the early canto. The second team went in at the beginning of the third quarter and was replaced by the first stringers in the fourth. The Union aggregation passed the Baker guards only once during the first half and failed to convert that time. They are weak on the offense and because of the excessive checking of the Baker guards were unable to get near enough to the basket to shoot. Geertzen, of Union, made seven of the eight points his team registered.

Union girls, who won 34 to 21, were far superior to the Baker girls at basket shooting and were much better on the defense.

THRIFT IS TOPIC FOR NEXT WEEK

 addressing the former, and George Irlene, the latter.

Central T. T. A. will have a thrift program at the school building Thursday of next week. Most of the churches will give the theme a place in their services tomorrow.

The chamber of commerce has invited Mr. Coolidge to present the subject at the forum luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Schools Take Part.
 High school and the grades will all take recognition of the campaign for prudence in money matters, even though the campaign finds them in the midst of term-end examinations.

That La Grande is taking increased interest in thrift is proved by the growing number and volume of the savings accounts that the banks handle.

"We encourage thrift continually," said Mr. Coolidge this morning at the La Grande National bank, "because there is nothing more important than, since people have acquired such habits of spending. We have observed a steady increase in the number of savings for educational purposes. Savings Encouraging.

"Our savings account department is only five weeks old, but the deposits showed a 28 per cent increase during the past year."

"We check up on the number of children's accounts by watching the increasing calls for the little home savers banks," said Mr. Bramwell, assistant cashier at the National bank.

"There has been a great demand for the banks during the last year."

"Our savings account deposits show a growth of more than 22 per cent over the amount last year."

Thrift week, however, is not restricted to matters of money. It applies to the conservative use of all "the elements that enable us to live more completely," according to Andrew Miller, of Portland, the chairman of the Oregon national thrift committee.

are unsatisfactory. Some persons, they say, got drunk in the legs before the liquor affects their heads, and although unable to walk without a wobble, they are perhaps capable of driving an automobile. The conservatives are clinging to some of the old tests on the ground of their proved worth.

The "jag board" has 13 members—physicians, surgeons, professors and police court magistrates. Its aim is to standardize drunkenness examinations as conducted by the police so that cases brought in court may stand up against all legal bombardments.

There are many more beautiful women in England today than in Victorian times, and one reason is the number of American beauties who have married British titles. The authority for this judgment is the court photographer, whose opinion is almost universally respected. He says that the new styles of hair dressing, the straight and bob, have nothing to do with it.

"I would say that there are at least 50 'classic' beauties in London society today," he said, "and at least a dozen of these are American girls married to Englishmen." Twenty years ago there were two or three women in London who could be called beauties.

"Today one sees hundreds of women who, although not exactly beauties, are pretty. Women nowadays have more character and character frequently means beauty according to modern standards."

EXAMS LESS TERRIFYING

That hurbear, final examination, just some of its most terrifying features in the La Grande high school this term with the decision of Principal E. D. Towler and his faculty to limit the time for each test to the regular classroom period, and to consider the examination grade as a variable quantity counting not more than one-fourth of the student's grade for the term.

Heretofore, an entire week has been devoted to final examinations and the markings on returned papers have determined a third of the grade for the semester.

"Now we have decided to place more emphasis on review, and less on the examinations," the principal explained this morning.

All examinations will be conducted on the same day—Wednesday—and they will consume only the usual time allowed for recitations in the different subjects, which is 45 minutes for each. But we are using a whole school week for review."

Regular classes will be conducted Monday and Tuesday. The examinations will be Wednesday, and as has been the custom in past years, school will be dismissed Thursday and Friday forenoon to allow the teachers to make out the semester grades.

Students will call at the office for report cards Friday at 4 p. m. Boys and girls entering La Grande high school from other districts, or from other schools, may enroll beginning on Friday, up to noon, at the principals' offices.

After 1:30 p. m. Friday, the freshmen entering from eighth grade in La Grande will be enrolled. Some 70 new pupils are expected this term.
