Gibson Gives Big Show At Star

A dozen wild-eyed horsemen in a half-raising cross-country race—love and comedy and pathos—these are the outstanding features of "The Arizona Sweepstakes," Universal-Gibson special, which opened yesterday at the Star theatre for a three day run. Hoot Gibson, the rough-riding favorite of the screen, is the star and this in itself is sufficient guarantee that the picture is crowded with thrills, good action and regular human stuff.
The Gibson personality and the famous Gibson smile dominate the picture throughout with the supporting cast working together like some well-oiled piece of machinery. "The Arizona Sweepstakes," Gibson not only once more proves that he is at home in the saddle but gives further evidence of his ability as an all-round actor. Hoot shows that he does not have to depend upon western pictures to "put him over" through it is doubtful if his admiring followers would stand for him in any other type of picture.
While Hoot is the star, the work of his company stands head and shoulders above that of the average supporting company given a screen favorite. In doubly Helen Lynch, Hoot has been given a leading woman whose work is certain to meet the approval of any movie audience. Pictures have no better villain than Philo McCullough and in "The Arizona Sweepstakes" he is again seen trying to overthrow the hero and win the girl. The names of Kate Price and George Grey are synonymous with good comedy, and in this latest Gibson play they have every opportunity to display their wares.

Billy Schaffer, Jackie Morgan and Turner Savage, three excellent juveniles, fit in well with Hoot, Miss Price and Ovey in the fun-making. Two others in the cast worthy of special mention are Emmett King and Ted Brown. Cliff Smith, who directed the picture, has filled it with sure-fire speed and human touches.
If you have never seen a whitewind horse race you will see it in "The Arizona Sweepstakes." This race is naturally the big scene of the picture. The picture is a gripping one from the time that "Cool" Coddigan the hero finds himself entangled with the law in a big city right up to the end of the race.
A two reel Clyde Cook comedy is also being shown.

"New Commandment," Coming Here, Affire with Pep

This reviewer has seen "The New Commandment" which is to be shown at the Arcade theatre Monday only, and he hastens to advise his readers to see it.
Here is something done in a breezy manner by a young director named Howard Higgin, who puts pep and speed into sparkling society melodrama. "The New Commandment" is destined to become the talk of the town. We make an analysis of other for those who have our advice to view this fine photoplay while it is at the Arcade theatre.
You will admire Ben Lyon. In his love scenes with Blanche Sweet he is fascinating. Another chap who deserves all praise is George Cooper, a rare comedian. He kept us in gales of mirth throughout the picture.
If Robert T. Kane continues to make pictures like "The New Commandment" for First National, he will be doing the screen a great service. In this film there is a novelty that relieves the tension of the stereotyped motion picture. The photography, handled by Ernest Hallor, is perfect. It has tone, composition and is restful on the eyes.
"The New Commandment" was adapted by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin from Colonel Frederick Palmer's novel "Invisible Wounds." Higgin has injected new thrills that go for making all round success.
We are sure that you will like "The New Commandment" and heartily recommend it for your entertainment. By all means see it.

Valentino Here In New Role—Plays as Russian
"The Eagle" in which Rudolph Valentino will be seen at the Sherry theatre Sunday, presents the star for the first time in the role of a Russian. In view of the popularity which he has given to romantic Latin types it will be interesting to see if he will raise the Slav to the same public esteem.
"The Eagle" is said to be a distinct departure for Valentino in other respects also. The story has more action and also more comedy than any other in which he has appeared. The star will be seen first as a handsome Cossack lieutenant, then later as a swift, mysterious, adventurous bandit. (It is from this that character derives the name of the Eagle). For a while he masquerades as a French tutor in order to enter the home of his mortal enemy.
"The Eagle" is the first of the stories of Alexander Pushkin, Russian's greatest author, to reach the screen. The photoplay was written by Hans Kraly, who wrote "Pamela," "Deception," "Her Sister from Paris" and many other notable successes.
Vilma Banky, a striking blonde, who was recently brought to America by Samuel Goldwyn, plays opposite the star. Louise Dresser, stage star for many years, has a featured role as the Countess.
Clarence Brown, whose rise has been meteor-like directed the picture, and is said to have done an unusually good job. Brown directed "The Goose Woman," "The Acquittal," "Smoldering Fires" and other entertaining pictures.
"Comedy showing 'Don't Fall.'"

Fights Galore In "Romance And Rustlers"

A striking Arrow-Ben Wilson "Great Western", such as the public has learned to expect in these releases, will be shown at Sherrys today only.
The attraction will be "Romance And Rustlers" starring Yakima Canutt, American Champion Cowboy.
For suspense and thrills, few pictures compare with those contained in this story and the situations are so real to life, that it promises to be one of the season's most notable thrillers.
The desert scenes, rain storms, and breath-taking fights, all under the direction of Ben Wilson, bring out the splendid work of Yakima Canutt, and with the support of Dorothy Woods, the "angel" he sees in his mind's eye, Arrow must give a credit for turning out a piece of work of the highest grade.
"Romance and Rustlers" being forth a strenuous fight for love and reputation by a young rancher, and his fast riding—hard loving, deep hating—and swift, punching bring him the vindication and the love he so rightly deserves.
A comedy is also being shown.

Youth of 82 Host to Four Veterans at New Years Feast

NEW ORLEANS (AP).—First former Confederate soldiers, aged 47 years in the aggregate, sat at a feast to usher in the new year here.
The youth of the party, J. M. Crowley, who as a lad in his teens was a dispatch rider for Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee, was the host. His guests were, William Dumas, 95, first Georgia infantry; Mike O'Neal, 97, Iowa's Irish battery of Texas; H. C. Robinson, 92, Alabama heavy artillery; and Amos Nelson, 89, second Texas infantry.
The dinner was prepared and served by "Aunt" Martha Washington Crowley, 94, a slave in the Crowley family. The meal was a far cry from parched corn and
