eulalie Jensen is seen as Lize Weatherford a woman who could ride and shoot as well as a man, but who through misfortune has degenerated into a slattern. Eugene Paulette plays her husband, a reckless dandy who escapes from prison. The remainder of the cast includes Will Walling, Lew Harvey, Robert J. Graves, Harvey Clark and Joan Standing.

William Van Dyke directed this picture, for which Allen Thompson was the cameraman. Hope Loring and Louis Lighton wrote the scenario.

Comedy showing "A Mischief Sallier."
