Pola's Latest Coming to Arcade Friday

Pola Negri gratefully acknowledges that Theodore Roberts, "grand old man of the screen," helped inspire her in making "Flower of Night," her latest Paramount production, which will be the feature at the Arcade theatre Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Roberts, who has practically recovered from his long illness, was an almost daily visitor to Miss Negri's nest.

The picture has its most important setting in San Francisco in the years following the gold discovery and a number of the important characters are Victorians. The Victorians were a group of citizens who banded together to stamp out lawlessness.

Roberts' father was a California pioneer and one of the prominent Victorians. Between scenes, Roberts would tell Pola stories of the atmosphere and happenings of the days in which "Flower of Night" takes place, recounting, also, incidents told him by such old-timers as Sam Bronson, William T. Coleman and Joseph Winans. His interest kindled Pola's enthusiasm.

Theodore Roberts was born within two blocks of the famous Bella Union saloon, on Kearney street, between Washington and Jackson, in San Francisco. They sold the home and later it was swallowed up in what became San Francisco's Chinatown. The home was destroyed by the San Francisco fire two years after the Roberts family dispersed it.

The California Pioneers, in which Mr. Roberts inherits a membership from his father, was composed of pioneers who arrived in the Golden State prior to 1850. "Flower of Night," a romantic,

"Arizona Sweepstakes" Coming to Star For 3-Day Run

Drug store cowboys, a species of male nuisance of recent development can be seen in "The Arizona Sweepstakes." Universal - Jewel coming to the Star theatre Friday for a three day run, the real thing in the way of cowboys. In this latest Hot Gibson starring vehicle a dozen of these real hard-driving men who learned their lessons in the rough and ready school of the plains are seen in a hair-raising demonstration of how to stay in the saddle of a bucking broncho. And with them, riding just a little bit harder than they do, taking a few more chances than they do, is the famous Hot himself providing thrills and fun in plenty for his vast army of admirers.

The cowboys used in "The Arizona Sweepstakes" are a few of the famous troop of Universal ranch riders. These men have been picked from the various ranches in the southwest not only for their ability as horsemen but also because they are truly representative of the fast disappearing men of the range. The mounts are typical, hard-running, sure-footed little cow ponies, a small part of the huge corral maintained at Universal City. Like their riders they too have come from some of the west's most famous ranches.

In "The Arizona Sweepstakes" both men and ponies were put to a hard test. The great cross-country race which comes as the climax to the picture is one of the wildest and most hair-raising scrambles of men and horses that has been screened in a long time.

In addition to this Gibson feature there will also be shown a Clyde Cook comedy.

"Sally of Sawdust," Comedy Film, Now at Sherry's

A charm that will rub the frowns from the face of mankind is D. W. Griffith's newest picture, "Sally of the Sawdust," now being shown at the Sherry theatre.

It is all sunny laughter, merry song, quaint drolleries tucked into an interesting story that marches along to a finish as funny and exciting as anything that has ever been delivered to the silver screen.

Previously this new Universal production has been shown at Griffith, all Griffith, but something different from the Griffith with which most are familiar. He has whipped aside all problems and all lessons, to tell one of the gayest stories of his career; easily the funniest picture he has ever made and one ranking with the greatest of screen comedies.

Amid the delights of a circus with animals, bands and clowns, he has found the circus juggler and his fiery, fearless daughter who believes her "Pop's" rogueries are all the merits of a great man. To them the glamor of the circus is more than time and the life is more than make-believe. Through comical hardships and serious gaiety, they trade along with complications and intrigue, up to the door of the Judge's home in the end, in the most most exciting finish the screen has offered in many months.

This classic of entertainment establishes the stardom of Carol Dempster who gives a memorable

LANE TEACHERS MEET
EUGENE, Ore.—The Lane County Teachers' association met here to discuss the proposed state income tax, but before any action looking to the endorsement of the bill was taken it was voted to meet again to give the teachers an opportunity to hear both sides of the question.

It was the expressed consensus of opinion that if the teachers were to enter the fight for the income tax approval, it will be in the interest of increasing school facilities and the means of instructing the pupils of the schools and not in the interest of increasing the state and local taxes.

WEED CONTROL WAS TAKEN UP
MORNING GLORY WAS VOTED THE HARDEST TO EXTERMINATE. Most farmers have had success by using carbon bisulphide and salt. Carbon bisulphide is put in holes about two feet apart and 18 inches deep. This method leaves the ground in shape to raise a crop the same year, while salt will kill the ground for five to 10 years. If salt is used, 10 tons to the acre is necessary.

STATE BEEKEEPERS MEET
THE DALLES, Ore.—Oregon beekeepers, near 100 strong, were in convention here today, hearing addresses by speakers of prominence and holding round-table discussions on problems of the industry. W. G. Rodda of Hermiston

ALBANY PRODUCE SHIPMENTS HEAVY
ALBANY, Ore.—Thirty-five carloads of butter and 12 carloads of eggs were shipped from the Albany co-operative creamery, the oldest institution of its kind in Oregon, in 1925. A total of $215,500 was paid to dairymen and poultrymen during the year. The market value of the product was $280,000. A total of 65,000 pounds of butter was marketed in Albany and $90,000 in Portland, the remainder of the output being sold in Seattle and San Francisco.

DOUGLAS GRANGES INSTALL
ROSEBURG, Ore.—A joint meeting and installation of officers was held here by the five leading granges of Douglas county. Officers of each of the granges were installed at impressive ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Lillian Stanbrough, a member of the home economics committee of the state grange. At the program this afternoon an address was made by C. E. Spence, state market agent.
