Del Adams Wins Fight On Baker O. N. G. Card

BAKER, Ore., (Special) — Del Adams, who will fight from Lewis in La Grande next week, won an unopposed decision over Bert Trilley, of Portland, in a 15-round go home last night under the auspices of the national association. A local newspaper states: "As an expert Del Adams shows a punch that would hurt a man's head and while Trilley easily showed his superior, he was lacking steam and there was no time that a blow scored at a knockout. As a matter of fact the decision should have gone to Trilley, who in the last two rounds played with the Hamiltonian punch, who the longer he went was further than ever from his goal."

Northwest Trains for 600 Miles Rather Than 200

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Local Marchion, one of America's premier operators, will train for the 600-mile run instead of the 200-mile dash in future trials for the Olympic games. Marchion, whose brother, Gerard, was a star of this year's Olympic football team, is in training for the national indoor championships, which will be held at Chicago in February.

which was beginning his career as a sprinter. "Faddy" Marchion, St. Louis veteran track coach, told Marchion to train for the 600. It was Fitzgerald's opinion that Marchion would crack the world's record for the quarter mile in indoor runs, the Illinois Athletic Club star has now made the quarter in 58, and won in Chicago in a one mile regular race. He did the distance in 1:50. He made these marks with no training.

HERE IS NEWS of the utmost importance to every grain grower

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Western Harvester Company has been formed to continue the development of what has grown to be one of the most important and successful Combined Harvester businesses of the country—a business brought by The Holt Manufacturing Company, during the past 40 years, to the point where further development demands this new, separate organization.

The Western Harvester Company will manufacture the "Holt" Models 30 and 32 Steel Harvesters in the former Holt plant at Stockton. It will supply parts for former models of "Holt" Harvesters. It includes in its organization the men chiefly responsible for the successful design and construction and sale of "Holt" Harvesters in the past. It will sell its product through an organization of reliable, eager-to-serve dealers.

The entire capital stock of this new company will be owned by the Caterpillar Tractor Co. Concentrating its efforts, its manufacturing facilities and its organization on the production of combined harvesters, Western Harvester Company offers a better product, better service, better user-satisfaction than have ever before been available to harvester purchasers.

TIGERS PLAY ELGIN TONIGHT

The blue and white brand of sportsmanship was handed by Captain George Gault to the Elgin team when they returned to the pep meeting at the high school auditorium this morning. If the Tigers win the district championship — as they see they are out to do — a large share of the credit will belong to the student body for the loyalty they have shown the team. The basketball men declared. The bowlers responded with cheers led by Jack Coulidge, and pledged their support to the last dime. Every La Grande student that can find a way to go plans to attend the game at Elgin this evening. The squad will leave the Glens Irving store at 8 o'clock in a bus chartered for the occasion. Saturday at 7:30 p. m. the Tigers will play two games with Elgin. The second will furnish the preliminary show, the regular taking the court for the scheduled contest at about 8:15. The ticket board at Glens Irving store will be open all afternoon tomorrow for reservations. Clifton McKinnon, business manager, or some one appointed by him, will be there to wait upon patrons. No game is scheduled for the state team this week and for lack of opponents. Next Thursday evening the girls will accompany the boys on their trip up the branch for a double-header program with the Wallace team.

Billy Evans Says:

Major John L. Griffith is surely the "kicker" of the sport world. He is always depicting something. His latest wall is that the boys of the good old U. S. A. are no longer playing baseball as they once did. However, he fails to point out statistics to prove such a statement. Mr. Griffith would have you believe that the game of baseball is going to the dogs, that the youngsters much preferred football, ping-pong and other similar strenuous sports. It seems that Mr. Griffith's position as a sports director calls for a certain amount of egotism in order that he make it work that he is right on the job. As a rule his criticism is destructive rather than constructive. Major Griffith, by the way, also directs the athletics of the Wood, an conference. He has troubles enough right at home if he confine himself.

GOLF SUPERSTITION.

It is an accepted belief, and a very true one, that golfers seldom risk true to form. There is a belief among golfers that amounts almost to a superstition that golf champions rarely repeat. A personal golf statistics book set that impression. Last year in golf, however, was unusual, in that the various champions did in most instances run true to form. Bobby Jones repeated his success in the national amateur. Walter Hagen, after a great up-hill battle, again won the professional golfers' title. Leo Diegel, Canadian open champion in 1924, retained his crown for another year. Of the four major titles there was only one shift, Cyril Walker passing the national open honors to Willie Macfarlane, who was compelled to exert himself to the limit to beat Bobby Jones.

SHIFT OF STARS.

Baseball has any number of stars whose name star pitcher has been shifted to another position because he would prove of greater value. Cases in the contrary are few. Babe Ruth was the best south-paw in the American league, if not the majors, when Ed Barrow, then managing the Boston Red Sox, decided he should be used in the outfield to get the daily value of his batting. George Sisler, a brilliant south-paw, was made into a first baseman because he could hit field and was fast.

Both and Siler both preferred pitching and didn't take to the change any too kindly at the start. How both are glad it happened.

Jack Bentley, in a star pitcher who would have surely produced to value at first base. McGraw, with the great George Kelly in back of him, the regular sack, insisted that Bentley pitch and pitch hit for the Giants. Now that Bentley has been traded to the Phillies it is almost certain he will get a chance at first base. The club is work in that position.

BAKER QUINT TO PLAY UNION

BAKER, Ore., (Special) — The Baker high school basketball team will meet their first test of the season Friday, when Union comes here. Union is reported as having one of the strongest teams in the section. Union will come here with practically the same team that played against Baker last year and having worked together for a year, is a quintet that will give Baker, however, has been impressing rapidly since the first of the season and with the better men on the team has confidence. Two teams will probably be seen in action against Union if their power to have no more strength than has been encountered in the other rounds Baker has played this far in the season.

PORTLANDER VICTORIOUS.

Coch Zuppke to See Red Grange in Action

LONG BEACH, Cal. (AP) — Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois university, who is now visiting his parents, announced Thursday that he plans to see the professional football game in Los Angeles Saturday between the Chicago Bears, headed by Red Grange, and the Los Angeles stars headed by George Wilson. This will be the first time Zuppke has ever seen his protégé in professional football. Commenting on a report that he came to the coast for the sole purpose of seeing Grange play, Zuppke emphasized the fact that he was visiting his parents and his seeing Grange in action would be merely incidental. Zuppke denied that he was interested in professional football, but he voiced a strong protest against promoters requesting college players and having them from school with full contracts.

DEMPEY READY TO SIGN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, Thursday announced his willingness for a fight with Harry Wills, 18 rounds to a decision, November 4 at Los Angeles, in Los Angeles, if Wills is able to beat Philadelphia's "sacred" promoter who has been doing well with him. Dempsey said he would have no objection to the proposed bout. Fitzsimmons has been sponsoring.
